

North Howell, Labish and Talbot Ask for County Agent

AGENT WORK IS ENDORSED

Three Districts go on Record as Favoring New Office

New strength was added to the movement for an agricultural agent for Marion county Friday night when the North Howell grange, the Labish Center Community club and the Santiam community club of Talbot each voted to endorse the county agent plan.

Farmers in these districts feel that the services of a county agent are needed to aid the agricultural work in their particular districts.

In the North Howell community the chief industry is raising strawberries. The berry growers are constant in their demand for the raising of crops and pests which injure the berry crop and feel that the advice of an expert would be invaluable to them.

In the Labish Center district much of the valuable beaver dam land is devoted to the raising of onions, peppermint and celery. During recent years much loss has been suffered through plant disease and insect pests. These growers are urgent in their demand for a county agent.

In the Talbot district farmers feel that the work of a county agent would be valuable to the general farmer as well as to those who raise special crops. All these districts have appointed committees to meet with the county court on Thursday, November 20 when those favoring a county agent will be given a hearing.

MONMOUTH DEAN BACK FROM EAST

Miss Jessica Todd Returns From Vacation Spent in Eastern Cities

MONMOUTH, Nov. 15—Miss Jessica Todd, dean of women at the Oregon Normal school, returned this week from a month's vacation spent with relatives and friends in Missouri and Pennsylvania. Leaving Oregon via the Portland Rose, a new through train recently added to the Portland railway which is Dean Todd says is a delightful means of transportation—she went direct to Omaha, and thence to the home of her brother, G. G. Todd in Crystal City, Mo., 30 miles from St. Louis.

Crystal City is a town comprised entirely of Pittsburgh Plate Glass employees, and has an immense plant, recently rebuilt into an $8,000,000 enterprise for which her brother was construction engineer. Although closed during October, it was to reopen November 1.

Pennsylvania was found to be at its season of greatest autumnal beauty, with foliage and shrubbery a gorgeous denial of winter's icy mask—just around the corner.

Family Reunion Held
Dean Todd particularly enjoyed at Pittsburgh her participation in a reunion of members of her family and the Sherman family, who have been friends and intimates for four generations. The festival events included a dinner party one Saturday evening at a country club; and another on Sunday at the Petersburg Inn, a quaint place 50 miles from Pittsburgh.

At Beaver Falls she visited May Lewis, formerly her secretary at the Oregon Normal school, who now is a high school teacher in the same county where she was spent at the country home of a cousin, with many motor trips to contiguous sections. Dean Todd saw the house in which she was born, also the first church and first school home which she attended. Conspicuous among these familiar landmarks, were the astounding road changes—highways replacing placid country lanes, modest bridges transforming into concrete structures of durable permanence. So much additional building had been done as to render the locality almost foreign at first observation.

A constant and urgent demand was noted for purchase of hay in this section of the east, and corn was selling shelled at $1.00 per bushel.

Although both Missouri and Pennsylvania had both suffered one of the worst droughts in history during the summer, sufficient rain had fallen in early autumn to rejuvenate the entire landscape in each state, until practically all arid traces were obliterated.
