Brilliant Affairs Will Usher in New Year

New Year's Eve promises to be an interesting time for both the younger collegiate set and the young married people, in fact, society, formal and informal as well, are bidding for first place in tomorrow evening's activities. The college group perhaps had their time last evening when the annual Oregon State college dance was given in Castilian hall.

A sparkling Christmas tree and Yuletide decorations formed a pretty setting for the dancers. Miss Esther Wood was general chairman for the affair and was assisted by Eleanor Wright, Louise Cook, Dorothy Moore, Martin Redding and Wesley Hise. Patrons and patronesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Mark McCallister, Miss Claudia Plank, Mr. and Mrs. James Young, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Carson and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cupper.

The subscription club will hold its annual formal New Year's Eve dance at Hazel Green this evening, at which time the younger married couples of the capital city and surrounding towns, will dance "the old year out and the new year in." Interesting favors are being planned by the committees in charge, which will be the best of the occasion. Following the dance a late supper will be served.

A number of interesting dinner parties have been planned to precede the dance, the largest of which will be the formal dinner being given by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hendricks and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cross, at the home of the latter, when they will entertain between 60 and 70 guests.

Members and friends of the Illinois Country club will celebrate New Year's Eve with their annual dance which will be held in the Illinois club house. Several informal dinners have been arranged to precede this affair which promises to be one of the gayest affairs of the evening. Special features, favors and decorations in keeping with the Yuletide season will be used to carry out the seasonal ideas.

Former College Girl Bride of Californian

Of particular interest to college folk, will be the announcement of the marriage of Miss Elsie Magnuson and James Jerry O'Donky, which took place November 26, in the First Presbyterian church of Long Beach, California.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Magnuson, of Seattle, Washington, parents of the bride, motored to California to attend the marriage services and to spend the remainder of the winter with their daughter, who resides in Long Beach. Mrs. O'Donky has been making her home in Long Beach for the past few years, as assistant manager, with her sister, Miss Hazel Magnuson who is manager of the Cafeteria school system of Long Beach. Both young ladies have a circle of friends in Salem, having attended Oregon State college and both being affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Donky will make their home in Long Beach where Mr. O'Donky is associated with a California Avocado company.

Friends of Mrs. Flora Thomas, mother of Mrs. Elmer J. Scollars, will regret to learn that Mrs. Thomas left Saturday for Portland where she is receiving rest treatment in a private sanitarium. While her condition is not serious, immediate rest seemed advisable. It is hoped Mrs. Thomas will be able to return to Salem in about two weeks.

Ruth Dirks is Bride of O. M. Engdahl

One of the loveliest holiday weddings was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the Calvary Baptist church, with the Rev. Earl Cochran reading the impressive ring ceremony, which united in marriage, Miss Ruth Mildred Dirks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dirks, and Otto M. Engdahl, son of Mrs. Emma C. Engdahl.

Proceeding the service, Mrs. Harry H. Harms sang, "Oh Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly." The wedding marches were played by Mrs. W. F. Foster.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was attractive in ivory tulle gown, trimmed with a deep lace collar, made in princess style with long, unswan hemline. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Miss Viola Lattis, the bride's only attendant, was becomingly attired in green tulle and carried an arm bouquet of carnations.

Galien Siddall attended the groom as best man. Immediately following the wedding service, Mr. and Mrs. Engdahl left on a motor trip north. The bride chose as her going away costume, a smart ensemble of black and white with harmonizing accessories. They will return to Salem to make their home where Mr. Engdahl is a contractor.

Out of town guests at the wedding were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry White, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rocks and family, W. Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Engdahl, all of Portland, and Mrs. Raymond Tins of Turner and Julius and Harold Heath of Colfax, Washington.

Miss Irene Bradford Is Complimented

A pleasing birthday dinner was held last Saturday in honor of Miss Irene Bradford with Mrs. Pearl Link and Mrs. Elizabeth Shelley as hostesses at the latter's home on North High street.

The guests wore costumes of colonial and more recent historical periods, this idea being carried out in compliment to Miss Bradford, who is a direct descendant of Governor Bradford who issued the first Thanksgiving proclamation. Adding to the historical touch was the use of several rare pieces of China which are heirlooms in the Governor Bradford family.

Besides the Christmas motif, gold and yellow were used in the decoration scheme, and the table was covered with yellow paper. Oriental boxes were used as guest favors. A toast to the honoree was read by Mrs. Elizabeth Shelley.

Guests for the Christmas holiday season at the Hal Hoss home were, Mrs. Hoss's mother, Mrs. James A. Lantz of Tillamook, and Mrs. Lantz's mother and brother, Mrs. Wynn Davidson of Oakland, California, and Art Misher, of Los Angeles, California and two sons, Earle and Carl Misher. On Saturday the California visitors, accompanied by Mrs. Hoss, motored to Tillamook, returning to Salem Sunday evening, in time for the California travelers to start on their southern journey.

The day after Christmas Mrs. McCall gave a dinner at her home in honor of her house guest, Miss Williams. Those present were, Billy Epley, Corydon Blodgett, Mrs. Edith Ross, who is attending University of Washington; Betty Alice C. Bennett, state representative of grange, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. McCall.

Leslie Can Do's Elect Officers for New Year

The Leslie Can Do class of the Leslie church were entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Pound on Liberty street Monday evening. Assisting host and hostesses were Mrs. Ward Davis, secretary, Mrs. Beatrice Donaldson, Sybil Beckett, Wallace Beckett, Milton Beckett, Mary Alderson, Grace Marie Dickens, Stewart Donaldson, Vernon Haraberg, Pauline Sloper, Milton Hartwell, Esther Callison, Sophia Hughes, Wanda Meisinger, Hessel Pyyrae and Louanna Williamson.

