

HOPS YIELD IS OVER ESTIMATE

Damage to Crop From Mold and Mildew Less Than First Forecast

The improvement in Oregon hops noted in the September 1 estimate of production is more than substantiated by the final reports of actual yields harvested according to the October 1 report of the federal-state crop reporting service.

The average yield reported is 1.125 lbs. which is about one hundred lbs. more per acre than trade estimates which are in turn considerably better than earlier expectations.

In both of the other hop producing states yields harvested have been better than expected. The report that the final estimate, subject to December revision, in California is 4,980,000 lbs. compared to 4,200,000 lbs. estimated a month ago.

Reporter's comments briefly summarized by county are as follows: Benton county—Practically no mold or mildew damage and hops are generally of good quality.

Clackamas county—Yields reported running about the same generally as last year. Very little mold or mildew damage reported. Picking was good generally and hops are of good quality.

Clatsop county—Although there was very little mold or mildew damage generally, the dry season cut the yield to some extent. Picking was completed under fine conditions generally and the quality of the crop is good.

Columbia county—Picking conditions in general were good although mold was reported in some yards. The hops are generally of very good quality.

Washington county—Hops in general were quite free from both mold and mildew this year and no reports of lice were received. The hops were picked clean this year.

Yamhill county—Picking was completed under very favorable conditions, and very little mildew or lice was reported although some reports indicate considerable loss from mold. Flavor of the hops this year not quite as rich as usual but in general the quality was good, most of the crop grading as prime.

Polk county—Picking conditions were fair generally there were plenty of pickers. Very little mold or mildew damage reported and hops in general are of very good quality.

Marion county—Picking conditions in general were good although mold was reported in some yards. The hops are generally of very good quality.

Profit Taking Reduces Gains; Receipts in Northwest Short

Chicago, Oct. 15—(AP)—Anxiety over reports of blizzards damaging unthreshed grain in Canada led to higher prices here for wheat and oats much of the time today. A big falling off in domestic receipts of wheat northwest was also a notable feature. Wheat, however, failed to profit gains well in the face of hold taking sales which developed on bulks in quotations.

The close for wheat was irregular, ranging from 1/2c a bushel decline to 1/4c advance, compared with yesterday's final. Corn closed 7-8-1 7-8c down and oats unchanged to 7-8c higher.
