Says Court Negligent—Rex Albright, attorney from Silverton, was here yesterday to appear before the county court in a road matter of interest to one of his clients. Albright told the court that because it had not taken proper procedure in acquiring right of way through a piece of land six miles from Silverton, it faces possibility of having one of its new market roads closed to traffic. The road in question is from Silverton to North Silver Falls. Although the court considers it took the proper action, the question will be put up to the district attorney.

CANNON DEATH FOUND SUICIDE

Story of Events Leading up to Tragedy is Told to Coroner's Jury

Mrs. Bobbie Cannon, found dead in her cell in the city jail Thursday morning, was declared by a coroner's jury Friday to have died by strangulation, self-inflicted. She was picked off the street, early Wednesday morning, in an intoxicated condition.

Members of the coroner's jury were Henry Meyers, Grant Day, Fred Delano, Paul Johnson, William Gilchrist, Jr., and K. H. Pickens.

Material witnesses were Mrs. Zoe Jones, chambermaid at the Belview hotel; Wilbur Furner, son of the proprietor; and Dewey Short, local typewriter man. The stories of each of these tallies with the others with the exception of the liquor which brought about the arrest of these three and the late Mrs. Cannon. Mrs. Jones and Pursey both claim that the deceased bought the drinks, and Mrs. Jones adds that when Mrs. Cannon arrived at the hotel, she was already slightly intoxicated.

At 2:30 a. m., Wednesday, Mrs. Cannon was at the bottom of the stairway leading to the hotel, according to Marion Putnam, night officer, who reported the affair to Sergeant Cutler by telephone. She was partly intoxicated at the time and claimed her husband had beat her. On the way to the phone Putnam saw a man whom he was unable to identify, emerge from the street entrance, walk part way down the street, pause a moment and then run back up the stairs. When Putnam returned from his call, Mrs. Cannon was gone.

While Putnam was looking for her, she was across the street at the foot of another set of stairs, talking to Officer M. W. Miller, who entered the story at this point. Miller placed her in a police car and took her to headquarters where she was booked and confined to the women's cell. Mrs. Cannon continued her story of having been beaten by someone and thrown out of her hotel.

Officer Cutler, some time later, heard a strange noise from the jail corridor and investigated. He found Mrs. Cannon with a handkerchief about her neck and tied in a knot. Entering the cell, he removed the handkerchief and later had to remove the blankets from her bed because of her attempt to choke herself with that. He also summoned the police matron.

When Mrs. Cannon was taken to the cell, she was in a state of collapse. After some time, Thompson said, she seemed to quiet down, and when he returned he perceived her feet protruding from behind a screen on the next two trips the feet were still in the same position. Thompson believed that she had sat on a chair to rest.

Mrs. Cannon had a bruise on her forehead over her left eye. All of the part agree that she probably got it between the time she entered the Belview and when she went downstairs after the party.

Part of the mystery was cleared up when young Pursey admitted that he was probably the man Officer Putnam saw. He claimed that he returned to his room in order to avert trouble.

Short was the first to leave the party, claim the rest, and all went to the Senator hotel, directing a taxicab to go to the Belview for a passenger. He immediately went home. Short stated that the black eye he carried was the result of the impact of his wife's fist on that part of his anatomy.

It was testified that although Mrs. Cannon was badly intoxicated, she descended the stairs alone. None of the party saw her again after she left.

COUNTY AGENT NEED OUTLINED

Evens Valley Club in Favor of Move, Unanimous Vote Reveals

Oscar H. Lee, president of the Evens Valley community club, reports that his organization has gone on record unanimously as favoring a county agent. A committee has recently been named to work with committees from other communities, urging the Marion county court to name a county agent for this county.

Mr. Lee made the following statement recently: "We believe that the proper county agent in Marion county would be of assistance to a farmer. After investigating the work done by county agents in Polk and Clackamas counties we find that they have a yearly report that is a credit to them. Why could not some of our county officials give a report of their year's work also so we could see what they have done during the year?"

"The people of Polk, Washington and Clackamas counties say they would not be without a county agent and they have their work there to show for it. The Polk agent has several Marion county farmers attending the field day demonstrations."

"We need a county agent for the cherry fruit fly, Canada thistle and blackberry red disease control. These are things that are of vital interest to those of us who come in contact with them. We are interested in cow-testing work and abortion control work. It is very difficult to grow clover in the hills, and without a legume crop in the rotation it is impossible to keep up soil fertility."

"County agents in other counties have assisted in cooperative marketing. This work is certainly needed here."

Stanley Myers Files Data on Campaign Cost

Stanley Myers, unsuccessful candidate for district attorney of Multnomah county at Tuesday's election, expended $98.64 in conducting his campaign, according to an expense account filed in the state department Friday.

Other expense accounts filed in the state department follow: Charles Childs, republican, for state representative for the second district, $17.75; Louis L. Knapp, republican; for state representative for sixth district, $15; Grant J. Williams, republican, for district attorney Curry county, $20.

Ice Racketeers Get One Victim

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Several men believed to have been racketeers in ice lay in wait for Notale Durso, 38, in upper Lexington avenue last night and shot him when his car was stopped by traffic lights. He died immediately.

LOCAL DAIRIES MAKE SHOWING

Numerous Prizes are won At Products Exhibit in Portland

Salem dairies which exhibited at the Pacific International dairy products show in Portland last week, made a remarkable record of winnings, with every exhibitor taking off some diploma, which signified that scoring in every case was above 94. At the show there were 141 entries in all classes from Oregon, California and Washington, and 11 of these entries were from Salem.

This is the first time so many dairies from here have exhibited; however, local proprietors are enthusiastic over results of their showings, and it is probable there will be an equally heavy registration from here next year.

In the raw milk division, silver medal diplomas, which mean a score of 96 to 98, were awarded to Capitol Dairies, Hazel Dell Dairy and Lion's Jersey Dairy; bronze medal diplomas, carrying scoring from 94 to 96, went to Maple Dairy, Curley's Dairy and Pleasant Home Dairy.

Pasteurized Milk Wins Awards
For pasteurized entries from Salem, gold medal diploma, meaning scoring above 93, went to Capitol Dairies; and silver medal diplomas was awarded Curley's Dairy. Curley's Dairy also took silver medal diplomas on pasteurized cream and fourth in shippers' class.

Milk was scored by G. V. Copson, professor of bacteriology at Oregon State college, and George C. Carman of the state department.
