

GEO. WOLFER PASSES AWAY

Pioneer Resident of Hubbard Passes Away at Age of 88

HUBBARD, November 10. — Many friends and relatives gathered at the Hubbard city hall on Sunday afternoon to do honor to the memory of George J. Wolfer, a highly respected and loved pioneer merchant, who had spent almost his entire life of 88 years, seven months and 11 days in their midst, taking an active interest not only in the activities of the early pioneer days but also keenly interested in affairs of the present time.

Rev. S. E. Long of Salem, who officiated at the services at the request of Mr. Wolfer in directions for his funeral read after his death, spoke of his friend as a person who was always fair and square in his dealings with others to the extent that he (Mr. Wolfer) would rather take harm than to give it.

Mrs. Julius Stauffer, Mrs. E. A. McKay, Avon Jesse and John Mowman, members of a quartet, sang the selections, "Rock of Ages," and "Sweet By and By." Avon Jesse sang the solo, "Shadows." Miss Anita Bevens was the pianist. Pall bearers were August Will, Otto Miller and Julius Stauffer, all of Hubbard, Jonas Will and Coleman Mark, both of Aurora and Remy Zimmerman of Canby. Mrs. Elmer Stauffer, Mrs. W. S. McManis and Mrs. J. R. Bldgood had charge of the flowers of which there was a profusion of lovely ones.

At the Hubbard cemetery where Mr. Wolfer was buried beside his wife, who had preceded him in death, eight years ago, the members of the quartet sang two songs "Asleep in Jesus," and "Some Sweet Day By and By," and prayer was offered by Reverend Long. The grave was covered with flowers, a plenty for both the graves of the father and mother. The funeral director was S. A. Miller, of Aurora, also chosen by Mr. Wolfer in his final directions.

Mr. Wolfer's death occurred on Wednesday evening, November 5, following an illness of several weeks.

Life was Varied
The life of "Dad" Wolfer, as he was called by his close friends, had spanned the candle-stick and spinning wheel age to the present time of electricity and the machine age, and during all those years he had given of his time and talents generously toward the progress of his beloved state. Memoirs of his life reveal the fact that he not only kept abreast of the times but forged ahead always predicting something greater in the way of achievements. He was the first in Hubbard to have a telephone in his home—35 years ago when he owned the general merchandise store here. He has had a radio in his home since 1911 when he and his foster sons, Clark and Charles Will, twin brothers, whom Mr. and Mrs. Wolfer raised from babies to manhood, would experiment with wireless instruments receiving messages before such a thing was scarcely dreamed of.

Great was Mr. Wolfer's joy to recline in his easy chair before a modern radio and listen in on one of our modern radio programs. In 1926, Mr. Wolfer, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Henrietta Wolfer, and a friend, Miss Florence Beardsley, enjoyed his first airplane ride at Los Angeles, Cal.

Fifty years ago, Mr. Wolfer helped grade the main line of the Southern Pacific highway as far south as Albany using ox teams for power.

Mr. Wolfer's life was full of adventures. He was a great hunter and had one of the finest collections of guns in the state. He was a member of the G. A. R. serving for a short time in the Civil war with company F, 71st Missouri volunteer infantry.

The last week in August, 1870, George Wolfer, Captain Christoff Wolfe, John Will and Henry F. Fink, climbed Mt. Hood, Mr. Wolfer reaching the top. Mr. Fink, noted author and music critic, mentions the incident in his book, "My Adventures in the Golden Age of Music," in which he describes the trip, mentioning the names of his associates. Mr. Fink was a close friend of Mr. Wolfer and of his son, Clark Will, who cherishes a letter written by Mr. Fink to Mr. Will and also the last letter written by the great music critic as his death occurred shortly after.
