

Varied Topics Before Farmers at Polk County Meeting

DAIRYMEN TO HAVE SESSION

Lincoln School to be Scene Of Meeting of Polk County Group

DALLAS, Nov. 18.—The production of grade B milk, feeding of economical home grown rations, disease control and other subjects of timely interest to dairymen will provide the program at the Lincoln schoolhouse Thursday evening. Prof. F. M. Brandt, head of the dairy department at the state college and County Agent J. R. Beck will be the speakers on the program which is being arranged for by C. Yungen, E. E. Buckles and Roy Barker.

Much of the land in the Lincoln community lying along the Willamette river from the West Salem bridge to the Yamhill county line could be irrigated and this will be another one of the subjects that will be discussed. Mr. Beck reports that he has some pictures that will be particularly interesting for this purpose.

A similar meeting will be held Thursday afternoon at Gold Creek over near Willamina while on Friday additional meetings will be held of this same type in the Buena Vista and Elkins communities, later meeting being arranged for by a committee from the Elkins Farmers Union.

At Buena Vista, Willard Bartlett, Nels Anderson and W. B. Kanne are in charge of the arrangements.

MISSIONARIES ARE HEARD AT ROSEDALE

ROSEDALE, Nov. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Tamplin, former pastors here and later doing missionary work in Honduras, had charge of the morning service here Sunday. Much interest was shown in their work. They plan to sail in January for La Paz, Bolivia where they will engage in missionary work among the Amyr Indians as well as the Cholos which are a mixed Spanish race.

During the Sunday School hour they appeared in native dress and impersonated an Amyr Indian and wife. Mr. Tamplin described his wife's dress speaking in Spanish while she interpreted to the audience.

Their two young sons, Jonathan and David sang in Spanish. In the church service, Mrs. Tamplin sang, "To the Regions Beyond, I Must Go" and gave a history of their call to the missionary field. Mr. Tamplin followed with a missionary address, much appreciated.

Through the courtesy of F. C. Collins, Salem manager for the Standard Oil company, this public announcing card has been supplied for the Whitman-Willamette football game here next Saturday, November 22. Each play will be announced to the crowd.

Pioneer Days Recalled at Homecoming at Rosedale

ROSEDALE, Nov. 18.—Almost 150 friends gathered at the church Monday evening to the "homecoming" dinner which was sponsored by the local Sunday school.

After a time of greeting and social converse, a bountiful dinner of chicken and "all the fixings" was served in the basement which had been beautifully decorated with fir boughs, bouquets of chrysanthemums graced the long tables. After everyone had eaten to the limit, all returned to the auditorium where a worthwhile program was given.

History Recalled
There was much "reminiscing" of old times "when we were young" and the old church was built, etc. Irene Cunningham of Salem, gave some of the early history of the church. The monthly meeting was organized in 1894 and called Rosedale Park. It was first held at Liberty and later at Hope Chapel, the old Methodist church which formerly stood across the road from T. D. Trick's residence. Here the Friends and Methodists alternated services with the Methodists for a time, but about 1898, they undertook to build a church of their own here. Almost all of the work was of the donation variety. Charles

Baldwin did a great deal of it himself.

Pioneers Recalled
Some of the familiar names on the records during that time, are those of the Pemberton families, West, Rice, Crozier, Townsend, Stroud, Edmundson, Baldwin, Gilbert and some others.

Some of the former pastors were Anson Cox (the first pastor), Ellwood Knight, Elmer Pemberton, Algot Holmes, Joseph Dillon, Charles Baldwin, Aaron Bray, C. A. Hadley, Clyde Thomas. Former pastors present were M. H. Foster and wife of Portland and Carroll and Davis Tamplin. Appropriate remarks were made by Mr. Foster and Mr. Tamplin, also by the present pastor, A. J. Haldy. H. H. Smith, a long time resident, gave a talk on pioneer days of the community.

Former Members Speak
Several former members of the congregation were called on for short talks. Among these were Dr. J. Ray Pemberton of Salem, Mrs. Lulu Coppock of Salem, Mrs. Alice Pearson of Tillamook, Charles Townsend of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Emmer Newby of Washougal, Wash., and others.

H. Porter and Mr. and Mrs. Tamplin. After singing together "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and benediction by Carroll Tamplin, the company dispersed, feeling it had been good to review "Ye Olden Times." Though only a memory, they here meant much in the warp and woof of our character.

PERRYDALE FANS OUT FOR GAME

PERRYDALE, Nov. 18.—The football fans who braved the storm Saturday and attended the game in Corvallis were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Elliott and Wanda, who went Friday and spent the week end with Leone Elliott, who attends O. S. U.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell and Aladine also spent the week end in Corvallis with Mrs. Campbell's parents.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell and Roberts and Lewis Woods returned Saturday evening.
Roy Wesolowski, who has been employed at the Robert Mitchell farm for two years, has gone to spend the winter with his parents in Salem.
Mrs. Jane Baxter has gone to Seattle, Wash., to visit relatives. Mrs. Baxter will be gone several weeks.

