MARION CLUB GETS GOING

J. M. Miller to Head Community Group for Another Year

MARION, Oct. 24.—With much evidence of renewed energy and bright prospects for an enjoyable and profitable winter session of club meetings the Marion Community club resumed its regular meetings Tuesday evening in the W. O. W. hall after a summer's vacation. There was quite a good attendance and the evening was designated as reception evening for the new staff of teachers in the Marion schools.

The meeting was opened with community singing lead by Dr. J. O. Van Winkle of Jefferson after which a short program was rendered consisting of a talk on farm insurance by E. M. Dewey, representative of an Oregon farm journal, vocal selections by Dr. J. O. Van Winkle accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Van Winkle and an address on the benefits derived from the employment of a county agent, by William L. Teutsch, assistant state leader of county agricultural agents. After consideration of the county agent question the Marion club went on record as being in favor of the employment of such an agent.

The annual election of officers which was held at this meeting resulted in the re-election of J. M. Miller as president, A. F. J. Lofky, vice-president, Mrs. Warren Gray, secretary-treasurer. New officers elected were Mrs. A. George, social committee, M. A. Barber, membership committee, Miss Pehrson, entertainment committee. After the election of officers, program and reception to the teachers the evening was turned into a social evening.

LAMBERTA ORCHARD OWNERS HOLD MEET

The Lambertia Orchard corporation, in its meeting at the chamber of commerce rooms this week, voted down the proposition to take over the share of stock which has been up for sale by one of the stockholders. Eight members, representing the 17 stockholders, either in person or by proxy, voted on the question, but it was found that two votes were lacking to make it unanimous, as is necessary when taking over stock. As there seemed to be some legal questions involved concerning purchase of stock, the matter was continued for further discussion at the next meeting, November 4.

The Lambertia company is capitalized at $25,000, and is composed of 17 stockholders representing 25 shares at $1000 each. This corporation, in which several Salem men hold shares, controls 229 acres of five-year-old Lambert cherries near Macleay. It is the largest single acreage of this variety of cherries in the world.

STAYTON LIONS CLASS STUDIES HEAR MAYOR BEEF CATTLE

George Keech Tells of Problems of City Government

STAYTON, Oct. 24.—Visitors from Independence and Salem were present at the Lions club meeting Wednesday evening. This was the first of the dinner meetings. The visitors made short talks and music was furnished by Mrs. H. A. Beauchamp and Mrs. G. F. Kojinek. The principal feature of the evening was the talk by Mayor George Keech. Mr. Keech has been mayor for the past seven years, but announced early in the spring that he would not again accept the office. Many marked improvements are credited to him during his term in office, perhaps the most important dropped into town. Largely through his influence the county court paved a good part of the road through the town, without cost to the property owners.

Water Needed. Undoubtedly the most discouraging thing the council and Mayor Keech have encountered in the past years is the supplying of the town with pure water. Much has been said about the unsuccessful attempts to dig a well. It was at first thought that with little or no effort or expense, a well could be dug that would be most satisfactory. However, after going down 50 feet, no water was forthcoming, so it was decided to go another 50 feet. When this well had reached a depth of about 175 feet, some water dropped into the drilling apparatus and after many unsuccessful attempts to dislodge them, the council was again faced with the problem of abandoning the well and digging another. So another hole was dug sometime later, and although going to a depth of 200 feet, no water was found. This hole had been dug near the first one, which gave every evidence of a sufficient supply of water.

So again this past summer, work has been going on for a well for Stayton. This time in the form of a reservoir, and Mayor Keech expressed himself as being quite confident of its success. Needless to say the council has been much criticized, the mayor says, all on account of the water situation.

In closing, Mayor Keech, expressed himself in favor of paving Third street from the Henry Smith corner to the Fern Ridge road, and gave as his opinion that the county court thought favorably of the proposition. The Lions club will go on record as endorsing this improvement. If this matter is taken up by the county, the road will be paved without cost to the property owners. In front of the school ground, the road would be paved from curb to curb. This stretch, although considerably traveled, is without doubt the worst piece of road in town.

Following Mayor Keech's remarks, Dr. Beauchamp, a former mayor, spoke of how little the public appreciated the time and effort put forth by city officials, but how they were ever ready to criticize. At his suggestion the Lions club gave Mayor Keech a rousing vote of thanks in appreciation of his services.
