COME INTO THE KITCHEN

By ELLA M. LEHR

ELLA M. LEHR

Pickles—Are you stocking your cupboards with those lovely little appetizing pickles so necessary for the success of the daily three?

We've never tasted a commercial product that could in any way approach the mustard pickle and corn relish of our grandmother's stock!

Here's a miscellaneous inherited collection. Incidentally, besides gracing your festive board they make the most delightful of Christmas presents. And now, my dears, is surely the time to think and plan for St. Nicholas gifts from the kitchen.

MOTHER'S CORN RELISH (If you don't relish this there's something wrong with your solar plexus!)

12 ears corn; 2 1/2 quarts ripe tomatoes; 1 quart onion, chopped; 1 quart cucumbers, chopped; 1/2 green peppers, chopped; 1/2 head cabbage, chopped very fine; 1 quart vinegar; 5 cups celery seed; 2 teaspoons mustard; 1/2 cup salt.

Slice corn off cob, combine all ingredients. Cook one hour and pack in jars. Seal. PICKLED FIGS 7 pounds figs; 7 1/2 pounds granulated sugar; 1 pint vinegar; 2 teaspoons whole allspice; 2 teaspoons stick cinnamon; 1 teaspoon whole cloves.

Make syrup of sugar and vinegar. Add spices and fruit. Boil steadily until fruit is transparent. Pack in sterilized jars and seal.

CLINGSTONES To pickle clingstones, prepare syrup as for freestones; pare fruit, put in the syrup, boil until they can be pierced through with a silver fork; skim out, place in jar, pour the boiling syrup over them, and proceed and finish as with freestones. As clings are apt to become hard when stewed in sweet syrup, it may often be necessary to add a pint of water the first time they are cooked, watching carefully until they are tender, or to use only part of the sugar at first, adding the rest a day or two later. Use the large White Heath clingstones if they are to be had.

All that is necessary to keep sweet pickles is to have syrup enough to cover, and to keep the fruit well under. Scald with boiling syrup until fruit is of same color throughout, and syrup like thin molasses; watch every week, particularly if weather is warm, and if seem riles and syrup assumes a whitish appearance, boil, skim and pour over the fruit. If at any time syrup is lacking, prepare more as at first.

PEACH PICKLES Pare freestone peaches, place in a stone jar, and pour over them boiling hot syrup made in the proportion of one quart best cl-der vinegar to 3 pints sugar; boil, skim, and pour over fruit boiling hot; repeating each day until fruit is the same color to the center, and syrup like thin molasses.

A few days before they are finished, place the fruit, after draining, in the jar to the depth of 3 or 4 inches, then sprinkle over bits of cinnamon bark and a few cloves, add another layer of fruit, then spice, and so on until the jar is full; scald every morning the syrup for three or four days after putting in the spice and pour syrup boiling hot over fruit, and if it is not sufficiently cooked, scald fruit with the syrup the last time. The proportion of spices to a gallon of fruit is two teaspoons whole cloves, four tablespoons cinnamon.

CANTALOUPE PICKLES Select cantaloupes that are not very ripe. Remove rind. Cut in slices. Follow method for freestone peach pickles.

WATERMELON PICKLES Use proportion of one gallon rinds to two heaping teaspoons common salt and water to nearly cover. Boil until tender. Pour into colander to drain. Dry by taking a few pieces at a time in a crash towel. Make syrup and proceed as for pickled peaches.

SALAD OR OIL PICKLES (Oh, so good!)

50 medium sized cucumbers, peeled and sliced; 2 onions, chopped fine; 1 1/2 cups salt; let stand over night and in morning pour off the brine; 1/2 gallon vinegar (white); 1 cup white sugar; 2 ounces white mustard seed; 1 ounce celery seed; 1/2 small teaspoon cayenne pepper. When boiling hot add 1 1/2 tablespoons of salad oil, fill cans with sliced cucumbers and pour boiling vinegar over. Seal.

UNCOOKED CELERY RELISH (Said to be nearest like the famous "Oscar Sauce" of Waldorf-Astoria fame.)

3 pints ripe tomatoes, chopped and drained; 1 cup celery chopped; 2 T. chopped peppers; 4 chopped onions; 6 T. sugar; 6 T. mustard seed; 3 small T. salt; 2 cups cold vinegar. Mix all together. Pack in jars and seal.

SPICED PEARS (We learned these in college but being scientific didn't harm the taste of them!)

Wash and pare carefully firm, even sized pears. Cut in halves. Remove cores. Pour boiling water over them and boil gently until tender. Avoid stirring or scarring fruit.

Boil together: 1 1/2 cups brown sugar; 1/2 cup granulated sugar; 3 cups water; 1 cup vinegar.

Add stick cinnamon and whole cloves. Ginger root may be used if desired. Add pears. Cook gently a few minutes. Pack in sterilized jars.
