Oak Gives Up Indian Relic; History Told

SCIO, Dec. 12.—A reminder of the days when the Indians roved over this part of the country, was uncovered last week in the heart of an oak tree.

JAPANESE ORANGES NOW ON MART COTTON PRICES GO DOWN RAPIDLY

Stock Prices Down bit More; Bonds Steady In Turnover

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The stock market mustered enough courage to advance during the early hours of today's trading, but finally lost heart and closed lower. Bonds steadied in large turnover, but corn and cotton were softer, the latter losing 65 cents to $1 a bale. Recent support for wheat was maintained.

The average decline of exactly a point in 90 stocks was sufficient to put the composite in new low ground for the year. Of the three component groups industrials and rails made new lows; utilities held a point and a half above the old minimum. The market was quiet throughout and sales dropped sharply from yesterday, totaling 3,024,590 shares.
