DECKEBACH TO INTERVENE IN WATER ACTION

Seeks to Appear in Action To Test Validity of Bond Action

New Objections to be Filed By Attorney Keyes, Announcement

An Intervenor in the suit of W. H. Henderson vs. the City of Salem over $10,000 of proposed water plant purchase bonds, appeared yesterday in F. G. Deckebach Sr., who on Friday will file an additional complaint contending the city has no right to expend the money for the water plant.

Deckebach's attorney, Walter Keyes, said yesterday that Mr. Deckebach as a heavy taxpayer and a citizen always interested in public affairs, felt it necessary that the courts hear every phase of the contested legality of the city election May 16. On the validity of this election brings the legality of the bond issue.

Keyes said his complaint would bring up other points not raised by Clifford Moynihan, attorney for Henderson in the injunction case brought against the issuance of the bonds.

Time of Filing Petitions Issued
Keyes indicated one of the points which would be stressed was the fact the petition for the election May 16 was filed after the time prescribed by law.

Circuit Judge Hill now has the disposal of Henderson's injunction before him. The intervention of Deckebach will undoubtedly considerably delay a decision.

While the day of Salem is scheduled to make an offer for the water plant here Friday, the litigation would stop any completion of the deal.

Should the circuit court throw out the May 16 election, no bonds could be issued for the purchase of the plant until a new election could be held and the matter of the purchase of the Oregon-Washington Water Service plant here be again favorably voted upon.

MEIER AND BAILEY HEAD STRAW VOTE

Gubernatorial candidates Meier and Bailey rated highest in a straw vote taken by members of Joshua Smith post sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War and of the auxiliary at a business and party meeting held last night in the Woman's clubhouse.

Actual votes were: Meier 18, Bailey 16 and Metcalf 3. Union members gathered at 7:30 for their last meeting of the year, appointed Charles Fessenden chairman of a committee to further the movement to have set up a Civil War memorial monument in the state capitol grounds. The local chapter of the United States plan at the state convention last June, and it was taken up by the state organization. Fessenden and his committee will seek legislative aid in the undertaking.

James Remington and E. J. Raymond were designated committees to investigate whether or not widows of Civil War veterans are receiving their full pension allowances, which were raised by the last legislature. After the business meeting, the men met with the auxiliary members for a Halloween party.

PRAY FOR JOBS

QUEBEC, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Three hundred and fifty men today walked 25 miles from Quebec to the shrine of Ste Anne de Beaulieu to pray for relief from unemployment.

Delinquency Causes are Outlined by W. H. Baillie

Conditions of environment and early difficulties and discouragements in the public school are primarily responsible for the delinquency among young boys, Supt. William H. Baillie, of the boys' training school near Woodburn, told the Business and Professional Women's club at the monthly dinner meeting of the group held last night at the Gray Belle.

More than 65 per cent of the boys coming to the school are from divided homes and only 10 per cent of the boys are from homes where the parents live together in harmony, Baillie said. He emphasized particularly that the training school is not a penal institution. The new practice of keeping the boys at the school only three or four months and then placing them in homes which may be visited by patrol officers working over the state is proving successful, he said. This idea has been put in practice since Baillie became superintendent about 18 months ago.

GIRL SCOUT MOVE GAINING IN WEST

Miss Mellick, Director of Leadership Training, Visits in Salem

Problem of leadership is the biggest question confronting the Girl Scout movement in the western states. Miss Theima Mellick in charge of training leaders for the Pacific coast region, who arrived here yesterday to spend two days meeting with workers and troops here. Last night she visited the two troops at the Chemawa Indian school and was enthusiastic about the work being done by these girls organized for only a short period.

Growth of the Scout movement for girls on the coast has been tremendous, Miss Mellick, whose headquarters are in San Francisco, said in her regional office for Girl Scouts was opened at San Francisco this fall.

Primary demand for formation of scout troops comes from young girls themselves, and not from the older Pk. Miss Mellick feels. She has been in scout work for five years, and is from the west recently from New York.

On the present trip she stopped in Eugene and Lebanon, where there is much interest in the Girl Scouts. Lebanon, though a small town, is giving splendid cooperation to the troops there, and she says it is no exaggeration that the parents are as greatly interested as the girls. Thanks to donation of a resident there, the Lebanon girls have a fine camp site. Fifty-two girls are Scouts there.

Miss Mellick was particularly pleased, too, with the work in Eugene and the new camp which the Lane county council has secured in Lebanon. She is in conference, on the Lane county coast.

She will meet this noon at the Spa with the joint committee of the Legion Auxiliary and Business and Professional Women's club, which sponsors the Girl Scout troops in Salem.

