

SEN. REYNOLDS DIES MONDAY

Extended Illness Weakens Well-Known Citizen; County Senator

Salem and took his college course at Willamette, graduating in 1891. For many years he has served as a trustee of Willamette. After leaving the college he took up horticulture, operating his father's orchard tract near Salem until 1900 when he purchased his own tract of 40 acres. Later he returned to the family homestead and operated it as a successful horticulturist.

As a horticulturist Mr. Reynolds was widely known. He was successful as a grower of apples, pears, cherries, peaches, giving careful scientific study to horticulture and being rated as one of the country's leading horticulturists in that line of endeavor in the state. In 1926 he was president of the Oregon Horticultural society. His interests went beyond the growing of fruits to their marketing and he served for several years as president of the Producers' Co-operative packing association of Salem. He was also active in the Salem cherry growers association.

For six years he was a member of the Oregon state board of horticulture and treasurer for four years. A republican in politics, Mr. Reynolds represented Marion county in the lower house of the legislature from 1907 to 1913, and again from 1923 to 1925. He served as state senator from 1927 to 1929 and was reelected for a second four-year term this month. In the legislature Mr. Reynolds was recognized as an authority on horticultural matters. Senator Reynolds was a consistent, steady worker, not carried away easily, strong in his beliefs and convictions, and ever watchful of the interests of his constituents.

SUDDEN DEATH OF KUBIN, 14, SHOCKS

KINGWOOD, Nov. 24.—This entire neighborhood was shocked and grieved Sunday by the untimely death of LeVerne Kubin, 14. The boy came to his death by the accidental discharge of a .22 rifle into the hands of a boy companion, James Royer.

The two, with another youth, Edward Digma, had been shooting bunches of mistletoe off the trees surrounding the Kubin prune drier. Royer, thinking the charges had all been fired handed the gun carelessly and the fatal bullet was discharged, passing through the sleeve of young Digma, injuring his arm slightly and piercing the body of Kubin near the heart. Death was instantaneous.

La Verne is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kubin, a sister, Arvilla Kubin, and two brothers, Gerald and Virgil.

La Verne was a graduate of the West Salem grammar school, of Park junior high and at the time of his death was a student at Salem senior high school.

Allowance for Children is Cut

In cases where a child is placed in a state-aided institution and the parent or some other person contributes regularly to the support of such child, the amount contributed shall be reduced from the $16 per month allowed for its maintenance by the state, according to a legal opinion handed down by the attorney general here Monday. The opinion was requested by the child welfare commission.

money for rent of a building and that one inspector would do in place of three. Alderman Hughes who seconded the motion, advanced different argument claiming that it was "triple taxation" for Salem, because the school district and county likewise were taxed. P. M. Gregory urged to cut the whole appropriation out. He disclaimed any desire to do away with health work but wanted the county court to take over the whole burden.

Those speaking for the appropriation were Dr. H. H. Olinger, A. Hückstein, Dr. W. B. Morse, Dr. Utter, T. M. Hicks, Mrs. Hannah Martin, representing the Salem woman's club. S. M. Endicott favored the cut to reduce taxes and Harry Crain said the city was paying too big a share of the inspector's pay. Dr. Douglas of the health unit explained the unit divided its time in proportion to the amount each unit appropriated. Salem thus received 27-40ths of the total appropriation.

Fred H. Paulus called the attention of the budget committee to the rise in city taxes which he attributed largely to the increase in bond issues. Salem, he said had a high credit rating, but continued increases in taxes and issuance of bonds would discourage investment here and impair the city's credit.

The budget will now be published and then will come before the city council for final adoption. Items changed may be reinstated by the council in its final meeting. It is predicted that another fight will be made to save the health appropriation.

Sills Furvine, the city council's member of the health unit committee, was not in attendance last night because of illness; and he is expected to make a fight for the restoration of the full appropriation of $5000 for the health program.

Employee Held Unable to Give Up Damage Lien

A contract between employer and employee, whereby the employee waives all right of action against the employer resulting from injuries received during the course of the employment, in consideration of the employer securing for the employee an accident policy in the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident association, would be invalid, according to an opinion of the attorney general.

The attorney general held that such a contract would be against public policy, particularly when the effect, of holding otherwise would make it possible to supersede the workmen's compensation act and to nullify the employer's liability act.

Expressions Occasioned by Death of Senator Lloyd T. Reynolds

Governor A. W. Norblad: "I considered Lloyd Reynolds one of the finest public men I have ever met. He was a warm personal friend of mine. We served in several sessions of the legislature together, and I valued his opinion on public questions very highly. I regret indeed to learn of his untimely death."

Senator J. E. Bennett: "I am very sorry to hear of the death of Senator Reynolds. I served with him in the house in the 1923 session and in the senate in 1929. He was a quiet, conscientious legislator whose work was very effective. No man was better liked by his colleagues than Lloyd Reynolds. Marion county has lost a fine legislator and citizen."

Representative W. Carlton Smith: "Lloyd Reynolds and I were boys together in Salem. He was a very valuable, substantial, conservative business man and legislator. He was a fine man personally and was a careful student of important issues."
