

Body Identified As Mrs. Hackett

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 8—(AP)—Dr. J. C. Rupert, Milwaukee

dentist, last night identified the body of a woman found slain in the Lac du Flambeau Indian reservation a week ago, as that of Mrs. Cora Belle Hackett, 42, former Milwaukee school teacher and lately of Chicago. Dr. Rupert, who did quite a bit of dental work for Mrs. Hackett, said the body was undoubtedly hers.

SILVERTON, Oct. 8—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lukes and family, who have lived here for the past two years, left Sunday morning by automobile for Lesterville, South Dakota, to make their future home. A number of affairs were given for Mr. and Mrs. Lukes before they left for their new home.

IRRIGATION IS AGENT'S WORK

Yamhill Utilizes Most of Water now, Result of Demonstration

"Less water will run under Yamhill county bridges until this year than ever before," says County Agent S. T. White. There are 14 new irrigation projects in Yamhill county developed this year, projects which are now irrigating Laidno clover pastures and other crops.

The bulk of these projects are pumping propositions where the water is lifted by means of centrifugal pumps a height of from 15 to as high as 50 feet. In some cases gravity irrigation systems have been established by placing inexpensive dams in creeks sufficiently high to elevate the water so that it runs out on to the land by gravity.

As a means of showing the value of irrigated pasture in connection with the dairy enterprise, a demonstration of Laidno clover under irrigation was established on the farm of Chester L. Mulkey near McMinnville last year. The county agent with the assistance of the Extension specialist in irrigation and drainage laid out the system to irrigate a ten acre clover pasture. The cooperation of the Yamhill Electric company was also enlisted so that at practically no cost a motor and pump was installed and a power line constructed under a contract particularly advantageous to Mr. Mulkey. A seven horse power electric motor was installed to operate a three-inch centrifugal pump which lifted the water a total elevation of 51 feet. This field of clover was seeded in May of last year and supported 22 cows during September and October. This year six bushels of Laidno clover seed were harvested per acre and in addition the acreage provided pasture during April and May and again after the seed was harvested this fall.

In Irrigation
This original demonstration established by the county agent resulted in greatly increased interest in irrigation this year. The county agent and the Extension specialist in soils and irrigation representing the college have assisted in the establishment of 14 different irrigation projects in Yamhill county. Activity similar to that carried on in Yamhill county is conducted by county agents in all of the other Willamette valley counties.

In Eastern Oregon where irrigation is an old and established practice county agents are equipped with rods and levels and render farmers assistance in laying out their fields for irrigation and also in running ditch levels. County agents in Eastern Oregon render individual service surveying for irrigation laterals, irrigation systems, and establishing the strip border method of irrigation on farms.

Such a broad interest has been manifest in this irrigation work in Western Oregon it is contemplated that Western Oregon county agents will also have to be equipped with rods and levels in order that they may more effectively render assistance in connection with this irrigation development.

FORMER NEIGHBORS ENJOY VISITING

HAZEL GREEN, Oct. 8—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weber of Eugene made a three weeks visit at the Edward Dunnigan Sr. home. The families were neighbors in Milwaukee, Wisconsin before coming to Oregon.

Mr. Dunnigan and family joined this community 24 years ago. He bought his farm of Charles Arnold, one of the pioneer families. Mr. Dunnigan had made many improvements on his farm, building a new house, setting out a prune orchard and timber.

The yard has a bird bath, a bearing fig tree, many rare shrubs and many flowers. The family have been active in school and community affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber will leave in November to spend the winter with a son in Wisconsin. They tried a winter there some years ago, finding it very cold, after several years in the Willamette valley.

GUESTS NUMEROUS AT WALDO HILLS

WALDO HILLS, Oct. 8—Mr. and Mrs. George Galligan of Hood River spent Friday with their mother, Mrs. Mary Galligan. Mrs. Galligan had the misfortune to fall and fracture her shoulder early in August. This injury is getting along well but the shock was too much for her 83 years and she is confined to her bed. She is the grandmother of Mrs. Ansel Solie, Karlund Burnett Haberly.

Mrs. Edson Comstock had as her guests Saturday, Misses Cora Mason and Hazel Brunner of Ashland, who are seniors at Willamette. In the evening the Comstocks and their guests together with Mrs. S. J. Comstock and Dr. and Mrs. A. J. McCannell and Miss Jennie Graham enjoyed a no host dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Sylvester of Silverton.

Mrs. Maude Haberly and daughter, Miss Mildred of The Dalles, motored down to their home here on business Saturday. They returned to The Dalles Sunday.

Misses Vera and Olive Ottoway spent Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Karl Haberly to plan the years work for the Willard Women's club.

Le Roy Rue, who has been at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Rue since last spring left Monday for Spokane where he will work in a shoe store. He held this position last year.

Mildred Egan spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Egan.
Mrs. Wm. Haovenick is spending a few days in Silverton with her cousins, Mrs. Letta Burch and Miss Rhoda Comstock.

Engeman Brothers have their corn cutter out in this section. Last week they filled two silos at the Dickman-Haevernick farm and one for Karl Haberly and will fill a silo for B. O. Longsdorf as soon as weather will permit.

Mrs. Barney Ray has been ill with influenza. The Rays live on the Maude Haberly farm of which Mr. Ray is manager.

Merced county, Calif., has more automobiles than registered voters.

PRINGLE CLUB TO MEET
Pringle Community club will meet Friday evening at 7:30. This meeting will open the fall season. Election of officers will be main feature of evening.
