ATTORNEYS ARGUE WATER MERITS

City Purchase Amendment Is Under Fire in Circuit Court in City

Attorneys were about the only spectators Thursday in Judge Hill's department of circuit court when business opened in the noted water case, in which W. H. Henderson and F. G. Deckebach as intervenor are attempting to test validity of the city bond issue to purchase the Oregon-Washington Water Service company plant here.

Following entering of formula testimony taken from City Recorder Mark Poulsen, his assistant, Miss Edith Burch, and County Clerk U. G. Boyer, arguments were opened with Walter M. Keyes of Salem and J. D. Adams of San Francisco, presenting the case for the talking for the intervenor, and of course incidentally the water company.

Arguments of these men were finished yesterday, and William H. Trindle, city attorney, will present the case for the city the first thing this morning.

Keyes made six six main points, contending that the charter amendment and bond issue were illegal because:

1, the amendment failed to set out in full the charter that it intended to amend; 2. there is a such conflict between section 6, and section 90 of the city charter as regard municipal ownership as to make section 90 unconstitutional and void; 3. initiative petitions were not filed by the recorder within time provided by ordinance 1464, for such petition must be filed within 30 days and the recorder must check it before it is filed; 4. heading on the amendment was insufficient; 5. election was not held on the property date, but should have been held in November 1 judges and clerks for the election were not apointed by the city but rather by the county clerk.

Adams' argument contained four essential points: 1. the title fails to cover all of provisions of the act; 2. more than one subject was embodied in the amendment; it gives the city power to condemn property beyond its boundaries; and the city has no right to provide for a water commission as provided in the charter.

Boys Come to See Model of Coach At "Y" Exhibit

Many Salem boys stopped at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday to see the master miniature model Napoleonic coach which is touring the county in connection with the $50,000 coach-building competition sponsored by the Fisher Body corporation. The coach matter was also presented before the high school assembly yesterday.

L. C. Howe, Craftsman's Guild representative of Detroit, and Walter Leuschner, Fisher craftsman, are traveling with the model.

The coach model presented is a reproduction of the coaches used by Napoleon Bonaparte at his coronation and wedding, and a painstaking example of the workmanship of the old crafts.

All boys between ages of 12 and 19 inclusive are eligible for membership in the local chapter of the Guild and competition for the four $5,000 university scholarships and 980 other awards to be made in the contest.

OLD RAILROAD SOLD

WILMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—The old Chicago & Alton railroad that had served Illinois and Missouri for 83 years was put on the auction block today and went to the sole bidder, the Baltimore & Ohio system, for $23,000,000.

SCOUT WORK GROWS THROUGHOUT AREA

New Troop at Aumsville and One for Stayton is now Being Planned

Boy Scout work in the county continues to grow, with formation of several new troops reported this week by O. P. West, scout executive.

The new troop at Aumsville, sponsored by the P. T. A., has formally applied for charter, with names of 10 boys on the list and about that many more lined up for membership.

Charles Martin Dregnil is scoutmaster, and the troop committee includes T. C. Mountain, chairman, Charles L. Martin, John W. Mix, Ernest W. Empey and A. A. Nicolson. The 10 charter members of the troop are: John Snyder, Wesley Cheffings Jr., Arlow Mix, Henry Amos, Lester Perry, Ralph Alsman, Samuel Bradley, George Radan, Albert Fieber and Dean Nicolson.

A new troop will be completed at Stayton shortly, with the American Legion probably being sponsor. This troop will be number 23 and will have R. G. Wood as scoutmaster. Rev. Wayne Wright is scoutmaster of the other troop there, sponsored by the Lions club. The older boys will compose the new troop.

West Salem troop No. 15 is going strong now, with the following troop committee: Charles I. Adams, J. A. Gosser and Roy Stevens. Alvin C. Henningsen is scoutmaster and the 10 charter members of the troop are: John Ferguson, Harvey Griffin, Raymond Griffin, Kenneth Godkin, Winston Gosser, Robert Langhoff, Gordon Lacey, Eugene Krebs, Leo Stevens and Fred Warren.

Charter has arrived for troop 27 of Dallas, now starting on its third year of work. The other Dallas troop, number 24, has started a newspaper, typewritten, to record troop activities.
