

MEASURES ON BALLOT MANY

Thirteen Questions Facing Voters Next Tuesday; Some Important

Thirteen proposed constitutional amendments, measures and a referendum, will appear on the ballot at the general election in Oregon November 4.

Probably the most important constitutional amendment is that providing for a cabinet form of government. Under this amendment there would be nine state bureaus under the governor. These include the department of agriculture, department of labor and industry, department of financial administration, department of commerce, department of education, department of public works and domain, department of health and public welfare, department of state police and military affairs, and department of legal affairs.

The offices of governor, state treasurer and state auditor would remain elective as at the present time. Heads of the several bureaus would be appointed by the governor, subject to confirmation by the state senate.

Another constitutional amendment would repeal that section which provides for the issuance and sale of state bonds and the payment, with the money received therefrom, of the interest on bonds issued by irrigation and drainage districts, for the first five years after such bonds are issued. This amendment has been in operation for several years.

Another amendment will appear on the ballot a constitutional amendment extending the privilege of securing state loans under the soldiers bonus law to residents of Oregon who served any time in the Spanish-American war or in the Boxer rebellion in China. The amendment also would apply to persons otherwise qualified who were not residents of Oregon when they entered the service, but who shall have been actual residents thereof for 10 years continuously immediately before filing application for a loan.

Two constitutional amendments relating to the taxing of motor vehicles also will appear on the ballot. One of these would authorize the legislative assembly to classify and subclassify motor vehicles for purposes of taxation, and, in providing for an excise or privilege tax, to take into consideration the use, value and depreciation of the property affected, without specific assessment.

The other amendment would authorize the classification and subclassification of property, including automobiles, for taxation, and consideration of the use, value and depreciation for excise or privilege taxes, without specific assessment.

There also is a constitutional amendment which would fix the compensation of members of the legislature at $500 for the term of two years, together with travel pay for going and returning from the place of meeting. The presiding officers would receive one-fifth of their allowance as additional compensation. Members of the legislature now receive $3 per day and mileage at the rate of 10 cents per mile. Another constitutional amendment provides for filling vacancies in the legislature.

There also will appear on the ballot a bill providing for a state income tax in Oregon. It provides for the levy and collection annually of a progressive state tax upon net incomes of residents and non-resident natural persons and fiduciaries, from every source within the state and from property taxable therein. It grants exemptions to single persons of $1,500; married person, head of family, or husband and wife together, $2,500; and for each child or dependent, $400.

Another constitutional amendment would prohibit the manufacture, sale or giving away of cigarettes in the state of Oregon. There also are amendments providing for the election of a lieutenant governor and closing the Rogue river to commercial fishing. Still another amendment would authorize the creation of people's water and utilities districts.

VEGETABLES ARE PLENTIFUL NOW WHEAT RIDES UPWARD ON RUMOR

Favorable Conditions for Growing Noted in Northwest

Local vegetables of all types, with the exception of tomatoes, beans, and a few others, are unusually plentiful, due to favorable growing conditions, including an abundance of moisture and absence of killing frosts. Prices are reasonable, on all these vegetables.

Many local potato growers are holding their No. 1 stocks for $1.50 per cwt., and are now storing most of their production. Southern Idaho, Yakima valley, Deschutes and Parkdale are about 90 per cent dug. Klamath Falls potatoes are only about 50 per cent harvested however.

There is virtually no carlot onion business at Portland. Demand is fair, but motor-truck operators are keeping the local market well supplied with Oregon onions, at very low prices—40 to 60¢ per cwt.

Carrot shipments are now very light from all competitive districts, and Portland's cash track market for carrots has raised to $1.10-1.15 per crate.

Eastern wire inquiry for celery is showing slight improvement, but prices are showing no increase.

Argentine Rust, More Exports and Beer Hopes Factors

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. — (AP)—Scoring a brisk rally in the late dealings, prices for wheat and corn today finished at a substantial net advance. Assertions of rust damage to the Argentine wheat crop had considerable market influence, and so like wheat did enlargement of wheat export business from North America. There was also a renewal of talk that the Wickersham committee which meets on November 5 would recommend legalizing 4.4 per cent beer.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at virtually the day's top level, 1 1/8 to 1 1/4 a bushel higher than yesterday. Corn closed 5-7 to 1 1/4 up, oats unchanged to 1/4¢ advance.

FIRMER TREND FOR GRAINS NOW NOTED

Domestic grain markets developed a slightly firmer tone during the week ending October 25, with a good demand prevailing for the light offerings of most grains according to the weekly grain market review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Domestic mills were active buyers of good milling wheat, while feeders and industries absorbed feeding grades readily. Farm consumption of wheat is reported fairly heavy, and cash wheat prices advanced relatively more than futures.

Feed grains were steady, but demand for corn was of only moderate volume, as buyers generally were awaiting increased receipts from the new crop, and were not inclined to buy freely at present relatively high prices. Oats and barley were steady under continued good demand. Rye markets remained dull and featureless, and flax markets continued weak, although strength in wheat tended to support the market.

WORLD-WIDE GUILD ENTERTAINS 'DADS'

The Sterling chapter of World Wide Guild girls entertained their fathers with a "Dad and Daughter" banquet in the dining room of Calvary Baptist church Monday evening. Decorations and toasts carried out the idea of "highway" there being many state highway signs about the room.

The program consisted of the welcome by Doris Pickens, the toastmistress; response by Rev. W. Earl Cochran; toasts by Dorothy Ross, "Dad's", Bernice Zielke, "accidents", and Carol Stoddard "ditches"; a piano solo by Miss Eva Cochran; a group of Hawaiian melodies sung by Loreta Wolfe and F. Milred Taylor, accompanying themselves on their ukuleles; a group of popular pieces played at a saxophone solo by Loree Barham accompanied on the piano by Eva Cochran.

Two readings were given by Loraine Gregg and a vocal trio by Dorothea Pickens, Zella Harlan and Eva Cochran. Three members of the Fidelity chapter World Wide Guild girls served the banquet.

TURKEY PRICES TO BE LOW THIS YEAR

Although the report released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicates a smaller turkey crop in prospect than last year, market conditions indicate that prices will rule at relatively low levels as compared to the last several seasons.

Moderate supplies have been reaching the local market during the past week however, only a fair portion of the birds have been of fancy quality, and according to dealers, producers should take greater care in marketing the choice birds on the early market, thus giving the small and less desirable birds a chance to improve for the later holidays.

Prices for the moment are ruling generally around 34 cents for fancy Toms and 32 cents for

FEEDING BOLSTERS BARLEY QUOTATION

Domestic barley markets held generally steady during the week ending October 26, with a good demand from feeders and industries absorbing the relatively light offerings, according to the weekly barley market review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Foreign markets continued weak and there was little export inquiry for domestic barley, so that the feed situation in the United States continued to be the dominant factor in the local market.

California barley markets ranged from unchanged to slightly higher. Offerings at San Francisco were relatively small but principally from resellers since growers were generally holding

BERNARDO GRASS, WITH ADDITION OF ITALIAN RYE, MAKES AN EXTENSIVE LAWN IN DIXIE STATES

Bernardo grass, with the addition of Italian rye, makes an extensive lawn in Dixie states. The grass is being planted in large quantities in the South and West, and is being used for lawns and parks. It is a hardy and durable grass, and is well adapted to the climate of these sections.
