

REVOLT QUIETS DOWN IN SPAIN

Alfonso Appears to Have Situation in Hand as Troops get Busy

Successful revolt would receive nothing heavier than prison sentences.

A pretty story came out of the palace today. Those who were close to the king during the recent tense days and night revealed that his advisers had a hard time preventing Alfonso from putting aside the weightier cares of state, donning a uniform and taking an active part in the open warfare against the revolutionists at Cuatro Vientos airfield. Only by pointing out his safety was essential to the welfare of the kingdom were they able to dissuade the king from his determination.

"Inside Story" Told of Long-Time Plotting

The "inside story" of the revolution was revealed today in a statement by Niceto Alcalá Zamora, whom the revolutionists proclaimed "president of the republic" on Saturday. From his prison cell he told how the plot had begun months ago and was to have flowered in a general strike to begin simultaneously in all cities last Monday morning.

Two things wrecked the program. The commandante of the garrison at Jaca lost his head and began a mutiny three days ahead of time, and dissonance developed among the plotters themselves.

Alcala and his associates, all of whom are in prison, said they were ready to take the consequences of their acts, whatever they might be.

CITY'S BUDGET IS ON FINAL VOTE TONIGHT

Levy providing $17,500 for improvement work would be adequate.

Little Work Held Knewled on Street Repair

"We've built good bridges and so repairs are needed on them; the corners of streets have been rounded in needed places; we have completed the repair of the major street replacement jobs and I don't feel we need so much money for 1931 for this work," Paulus said.

"I know there's the argument that we should provide more work but I do not believe we should provide work which does not necessarily need to be done. After all 1932, 1933 and all years will bring a demand for as much work as possible."

There is some talk this week that the street repair fund was being used as a "slush" fund, its revenues being diverted to other outlets than those of street, culvert or bridge repair as provided for under the charter. Investigation of the recorder's records shows that the only sums diverted were $1000 appropriated as a relief to the overloaded and under-financed incinerator operated by the city.

Paulus holds that it is very questionable if the city has legal right to issue the remaining $100,000 of bonds authorized in 1927, unless a considerable amount of the moneys received go for the construction of a sewage disposal plant. He points out that the charter amendment authorizing the issuance of the bonds provides that the construction of a sewage disposal plant is one of the objects for which the bonds are improved. Paulus holds that the expenditure of all the $50,000 moneys without the erection of a sewage disposal plant is contrary to the purpose for which the bonds were authorized.

Health Unit Change Sure to be Talked

The matter of increasing the city health unit from $8000 to $8000 is sure to come up tonight. Considerable support for the change has been evidenced this week and it is a fair prediction that the increase will pass.

One of the trenchant reasons for the increase lies in the fact that the county court is virtually committed to such a change in its budget if the city council will take the lead. If both levying bodies increase their outlay from the $6000 mark to $8000 mark of a year ago, the Commonwealth fund has announced that it would put an extra $6000 during 1931 into the Salem work.

HEAR CONVENTION REPORTS

Members of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors will meet tonight noon at the "Y" for regular meeting and to hear a report of the national convention held a month ago. U. G. Dubach, dean of Oregon State college, and Harry Stone, secretary of the Portland Y. M. C. A., will make the reports.

OLD FARM PASSES AWAY

DALLAS GUARD FIVE WANT MORE GAMES

DALLAS, Dec. 17.—Dallas will be represented in basketball this year by a team of Company L, Oregon national guard. The team this year will be composed of former Dallas high players. Some of these boys are Paul Parsons, Mike Voth, Frank Kliever and Robert Le Fors. The team is managed this year by Floyd McCann of Dallas. The boys are looking for some good games both here and out of town.

The preliminaries for both out of town and home games will be played by the notorious Dallas Polecats. This team has been in action for several years but is being cut down every year by players making the high school squad. Only two former Polecats are back this year but there is a possibility of others coming back and the boys promise some good battles as preliminaries.

Any team wishing to play the Company L team should communicate as soon as possible with Floyd McCann, 202 Clay street, Dallas or phone 1233 Dallas. Teams wishing to play preliminaries for these games or at any other time can either communicate with Mr. McCann or with Eugene Morrison, 403 Clay street, Dallas or phone 1454 Dallas.

Clothing Sale Set Today for Help of Needy

Three girls, able and capable of doing trained work such as general office work and house keeping work are on the verge of being left without a roof over their head if they do not find something to do within the next few days. They are only a few of the cases which are on record at the Associated Charities headquarters and because of them and so many like them the plan was hit upon by Mrs. Mae Carson to assist these folk to make useful articles at the association headquarters. With the things made a sale would be held and the money given to the workers.

The articles have been and are being made and the first day of the sale will start Thursday at 156 North Commercial street, and 349 North Commercial street. This sale is directly the result of the project now being worked out by the Associated Charities to help always help themselves. These people do not want charity—they want honest work and this is one way to help them get it.

Man Dies, Wife Is Nearly Taken In Odd Accident

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 17.—(AP)—Thomas R. Metzel, 75, arose from a folding bed last night to get a drink of water. The wardrobe part fell sharply, instantly killing him and pinning his wife beneath so securely that she was unable to disengage herself until noon today.

The first report of the accident did not come to the attention of authorities until Mrs. Metzel called for aid. Coroner William Elliott and his assistant released the man's body.

Mrs. Metzel had been imprisoned 15 hours.

