MONACA RULER UPSETS HOUSE

Virtual Dictatorship now Held by Louis of Little Kingdom

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Prince Louis of Monaco took things into his own hands today, dissolved both the legislative bodies of the little principality, established a temporary government which is tantamount to a dictatorship, and put an end for the time being at least to the political squabblings which have torn Monaco for months.

His move came as a surprise to the people who have assailed him bitterly for what they call his neglect of the affairs of state. His decree dissolving both the national and municipal councils — the only legislative and executive bodies Monaco has —come on the heels of a riot two days ago in which the country's 100 man army was hard put to it to win even a moral victory.

But, political observers said, the prince did not do all this on his own hook. On his last visit to Paris he conferred more than once with members of the French foreign ministry and it was generally believed that he was acting on advice from Paris.

While the political bickerings at home were going on there arose reports that Prince Louis was considering abdication. Now it is thought that his conversations with the French statesmen have put that idea out of his mind, and his dissolution of the two councils is generally regarded as a coup d'etat. He has replaced both bodies by committees of his own choice and that action, coming as it did without the announcement of a date for a new general election, was interpreted as a temporary abrogation of the constitutional right of franchise granted in 1911.

The interruption of elective representation in force for twenty years has been received with varied emotions by the population but the general sentiment seemed to be one of relief that the prince finally had decided to deal sternly with the situation.

The situation in Monaco became acute recently with the failure of a real estate company headed by the brother of Eugene Marquet, the premier. Marquet has been deposed by the prince until that mattr is cleared up. At the same time there is widespread discontent because Monte Carlo is not so prosperous as it once was and wealthy gamblers are rare visitors these days at the casino.

BOWLES REPORT IS EXPECTED SHORTLY

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Possibility the grand jury investigations of the alleged murder of Mrs. Leone C. Bowles, 33, Portland, may be nearing its close was seen here tonight in the announcement the jury would reconvene Saturday. It is customary for the grand jury to adjourn from Friday until Monday.

Nelson C. Bowles, 34, Portland millionaire, and his former secretary, Irma Loucks Paris, are charged with Mrs. Bowles' murder.

John Goltz, one of the detectives who investigated Mrs. Bowles' death, was in the grand jury room throughout today's sessions. He was the only witness seen entering the jury room today.

E. F. Slade Put On Committee to Develop Rapids

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Julius L. Meier, president of the Umatilla Rapids association, today announced the appointment of a committee to direct the organization of a statewide committee to further the interest of the project.

Members of the organization committee are A. H. Devers, H. V. Alward, B. F. Irvine, W. G. Ide, C. H. Brockhagen, George Joseph, Jr., R. J. Benjamin, all of Portland; E. F. Slade, Salem, and William Hanley, Burns.

The state-wide committee will seek united support for the McNary-Butler bill now before congress. A joint committee of the senate and house on irrigation and reclamation will open hearings on the bill January 15.

Wife Held for Murder Charge

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Dec. 26—(AP)—First degree murder charges were filed against Mrs. Lulu J. Hilsinger here today for the death Sunday night of her husband, warrant officer George H. Hilsinger, Fort Worden. Filing of charges came after a coroner's jury verdict, "that Hilsinger was killed by a pistol shot fired by his wife."

Thomas B. King of Stephenville, Tex., who was graduated from the University of Missouri 73 years ago, recently gave his alma mater a gift of $100.

In 16 years' education by mail, the University of California has grown from an original 450 students to approximately 5,000 persons.

CHURCH GETS YULE SPIRIT

Among the Salem churches which are attractively decorated and illuminated on the exterior for the holiday season is the American Lutheran building on Church street between Chemeketa and Center. The members as well as the hundreds of persons who pass that way have taken delight in the spirit the arrangement radiates.

12 CHURCHES IN 'Y' AFFAIR

Rev. Birtchet Speaker on Program; Singing is Appreciated

One of the most completely representative programs of the year was given last night by representatives of the Y. M. C. A. and the Salem churches in the regular Friday night program under the auspices of the former organization. Twelve churches and the Salvation Army had part in the program.

The chief numbers of the affair were a 10-minute address on the spirit of Christmas by Rev. Grover C. Birtchet of the First Presbyterian church and a collection under the direction of the Salvation Army following an appeal for charity by Ensign Williams.

Items on the program included congregational singing of Christmas carols, led by Rev. W. Earle Cochran, Calvary Baptist church; prayer; recitations; instrumental and vocal solos, duets, trios, choruses, readings, skits.

Those furnishing the program were, in addition to those already mentioned: Rev. Geo. H. Swift, Episcopal church; primary group, Evangelical church; Robert Brown, South Salem Friends; Court street Christian church; chorus of young people of Jason Lee Methodist church; Rev. G. W. Rutsch, German Baptist; Mrs. Carry M. Chase, Presbyterian church; male quartette, Nazarene church; Mrs. R. H. Robertson, Episcopal church; intermediate group of First Methodist church; Kenneth Abbott of First Congregational church; American Lutheran church; Rev. P. W. Ericksen, American Lutheran.

Mrs. Mary Findley Lockenour made the arrangements for the program.

Coast Cutter Winner in Race Against Death

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—(AP)—A speedy coast guard cutter today won a race with death.

