Fighter Drops Dead in Ring; Opponent Held

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Nick J. Pozega, 19, Deer Lodge middleweight, dropped dead in a ring last night during a prize fight with Eddie Foy, Chicago negro.

Physicians and firemen worked over the boy's body for half an hour, but he apparently had died a few seconds after his legs collapsed and he dropped to the canvas on his face.

His opponent was taken into custody by Chief of Police Ira Johnston on a technical charge to be held pending an inquest.

To obtain a position as civil service messenger under the new rules in England a boy must pass an examination including questions on botany, advance arithmetic, drawing and economic history.

Money made from sales Friday night will be added to the athletic fund. Members of each organization have been selected to take charge of their booths.

A general pep gathering around a mammoth bonfire will be featured Friday night, October 24, on the south side of the mill stream. Members of the freshman class will do the work required to build the bonfire, supervised by a chairman and helped by the Cubs, tradition committee of sophomore and freshman boys. Following its erection, the bonfire will be policed by members of the class night and day to prevent its being set fire to by students from any rival college of Willamette university.

Slogans Sought for Grid Battle

A slogan committee is at work selecting slogans to be used in yells and advertising for the football game taking place Saturday afternoon, October 25, on Sweetland field with the College of Puget Sound.

Immediately following the bonfire will be the annual serpentine; then the students will go to the gym for the booth fair.

The crowning feature of the Homecoming program is the presentation of the play, "The Queen's Husband," by Robert Emmett Sherwood. This is a three act comedy guaranteed by those who know the play to be as amusing as one can desire. It is presented by Theta Alpha Phi under the management of Miss Helen Stiles. Professor Herbert Rahe directs the production, which will be given October 25, at 7:30 o'clock.

One of the difficulties of the play is to make a checker game agree with the play. King Eric (Wesley Gordon) and Phipps (Leon Norris) are attempting to work out the game satisfactorily.

The Little theatre scenery, which is at present in Waller hall, is undergoing major operations in order to be made useful in the final production. Costumes are difficult to secure in order to have them authentic and many are being ordered from the east.

"The Queen's Husband" will be presented in the Salem high school auditorium. All seats will be reserved. Professor Rahe states that this year's play will be better than last year's.

The several committees appointed are slogan committee, with Charles Campbell as chairman, assisted by Evelyn High and Mary Allen; the invitations committee—Lois Wilkes, chairman, Marion Moor, Esther McMinimee; the carnival committee—Nellie Badley, chairman, whose helpers will be named later; campus decoration committee, Helen Breithaupt, chairman, Fred Paul, Helen Boardman.

Under Nellie Badley, head of the festival are working a decoration committee—Olvin M. Bowe, chairman, Melvin Zahrly, Ardeth Young, Mildred Kester, Barbara Scott, Irvin Kloostra.

GILL AIDS MANY IN SWIM INSTRUCTION

Willamette university has enrolled a young man, Charles Gill, who is a versatile swimmer. Gill is a senior in the physical education department and has been employed by the American Red Cross to teach life saving work. He works in conjunction to the Y. M. C. A. swimming program.

Gill estimates that he has taught 2500 people to swim, 300 to obtain life saver's reconitions, and 50 to win first aid honors. During the past summer he conducted these classes in Washington, Idaho and Utah. In Idaho Falls, durlug one week, he had a registration of 1200 persons; hence he was forced to stay three weeks.

Idaho is doing more to teach people to swim than any other state in the union. The southern Idaho people realize the importance of learning to swim because so many people are drowned in the Snake river each year.

Mr. Gill has worked for the American Red Cross during the last three summers.

Mining Board's Budget Talked At Conference

Members of the state mining board held a brief meeting here Friday for the purpose of preparing the budget for the next biennium. Mark McCallister, chairman of the board, said that the appropriation for the next two years would not exceed $30,000, which was the amount appropriated by the legislature at the time the board was created two years ago.

Money appropriated by the last legislature has been used almost exclusively in conducting a mineral survey in eastern and western Oregon. The survey will be continued in case a similar appropriation is authorized by the 1931 legislature.

The federal government is cooperating in the survey.
