GROUNDING TANKER TO BE ABANDONED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Planned by a jagged rock to Pescadero reef, 50 miles south of here, the tanker Tamiahua was to be abandoned by her crew of 33 at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning.

A breeches buoy was rigged up today to take off the crew when repeated efforts of tug and coast guard cutter had failed to budger the tanker. The early morning hour was chosen as the most expeditious as the tide will be low and receding, lessening possibilities of mishap as the sailors are dragged through the surf.

The crew has remained aboard the craft ever since she grounded on the bleak coast in a dense fog Thursday night. A jagged rock which penetrated eight feet into her hold, leaking tanks and the continued rocking of ground swells which settled the ship, was to be abandoned by her crew of 33 at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Salvagers were preparing to begin an attempt early next week to save the vessel if she is not hopelessly battered by the tail end of a gale which the federal weather bureau reported was driving in from the sea.

The Tamiahua was grounded scarcely 200 feet from shore.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The assertion that unless the Volstead act was modified within the next two years, President Hoover and the republican party would meet defeat at the next presidential election was made today by Representative Britten, republican, Illinois, an opponent of prohibition.

"President Hoover," the Illinois member said, "would please the country at large and do much to bring back prosperity to the farmers if he would see to it that the Wickersham law enforcement commission reported favorably for modification of the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer. He should take a firm stand for modification."

Britten said Tuesday's election increased the "number of wets in the house by 40."

Enthusiasm For Grid Game Puts 84 Behind Bars

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—(AP)—In the language of the gridiron, student enthusiasm ran out of bounds today before an after the annual city championship clash between the football forces of Carnegie Tech and the University of Pittsburgh, resulting in 84 arrests. The score remained 9 to 0 tonight in favor of the police with the number still in custody on charges of disorderly conduct.

SIXTEEN OF CREW GO DOWN

Brooklyn, Steam Schooner Sinks as Gigantic Waves Strike Vessel When it Leaves Eureka Harbor

Thrown on Side and Broken In two Within a Brief Space of Time; Warning Had Been Issued

EUREKA, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Daring a gale, 16 on board the steam lumber schooner Brooklyn went to their deaths when they tried to steam out of Humboldt harbor late today.

The little schooner was bowled over and sunk by two mountainous waves which struck her simultaneously while crossing Humboldt bar at the entrance of the harbor.

The craft was thrown on her side and broken in two by the giant swells, Captain Ahlin of the steamer Washington, reported. The Washington was following a quarter mile behind the Brooklyn, but turned back.

Coast guardsmen who witnessed the tragedy, said the Brooklyn blew her whistle frantically as the waves capized her. Within five minutes she had sunk.

No trace of the bodies had been found late tonight by coast guard boats or shore patrols which began the search immediately after the lumber ship went down. Trollers Remain Outside Harbor

Afraid of the mammoth waves breaking over the bar, five San Francisco trollers held out the storm outside the harbor. While admitting the fishermen were in a precarious position, coast guardsmen added, "they're used to it."

The guard however, issued warnings to ships not to try to cross the bar. The weather, guardsmen said, is the roughest seen here in years.

While searchers sought bodies of the crew, the lone survivor, who missed the boat, retold stories of seaman who had said "the Brooklyn will be the next to go."

The survivor, Nels Christensen, seaman, missed the boat when he tarried too long purchasing cigars and tobacco for the crew.

The Brooklyn, a 216 ton craft operated by the Bayside Steamship company of Eureka and San Francisco, was captained by T. Tusnesson, Berkeley, a veteran of the north California coast.

Period of Conscript Service to be Limited

GENEVA, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Count von Bernstorff's proposal to limit the number of army conscripts called to the colors each year by parties to the League of Nations preparatory disarmament conference was rejected by the commission today. Approval, however, was voted an alternative principle for limitation of the period of conscript service.

Only five nations supported the German recommendation—Russia, China, Sweden, Norway and Holland. The United States, Great Britain and Canada, while not voting, were understood to approve the proposal in substance although they believed it useless to attempt to force such limitation on states which rely upon conscription for their military defense forces.