Paul Revere Has Nothing On McCarthy

SUNNYSIDE, Oct. 28.—(Special)—Frank McCarthy, Salem blacksmith, had a wild ride down a fairly steep hill a quarter of a mile in length here today when he discovered, after starting the descent, that the brakes on his car were not working whatsoever. With a trailer hooked on behind and a wild ride down the hillward progress, McCarthy found himself going at a terrific speed. He tried to ease the clutch into gear to temper his speed, but the momentum was too great. His only chance was to turn onto the highway at the bottom of the hill. There was no conflicting traffic on the highway and it is feared that McCarthy passed up a "stop" sign. But the turn was too sharp and the car and trailer turned over with extensive damage to them but none to the blacksmith.

Discontinuance of Health Program is Advocated by Club

REPORTS on the symphony orchestra formation were given by Mrs. Susan Varty and Mrs. Leona Clark; and Miss Josephine Shade and Mrs. Varty told of the regional meeting held recently in Roseburg, bringing the message that business women of the state are already looking forward to the annual convention to be held in Salem next spring.

NORBLAD WILL ASK PROBE OF ABUSE CHARGE

Training School Head Says Untrue; Complaining Lad Incurable

Escaped From Institution 6 Times; Boot Used at Father's Request

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Governor A. W. Norblad announced today he will call a meeting of the state board of control Wednesday to investigate alleged abuse of boys at the state training school.

Charges that cruelty was practiced on Milton Levey, 15, of Portland, as alleged in affidavits filed in the Multnomah county juvenile court Tuesday, while he was an inmate of the state training school for boys near Woodburn, were denied in a statement issued here by W. H. Baillie, superintendent.

Baillie said that young Levey has escaped from the school six times, and had caused the institution no end of trouble. The records show that Levey was first received at the state training school December 13, 1929. He escaped from the institution two days later, but was captured after an absence of a few hours and returned.

On March 23, 1930, he was granted a leave of absence from the school to accept a temporary job. He failed to make good on the job and was returned to the school on the following day. Levey again was granted a leave of absence on April 1, 1930, to accept a job in Portland. A parole followed on March 3. He was returned to the school as a parole violator on May 7, after stealing a truck and approximately $2000 worth of merchandise from his employer.

Escapes Made in Ropes
Levey again escaped from the institution June 1 by cutting what Mussolini meant yesterday when he promised that two years hence the tenth anniversary of the fascist march on Rome would witness the greatest military concentration there in 3,000 years.

Italy's Strength Shown in Parades

ROME, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Italy today showed the world the "youthful strength" to which Premier Mussolini referred in an address in which he urged in the eighth anniversary of fascism. The black shirt militia, stirred to patriotism all over the country by the duke's words "unmasking a warlike Europe," marched in every city and village.

HONGKONG, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Failure to communicate by wireless with Kanchow, a city of 250,000 population in Kiangsi province, caused fear here today that communists who have occupied the city of Kian since October 5, also had taken Kanchow. The local government station's calls to Kanchow went unanswered, leading officials to believe reds had interfered with the Kanchow station which is within the city walls.

SEEK INCREASE IN FEES FOR TESTING

County Allowance Here for Tuberculin Work Lowest in State, Reported

A petition to the county court to increase the price for testing cows for tuberculosis was started which was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Tuesday evening.

At present Marion county pays 10 cents per cow for the test and each producer pays an additional 15 cents, thus allowing veterinarians 25 cents per cow. Reports at the meeting revealed that this price is the lowest in the state. In Polk county the producer pays 15 cents per cow as in Marion but the county pays an additional 25 cents, allowing the veterinarian 40 cents per cow. It was the opinion of the producers that this was a fair price.

While no definite figure was mentioned in the petition to the court a "reasonable fee" was requested. Plans were made to circulate the petition among all milk shippers who were not at the meeting.

Will Not Solve Present Crisis
It was pointed out that even though the petition be granted by the county court it would not take care of the present emergency since all producers shipping milk into Salem must have the cows tuberculin tested at once in order to comply with the milk ordinance. Producers present reported in some cases their herds had not been tested for two years, due to the friction between the county court and the veterinarians which has resulted in the refusal to test at the present price.

BURKE PARDON NOT LIKELY NOW, WORD

A dozen letters were received at the executive department here on Tuesday protesting against a proposed conditional pardon for J. V. Burke, ex-president of the Bank of Kenton, Portland. One letter was signed by 53 depositors of the defunct bank.

Burke is serving a term of seven years in the state penitentiary for misappropriating the funds of the institution. Three members of the state pardon board recently recommended a conditional pardon for Burke. One member of the board recommended a commutation of sentence, while the fifth member urged that action be deferred until Burke has served his minimum term. Governor Norblad indicated that he would refuse the pardon.

SCHOOL FUNDS OUTLOOK GOOD; BUDGET VIEWED

Hug Proposes Start Toward Redeeming Warrants Outstanding

Outlay of $350,000 Shown in Tentative Draft for Coming Year

If the Salem school district receives all taxes that are due, the district will be better off financially this year than in several years, Superintendent George Hug declared last night in presenting preliminary figures for the new budget. The district tax will bring in more than $180,000.

The tentative budget shows increases in some departments and decreases in others. Hug suggested that the board make a start in redeeming outstanding warrants in this budget, but no plan to that end was devised. The budget will be more thoroughly discussed at an adjourned session to be held next Monday night.