BRUSH CREEK STAGE COMEDY

"Go Slow Mary" Promises To be Rollicking Entertainment

BRUSH CREEK, Nov. 18.—Brush Creek Boosters are working hard on Lillian Mortimer's three-act comedy drama, "Go Slow Mary," which they hope to have ready for presentation some time around the holiday season. John C. Goplerud, president of the Boosters club, is directing the play, and Mrs. Dan Hillman is assisting him.

The play centers much around Billie Abbey, a young husband who is out of work, and his discontented wife. These two parts are played by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Larson. Mrs. Burdon, Mrs. Abbey's mother (Mrs. Sam Lorenson) plays the part of the mother-in-law. A romance of interest is that between Salley Carter (Miss Margaret Giesik) and Harry Stevens (Ludvig Meyer).

Miss Carter is the bosom friend of Mrs. Abbey while Mr. Stevens is the friend of Mr. Abbey. Bert Childs is played by Elmer Burdon. Two holy terrors are Bobby Burdon and Dolly Burdon played by Sam Lorenson and Viola Larson. Luella Forland, great favorite of former Brush Creek plays, takes the part of Katie the maid, with Martin Maurer playing the part of Andy Grub. Katie's suitor, Murphy, the policeman and the rival of Andy, is being done by Dan Hillman.

STAYTON GRANGE TO SPONSOR BAZAAR

STAYTON, Nov. 18.—The Stayton Grange is looking forward to a big day Saturday next, when they will hold a cooked food sale and bazaar at the Stayton hardware store, and in the evening will give an old time masquerade at their hall.

West Salem News

WEST SALEM, Nov. 18.—"The Altar of the Lord" was the sermon subject at the Ford Memorial church Sunday morning, with a piano voluntary and offertory by Miss Trula Grant and a girls' quartet. At the evening service the topic was "After This." Special musical numbers were a piano voluntary by Miss Roberta Peterson, a choir number, a number by a mixed quartet and one by a male quartet.

Mrs. Rose Kendall Bursleigh left Monday for Seattle where she will spend the Thanksgiving season with her son, Ed Kendall, and family. Mrs. Bursleigh expects to remain in Washington until after Christmas as the guest of various relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Berry of Salem were visitors Sunday at the Edward Brock home.

The newly-organized football eleven has regrettably laid away their paraphernalia until next spring, the football season being closed.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Burke have entertained quite extensively the past week. Mrs. Will Catterson of Burns is now a house guest at the Burke home. Mrs. Tom Houser, also of Burns, is visiting with the Burkes and other relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rodgers and children, Claude, Lester and Wanda, of Seio were breakfast guests of the Burkes Friday morning, and Charles Logan, assessor of Harney county, who has been attending the assessors' conference in Salem, was their guest on Wednesday.

Ivan Moir, proprietor of the filling station at the junction of the Wallace road and Glenn creek road, is building a neat little residence just east of the station.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Burke drove to Hebo Friday, returning home Saturday. While there they were guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coney.

Fred Gibson, with William Knower of Orchard Heights, returned Friday from a fishing trip. They report that salmon are very plentiful in the Nestucca river near Pacific City.

the west end of the inter-county bridge. The work is being done by day labor, which helps somewhat in relieving the unemployment situation in West Salem.

C. E. Roush of Portland, owner of the Roush grocery, spent the week end here and in Salem where he was visiting friends and transacting business.

Pupils of the West Salem schools will put on a Thanksgiving program the evening of November 26 in the community hall.

Ed Brock is suffering from a severe attack of asthma.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stevens spent Tuesday with relatives near Albany.

The West Salem Community club held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening in the community hall. Misses Adah Clarke and Helen Gosser gave a vocal duet, Mrs. Arthur Utley of Wallace road, a vocal solo, and Messrs. Harbo Thompson and Enoch Maery pleased with numbers on steel guitars.

The chief feature of the evening's entertainment was a moving picture show by Dr. David Bennet Hill, who showed pictures illustrating the flax industry, of the Molalla farm-land, views from a local tulip field and a comedy. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

MILL CITY HAS H. S. CARNIVAL

Student Entertainment Nets Nice sum for Student Body

MILL CITY, November 18.—The carnival which was sponsored by the student body of the high school was a decided success and netted the student body almost $200. The carnival is an annual affair and is held in the gymnasium. The early part of the evening was given over to a program consisting of songs by the Floradora sextet with Nellie Ellsworth, Mary Hill, Ione Bertram, Mildred Hoeye, Elsie Plambeck and Millicent Olin, dressed in the costumes of 1890, taking part; a ballet dance by Meldon Raines; tap dance by Genella

Gentry; "A Tragedy" by a group of boys; two banjo solos by Robert Faust; and a skit, "The Canibal Island," presented as a shadow picture by another group of boys.

Following the program the carnival proper was opened and for several hours a gaily run wild. Each class had arranged a booth with games of chance, hot dogs, peanuts, candy and ice cream being sold. A fish pond was also an attraction.

Hans Plambeck was general manager for the affair, Benton Kirby advertising manager and Mildred Hoeye program manager.
