Charles Community Group of Life in Cuba

BRUSH COLLEGE, November 27-Charles Haworth of Willamette university was principal speaker at the meeting of the Brush College community club held at the school house, November 21.

Mr. Haworth gave an entertaining account of his four years spent in Cuba telling of the Cuban schools, national costume, home life, native language and superstitions.

In speaking of the latter he related several amusing incidents. "One evening my wife and I were strolling in the moonlight," related Mr. Haworth, "We were wheeling our young baby in its perambulator when we were accosted by an elderly native woman who seemed to be horrified because the moonlight was shining on the child's face. She begged us to put an umbrella over it as some terrible calamity would overtake it if the moonlight fell on its face." The Cubans never let the moonlight fall on their faces if there is any way to avoid Fruits Plentiful Mr. Haworth said that there are many native fruits grown in Cuba such as pineapple, oranges and bananas with which he is familiar but that there are also numerous others for which he had to acquire a liking.

Another fact which always puzzled him was that even the small children could speak Spanish fluently. He told of one little Spanish girl who upon hearing their baby cry said, "Why it cries in Spanish, doesn't it?" Other numbers on the program were the following songs which were popular during the war and which were sung by the Brush College school children, "Long. Long Trail," "Smile, Smile, Smile," "Katie," "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Over There," and "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. . State club leader H. C. Seymour will be present at the December meeting of Brush College community club.
