EUGENE TO PAY TAX ON TRACT

247 Acres Leased to Southern Pacific not Exempt, High Court's View

Approximately 247 acres of a 252-acre tract of land originally acquired by the city of Eugene for use as a terminal for the Southern Pacific company and later leased to the city of Springfield, is subject to taxation, according to an opinion by B. F. Keener, superior of Lane county, in the city of Eugene and its officials.

The opinion was written by Justice Belt and affirmed the decision of Judge G. F. Skipworth of the Lane county circuit court. The land was acquired under a bond issue, and upon being leased to the city of Springfield was used as an aviation field and for other commercial purposes. Five acres of the tract now utilized for a municipal park is exempt from taxation under the opinion of the supreme court.

"It is clear," read the supreme court opinion, "that if property owned by a municipality is not used or intended to be used for a corporate purpose it is subject to taxation. Having leased this property to the town of Springfield for a period of 49 years, it is hardly reasonable to assume that the city of Eugene intends to devote the property to public use."

Other opinions handed down here today follow: Life Insurance company, plaintiff, vs. Thelma Marie Burkholder, defendant; appeal from decision of the estate of Fred Marti, deceased, respondent, and E. O. Branstetter, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county. Petition for rehearing denied in opinion by Justice Rosenman.

E. K. Kelley, plaintiff and appellant, vs. First National Bank of Medford, et al., defendants and respondents; appeal from Jackson county; writ to quiet title. Opinion by Justice Keener. Decree of Judge H. D. Norton modified and affirmed.

W. E. Hopkins vs. Frederick C. Forbes, appellant; appeal from Clatsop county; writ to stay forcible entry and detainer proceedings. Opinion by Justice Keener. Decree of Judge W. E. Dunsen modified.

State of Oregon vs. Henry Frohbecker and Ben Lilla, appellants; appeal from Jefferson county; appeal from conviction for operating a still. Opinion by Justice Keener. Judge T. E. J. Duffey affirmed.

Charles Hecker vs. Union Gas company, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; writ for damages. Opinion by Justice Keener. Judge W. A. Shwartz affirmed.

Oscar J. Glossett, plaintiff and respondent, vs. American Theatre company, defendant, and Alex Weinstein, respondent; appeal from Multnomah county; petition for rehearing denied in opinion by Chief Justice.

Michelin Tire company, appellant, vs. F. G. Williams, respondent; appeal from Clatsop county; writ for damages. Opinion by Justice Keener. Judge W. A. Shwartz affirmed in opinion by the court.

Students Put Taboo on Art For Badgers

Willamette university students went on record yesterday as thoroughly disapproving of the painting of several articles about Pacific university campus the morning before the Pacific Willamette game, in Portland, November 29. The vote was taken as a direct result of a letter from Dean Frank C. Taylor of Pacific university.

Early Saturday morning, November 29, some supporters of Willamette university, student or outsider, did a bit of "art work" on the Pacific university campus, according to the first letter from Dean Taylor.

Pink paint was used to deface the petrified oak stump, and the senior bench, on the Pacific campus. The initials "W. U." were used often in these bits of art. When the suggestion was made to send money to Pacific university to help defray the cleanup expense, the idea met with disapproval since the students didn't wish to imply that they were responsible for the acts of persons who did the painting.

A more favorable letter was received from Coach "Nig" Borleske of Whitman college which expressed a compliment of the Willamette students, the women in particular, on the sportsmanship and backing of the Bearcat team at the game between Whitman and Willamette, November 22.

COUNTY WILLING TO MATCH U. S. FUNDS

Marion county is prepared to match dollar for dollar any money the state highway commission, in its proposed endeavor to relieve unemployment, might designate for construction of the North Santiam highway, the county court has intimated.

Proposal has been made by Chairman H. B. VanDuser of the state highway commission, that a half million dollars of the highway fund be diverted to county use to aid in putting more men to work. Whether the commission will grant any funds to Marion county for the North Santiam route is not known, but should VanDuser's proposal be accepted, the court will make a quick bid for a share of the money.

4696 of 7721 Children Have Some Defects

This year's report shows a slightly higher percentage of defective teeth than a year ago. However, there is a noticeable improvement in hearing and eye conditions. The number with defective teeth was 4696; with defective hearing, 358; with defective eyes, 242.

Of the children examined, 461 were mouth breathers, and 2317 had not been vaccinated. Defects known to have been corrected since the last examination totaled 1512. In 25 of the schools hot lunches are served on school days to the pupils.

REYNOLDS' ESTATE SAID TO BE $500,000

Wife has Life Interest; Son Then Inherits; Library Donated

Estate of the late Lloyd T. Reynolds is worth about $500,000, $35,000 of which is real property, and $15,000 personal property, according to reports of an inventory filed in probate court yesterday.

Under terms of the will, drawn up January 21, 1929, Reynolds bequeathed his wife, Ruth S. Reynolds, he permitted use of money about equal to income of the estate, and that personal effects, except the library, go to her; a $2000 bequest is made to his sister, Mary E. Reynolds; and his sisters and brother, Mary E. Reynolds, Kaie D. Goitra and John W. Reynolds, are granted selection of any books from the library, the remaining books to be given to Willamette university.

Cemetery Endowed—Senator Reynolds establishes an endowment fund for the permanent care of the City View cemetery, and bequeaths $20,000 to Willamette university, contingent upon other events, to be used in building up his library. Twenty-five shares of capital stock in the City View Cemetery association are willed to Ethel F. Headrick and another 25 are in trust with the income to be used for education of their adopted son, John T. Reynolds.

Other assets are to be held in trust for the widow, and at her death the estate goes to the son, provided he is 30 years old; otherwise he gets the income until he reaches that age.

The estate will be appraised by Paul B. Wallace, H. R. Crawford and Mark Sauer.

WARNINGS ISSUED ON BOULDER JOBS

Men Shouldn't go to dam On Blind Chance, Bureau Of Labor Declares

The United States civil service commission has advised the local secretary concerning employment on the Boulder dam project that no one should go to the spot unless he has been definitely employed. The commission says:

"The U. S. employment service of the department of labor, in cooperation with the state of Nevada, has established a public employment service at Las Vegas, Nevada. This office will direct men to employment and supply information concerning progress of the work and demand for workmen."

"Plans and specifications for the dam are being prepared and bids will be advertised and contracts let as early as possible. The railroad from Boulder City to the dam site will be let this month. The incline railroad into the canyon, a branch railroad into the canyon above the dam site, office building, dormitory, cottages for employes and water works and sewer systems for Boulder City will all be under construction by February, according to present plans."

"The department expects to let private contractors handle practically all construction work, which means that laborers, cooks, skilled mechanics and foremen will be employed directly by contractors and not by the government."

"Such engineers, civil, mechanical, electrical, irrigation and structural, as may be employed by the bureau of reclamation—in
