Influence of Seeing

By J. MARK COMER

"Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon one of the five senses, seeing, hearing, feeling, smelling and tasting. It is rather a striking (shall I say coincidence) with the text I have chosen, that seeing is always mentioned first.

Might it not be because this sense has the greatest influence over enced by what they see than in any other way. We must see to read (unless we are so unfortunate as to have lost our eyesight), and what we read, the books, papers and magazines, largely mold

Then there is another class who are so unfortunate as to be unable to read because of lack of education. They must depend upon the senses of seeing and hearing to form their thoughts

This month the junior members of the Sunday school are collecting tin foil which they will send to the Shriner's hospital for crippled children at Portland to help provide Christmas cheer for those kiddles less fortunate than themselves. There is keen rivalry between the boys and girls classes to see which will have the most at the end of the month.