ALUMNI TOO GOOD FOR SHREEVE TEAM

DALLAS, Dec. 17.—Fighting a game battle against their former teammates the Dallas high basketball squad lost to the alumni 46 to 15 here tonight. The high school quintet held the alumni fairly even the first half and the half ended with the alumni ahead only 13 to 8.

This was the first time Coach Shreeve's boys have been in action this year and though they took a bad beating they showed plenty of fight. If the battle they put up tonight is any sign as to their future conduct the Dallas fans can expect a winning team. Shreeve is not sure now what the starting lineup will be Friday against Rickreall but he plans on taking the Rickreall boys into camp.

The preliminary game the freshmen girls won a surprising victory over the sophomores by a score of 20 to 16. The freshmen took the lead in the second quarter and kept it the rest of the game.

Espee Puts Two Added Crews at Repair Job Here

Continuing its policy of carrying on all repair and new construction work possible, in order that the Southern Pacific railway has put on two extra section crews here.

Plans call for lowering the grade on the old Cherry City mill track on Trade street, between Cottage and Church, which will convert it into an so-called team track allowing auto trucks to operate on this space. The other job is construction of a spur from the Geor main line to the engine room of the Oregon packing company at 14th and Mill streets, to permit supply of hog fuel to the carload to the packing plant.

512 Registered For Jobs up to Wednesday Night

Number of men who have registered at the county courthouse for employment under the state highway department's emergency employment program reached 512 at the close of the day yesterday.

Despite the fact that men continue to pour into the offices to register for work, only two gangs, those sent out Monday morning, have been put on the jobs. Six men will be sent out this morning, and Friday morning a crew of 25 will be sent out.

The county court, assisted by local charitable agencies, is busy now segregating the registrations, organizing them in order of need.

SCRIBES ORGANIZE

The Newspapers club, with headquarters in Portland and capital stock of $200, yesterday filed articles in the state corporation department. The incorporators are Lester Adams, Fielding Lemmon and Melvin Voorhies, Portland newspapermen.

The purpose of the club, according to the articles, is to provide a meeting place for all persons interested in the art of writing.

PARIS, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Frenchmen sighed in relief tonight when a doctor's bulletin informed the country Raymond Poincaré was winning his battle against the serious illness which yesterday caused fears for his life.

TURNER, Dec. 17.—The Oregon Grain and Flour company secured a crew of men for work as soon as the heat of the early Saturday morning fire that destroyed their mill, would admit and had all the grain that was worth handling sacked to be shipped to Portland to be ground for feed. An office and store room was opened up in the H. L. Thelissen, the local manager announces that they will be ready to do job grinding soon.

Today—Babe Daniels in "Lawful Larceny."

Friday—George O'Brien in "Last of the Duanees."

An interesting story, a plot that moves quite smoothly, rather more than the ordinary amount of tension for a love story, and with the acting of Dorothy Mackaill and Lewis Stone "The Office Wife" now playing at Bligh's Capitol makes an interesting hour of amusement.

There are wise cracks which must be shady from the amount and volume of masculine laughter that rose Wednesday afternoon aside from that they seemed innocent enough so if you are dumb you need not suffer.

Lewis Stone does finished work and most sincere. One wonders at times if he is acting or genuine bit of life that one is watching, as Stone goes through first one scene after another first with Dorothy Mackaill and then with Natalie Moorhead. Dorothy Mackaill does some superior work a bit out of her usual appearance.

This afternoon the Elsinore will open a new show "Lillom" and with it will be co-featured the Boy Scouts Jamboree at Birkenhead, England, in the recent international meeting held there.

The show at the Elsinore for today and Friday is being sponsored by the local Boy Scouts and their share of the proceeds will be used in furthering the work of the Scouts in Salem.

Both shows promise to be excellent feature pictures of an unusual character.

Reno Students In Turmoil Over Coach's Tenure

RENO, Nev., Dec. 17.—(AP)—Resignation of Coach George W. Philbrook as football mentor at the University of Nevada today had thrown the student body into threatened turmoil as members of the grid squad indicated they would demand a student body vote on a proposal to offer Philbrook a more attractive proposition.

Philbrook tendered his resignation when a committee named by Jack T. Walther, student president and center of this year's grid team, failed to agree upon offering him anything more than a one-year contract at no increase in salary.

COLORED FOUNTAIN TO PLAY ON SUNDAY

The Walter Memorial fountain, which customarily liberates in winter, saving its colored beauty for summer time, is to be pressed into use Sunday to Wednesday of next week to add its share in an illuminated Christmas for Salem.

Each evening from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. the fountain will play. Crowds are expected from the city as well as from surrounding districts to watch the display.

The use of the fountain will be only one of the means adopted by the Ad club to make Salem beautiful at Christmas time.

Already the Cherrin tree on the courthouse lawn has been decorated with many colored lights as has the Ad club tree on the statehouse grounds.

According to Edwin Thomas, secretary of the club, there were never more entries in the home-decoration contest than this year. Entries will be closed after Saturday.

Mr. Dan J. Fry, Sr., who for two years has won the grand prize by the fine decorative features at her home, has announced that she will not compete this year for an award but will nevertheless decorate her home more attractively than ever before. The Fry home is on North High street.

The city has been divided into four districts for the illumination contest and a total of eight prizes are offered in each district. The four areas are: First: north of Court and west of Capitol streets; second: north of Court and east of Capitol streets; third: south of Court and west of Twelfth street; fourth: south of Court and east of Twelfth streets.
