GRANGE POWER BILL DEFENDED

Dangers are Imaginary Says Dr. A. Slaughter, Author; Arguments Heard

Denial that the People's Power bill will repeal the six per cent limitation or that it will take in contiguous districts without consent of those districts, was made by Dr. A. Slaughter, author of the proposed amendment to the Oregon constitution, declared yesterday in speaking to the Salem grange on the power bill.

Discussion of the various measures on the ballots occupied the grange in its afternoon session, the three coming in for the most consideration being the power, lieutenant governor and cabinet form of government proposals. Discussions were led by Seymour Jones, S. H. VanTrump, J. J. McDonald and A. E. Zimmerman. Zimmerman roundly attacked the power bill.

Jones warned that the cabinet form of government bill will not save a cent in taxes, though he said he was advising no one how to vote on it; and Slaughter characterized it as a "monstrosity." Jones objected to the lieutenant governor bill only because of the power it places in the appointment of senate committees. Claims Opponents Poorly Advised

Slaughter, who is master of the Salem grange, declared that those who are opposing the People's Power bill do not know what it is all about. He declared that the bill is on the ballot in the November election upon which he has legislation on the power proposition and said his committee was already drafting supplementary legislation to be presented to the lawmakers in January.

SPEAKER

George N. White of Chicago who has just returned from southwest Africa and who will address two meetings at the Knight Memorial church today.

George N. White, just returned from southwest Africa where he participated in the jubilee celebration of the West Central African Mission, will speak this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Young People's rally at the Knight Memorial Congregational church. He will also speak in the same church this evening at 7:30 o'clock following the sacred concert.

Mr. White represented the colored churches of the south in the jubilee celebration of the African missions. His messages are said to be intensely interesting. He is alumni secretary of the American association.

According to Slaughter, this supplementary bill will provide that power districts created cannot annex contiguous territory unless two-thirds of the voters of every precinct involved ratify the annexation.

Authors of the bill did not put debt limitations in because they didn't know what to put, Slaughter said, adding it would be hard to determine a feasible limitation for every district. Each district would check its limitations, he believes.

"This amendment is being so strongly opposed because the utilities are looking ahead 40 and 50 years in the future, and they know this amendment will be an entering wedge to competition, and effective competition is the only thing that can lower rates," Slaughter declared.