Expenses Likely to Total $350,000
The tentative budget shows outlay of about $350,000, divided as follows: general control, $9,180; supervisory instruction, $35,800; instruction $22,000; operation of plant, $35,500; maintenance and repairs, $10,000; health service, $7,000; fixed charges, including insurance, $3,000; transportation of high school pupils, $14,250; capital outlay or new furniture, $3,000; interest on warrants, $7,000.

WOMAN SUSPECTED IN MATE'S DEATH

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Violet Robertson, held in connection with the shooting of L. C. Church, known here as her husband, stood firm in her story today that enemies from Maine, his former home, must have shot the man.

She was arrested 24 hours after the man was shot Sunday night, after a rifle believed to have been the one which killed him was found in a well 50 feet from the house. William Priest, Portland fingerprint expert, was called in by R. J. Keator, prosecuting attorney, and a connection against the woman will be withheld, Keator said, until prints on the gun are classified.

"We are holding her principally because authorities in Skowhegan, Maine, asked for her detention," Keator said. "I understand she is working on a charge there. We have found nothing important which would connect her with the murder of Church."

Mrs. Robertson, who had lived here a month with Church, who was known as Llewellyn Curtis, told authorities Church stepped to an open window Sunday night and was killed by a shot in the temple. She said some unknown enemy from Maine must have followed him here.

LARGER ALLOTMENT FOR OREGON GUARD

General White Returns With Encouraging News From Washington, D. C.

Major General George A. White, commander of the national guard in Oregon and the northwest, returned to Salem today from Washington, D. C., where he has been in conference with war department heads over construction and training plans. An increase in the allotment of government funds to Oregon was reported by General White, the additional funds to provide seven new buildings at Camp Clatsop.

Mess halls for the enlisted men and modern military bathhouses were allowed by the government, the number being sufficient to equip the entire camp when added to the 40 buildings now at the Clatsop county grounds. The total allotment to Oregon for camp and training purposes as agreed upon is approximately $230,000 for the current fiscal year.

Construction work at Camp Clatsop will be started as soon as plans and specifications for the new buildings can be prepared and approved and bids advertised.

General White returned home by way of Boston, 1930 annual conference point of the national guard association of the United States. He was accompanied by Mrs. White and daughter, Miss Henriette White.

RESCUERS BATTLE TO REACH MINERS

McALESTER, Okla., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Fighting dully after-damp which drove them back time after time and handicapped by debris, mine rescue crews today continued their battle to reach lower levels of the Wheatley No. 4 mine where a blast last night entombed 29 men and killed William Donley, working at the mine mouth.

The number of injured had reached two tonight. Leslie Rosso, working with Donley, was thrown against the tippie, John Moore, a rescue worker, was taken to a McAlester hospital in an unconscious condition after he was gassed.

Work in short shifts, 61 rescue men, most of them from neighboring mines, battled gas and debris during the afternoon. Several workers were overcome by gas. Because of the debris-filled passage way, it took six men several hours to bring Moore to the surface.

HAWLEY TARIFF BILL ATTACKED ON BOTH SIDES

Commission Opens Hearing With Pleas for Lower, Higher Rates Made

Straw hat Importers Face Serious Crisis, Word: Labor Asks Delay

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Conflicting pleas for higher and for much lower duties than those established by the 1930 tariff act for straw hats were made today before the United States tariff commission recently reorganized by President Hoover.

Opening the first public hearing under the altered flexible provision, all six members of the commission heard straw hat importers, backed by a plea from the Italian government, urge a slash of at least 50 per cent in present rates. At the same time domestic manufacturers, joined by labor leaders, pleaded for more protection.

The hearing was the first of 14 to be held during the next month. Romolo Amalano, commercial attaché of the Italian embassy, told the commission the straw hat duties levied by the Smoot-Hawley act had so depressed exports from his country as to forecast a complete shutting off of any legitimate business in that article from Italy to the United States. He contended a balance of trade unfavorable to Italy was being favored by the overbalanced duties on 70 per cent of Italian imports into this country were raised under the act.

LIGHTS DEFICIENT ON NUMEROUS CARS

Of more than 300 motorists whose car lights were tested last weekend in a check made by state traffic officers at the west end of the Willamette river bridge, only 47 per cent had proper lights.

As a result all day yesterday motorists came into the justice court here to report to Justice Eugene S. Williams that they had no lights. The illegal lighting system they were using. When improper lights are found the motorist is tagged and told to correct the lights and to report within three days in justice court. Forty-seven of more than 150 tagged, had reported up to last night.

When the days of grace elapse and the motorist does not report, traffic officers swear out a complaint and the delinquent motorist is brought into court and fined.

Yesterday several offenders from a comparatively recent light check were fined $10 each for non-compliance with the law. These men included Albert Schleg, C. D. Courtener, Joe Miller, Don Williams and a guilty but his case was continued without fine until November 3.