Out of the fog off Ambrose light came a radio message Captain C. M. Look of the four-master Zebedee E. Cliff was critically ill aboard his ship and probably would not reach shore alive. The wireless said the schooner could not proceed in the fog.

A patrol boat nosed through the murk to her side and within an hour and a half Captain Look was in a hospital at Stapleton, Staten Island, where doctors said he had a fighting chance.

LUTHERAN COUNCIL IN FINAL MEETING

Year's Work to be Reported Upon; Council Lauded By its Pastor

The church council of Christ Lutheran church will hold its final meeting for the past year at the home of Mr. August Kehrberger, 1740 State street, December 29th at 7:30 p. m. At this meeting final reports will be heard regarding every phase of church activity and plans formulated to present to the congregation for the year 1931.

"Public recognition must be given the council for the fine fraternal, progressive, loyal spirit in which they have supported all movements for the advancement of Christ's cause in Salem," according to the pastor, Rev. Amos E. Minneman. "Likewise praise is due to the whole membership for the warm-hearted way in which they have accepted the carefully worked out program the council has presented to it from time to time. And all indications seem to point to the same loyal support of the church's program for the new year."

1000 R. R. Men To go Back Upon Full-Time Basis

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 26—(AP)—Full time employment in January for more than 1000 Oregon shop and track employes of the Southern Pacific railroad was announced today by E. L. King, Oregon division superintendent.

King said he had received word from Joseph H. Dyer, vice-president in charge of operations at San Francisco, that shop workers who had been on part time would go on full time January 5 and be assured of full time work at least to January 31. The order, he said, will affect 300 shopworkers in Portland and about 50 in Eugene. In aditidon, he said, about 800 track men would go on full time work shortly after the first of the year.

"Almost Human" Topic for Show

"Almost Human" is the name of the picture to be used at the illustrated evening service Sunday evening at the First Congregational church. It is an appealing human interest story by the late Richard Harding Davis, famous author, lecturer and World war correspondent. The first half of this picture is used in connection with the theme "America's Caste System".

WARNING AGAINST FUTURE WARS

A scene at Oslo, Norway, as Frank B. Kellogg, former United States Secretary of State, received the Nobel Peace prize for 1929. Mr. Kellogg received his check and medal in the presence of King Haakon and Crown Prince Olav of Norway, from the hands of Professor Frederick Stang, President of the Nobel committee.

HANDSAKER IS TO MAKE TALK

America's Part in Keeping Peace of World Topic; Dallas Books him

A noted speaker will be in Dallas Sunday evening at the Methodist church when J. J. Handsaker of Portland, associate secretary of the national council for the prevention of war will speak to the young people and Forum groups at 6:30 p. m. This will take the form of a round table discussion service, to which everyone is welcome.

At 7:30 p. m. Mr. Handsaker will tell "What Can be Done to Prevent Wars." The speaker has just returned from spending two months in Europe, where he attended the sessions of the League of Nations and interviewed peace leaders of London, Berlin, Vienna and other capitals. He saw the results in Switzerland of America's increased tariff rates, the rise of national sentiment in Germany indicated by the Hitlerite gains in the last election and concludes that there is a dangerous tension in Europe at the present time.

He thinks that America's action in the next few months or years may decide the issue of war or peace for the world. His study of European peace movements leads him to the belief that the dangerous situation there shown by the criticism of Briand in France and Von Hindenburg in Germany requires the prompt assurance on the part of America that she is on the side of peace.

Upon his return to the United States Mr. Handsaker attended the annual meeting of the national council for the prevention of war in Washington, D. C., where the American experts who attended the league assembly sessions discussed the European situation. He has filled many speaking engagements in New England and throughout the country. He comes to Dallas under the auspices of the Men's Brothedhood of the Methodist church. All are cordially invited to attend the services. Music will be furnished by the young people's choir, with additional features by the brotherhood.

'MODERN MAGI' IS DRAMA FOR CHURCH

Knight Memorial Group to See Production on Sunday Night

"Modern Magi," by Charles Stafford Brown, will be presented Sunday night at the Knight Memorial church, at 7:30 p. m.

The author of "Modern Magi" dramatizes a Christmas eve tragedy. A prairie farm house, a raging blizzard, the urgent need of a doctor, a snow drift, the discovery of a thief, the forgiveness of a bishop all go to make up the events of a Christmas eve.

Characters are: Jerry, a young prairie farmer, H. C. Stover; Betty, his wife, Mrs. C. C. Harris; the doctor, Dr. F. E. Brown, bishop, J. E. Allison; sheriff, Lloyd A. Pepper; train conductor, B. E. Edwards.

"Modern Magi" is produced by special arrangement with the Rev. Charles Stafford Brown, of Longmont, Colo.

Organ adaptations for the drama will be made by Donald J. Allison. Preceeding the drama a ladies trio will sing "Wonderful Story" by Wilson and "Dear Little Stranger" by Gabriel.

Baptists Plan Watchnight Fete For New Years

A watchnight service at the Baptist church corner of North Liberty and Marion streets will be held Wednesday evening beginning at 8:00 p. m. There will be a program of special music, refreshments will be served, and plans discussed for the coming year.