Dinner Compliments Miss Agnes Campbell

In compliment to Miss Agnes Campbell, director of nurses at the Marion county health unit, who is leaving for California, Miss Margaret McAlpine entertained the Leslie church members and with an informal dinner at her home Monday evening. Holiday decorations carried out the color scheme effectively, marking places for the honor guest, Miss Campbell, Miss Ruby Bratke of the Vesper, Mrs. Leatrice and Mrs. Florence Balauntz of Silverton, Miss Mary Fike and the hostess, Miss McAlpine. Following dinner the guests were entertained with a theatre party. The group was later joined by Miss Grace Taylor, Miss Elizabeth Freeman, Miss Zelta Harlan and Miss Ethel Milburn at the home of Miss Taylor for a late supper.

Beta Chi Alumnae Entertained at Party

A merry Christmas party entertained Salem alumnae of the Beta Chi sorority at the chapter house Saturday evening. Christmas greens, combined effectively with red and silver made up the color scheme for the event. During the evening the group were entertained by the exchange of "white elephant gifts" from the members. A Christmas tree, after which refreshments were served. Arrangements for the party were in charge of Miss Frances Hodges and Miss Lola Millard.

Those enjoying the evening were Mrs. Charles Nunn of Marshfield, Miss Louise Nunn, Mrs. Gaynelle Beckett, Miss June Games, Mrs. Wallace Griffith, Mrs. George K. Moorhead, Miss Loretta Fisher, Miss Florence Young, Miss Lola Millard, Miss Eva Roberts, Miss Frances Hodges and Mrs. D. J. Ryan of West Linn.

Informal Party Given at Tucker Home

Among the informal holiday events being given this week, was the party given Monday evening by Miss Dorothy Tucker, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Tucker, 255 West Wilson street. The evening was spent in bridge and dancing after which the hostess served refreshments to the following guests, Josephine Cornoyer, Daisy Varley, Alice Speck, Virginia Cross, Gladys Medler, Ralph Stearns, Dick Cooley, Win Jenks, Wayne Dougherty, Morse Stewart, Alex Volchok.

Miss Grace Elizabeth Holman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holman, as her house guest this week, Miss Elizabeth Looney of Jefferson. Both girls are freshmen at Oregon State college and both members of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority.

The Degree of Honor will hold an interesting meeting Friday evening in the Woman's club house on North Cottage street, at which time the new officers will be installed. Following the installation ceremonies, a social hour has been planned.

Silverton.—Mrs. M. G. Gunderson was hostess at a charming party at her home on East Hill Monday night. The evening was spent in games of various sorts at the close of which the hostess served lunch.

Guests included Inga Goplerud, Cora Goplerud, John Goplerud, Carroll Svare, Lucilla Forland, Olga Olson, Clifford Forland, Richard Holm, Sylvia Haere, Frances Nelson, Irene Goyette, Hazel Goyette, Ludwig Meyer, Inez Lee, Borgilott Johnson, Elsie Brendon, Evelyn Olson, Esther Tove, Paimon Torvold, Olga Oms, Herman Hovde, Vora Bear, Arden Miller, Viola Larson, Ernest Doerfler, John Doerfler, Norman Jensen, Althea Meyer.

Another interesting play is underway by the "Shikpo" society of the Salem high school, and January 9 is the date selected for this dramatic production. "It Won't Be Long Now" is the name of the play and the leads are being taken by Miss Lavone Watkins and Sylvia Travis. Miss Lella Johnson is coaching the play and some clever situations are being well developed. The full cast will be announced later.

Christmas Party Given for Music Students

The younger piano and viola students of Joy Turner Moses were entertained recently at a delightful Christmas party at the residence studio, 335 N. Capitol street.

A Christmas program was rendered by a group of the students and later games were played. The studios were gay with Christmas decorations and two lighted Christmas trees. Gifts were exchanged from the tree by Santa Claus in costume.

Refreshments in keeping with the holiday season were served at a long dining room table and car tables. A miniature Christmas tree centered the table, while bright red tapers burned at each end. Each guest received a chocolate Santa Clause as a favor.

Covers were placed for Edith Davis, Maxine Case, Betty Boyce, Arthur Boyce, Vance Smith, Evelyn Fopp, Josephine Clarendon, Ruth Walker, Marjorie Ann Bergavik, Mary Jane Barbee, Maxine Ross, Evelyn Goodenough, Maxine Goodenough, Herman Demogella, Helen Mallard, Ruth Seeley, Irene Seely, Jean Boers, Jessie Sims, Margaret Mochel, Margalo Donaldson, Beatrice Donaldson, Sybil Beckett, Wallace Beckett, Milton Beckett, Mary Alderson, Grace Marie Dickens, Stewart Donaldson, Vernon Haraberg, Pauline Sloper, Milton Hartwell, Esther Callison, Sophia Hughes, Wanda Meisinger, Hessel Pyyrae and Louanna Williamson.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Entertain Sansouci

Members of the Sansouci club were delightfully entertained Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moses with a Christmas party at their home on North Capitol street. The large brilliant Christmas tree served as the major portion of the decorations, which later was the source of individual gifts for each guest.

Cards formed the diversion of the evening's entertainment, after which supper was served at a beautifully decorated table, centered with a tiny Christmas tree. Holiday favors, in the form of miniature chocolate "Santa Claus" marked favors for Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Selgund, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dancer, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Case, Mr. and Mrs. William Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Andersen, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Propp, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moses.

Windshar, Mrs. George N. Patterson, Mrs. A. A. Mickel, Mrs. W. S. Quackenburg, Mrs. T. A. Boehring, Mrs. S. J. Gentskow, Mrs. C. Johnson, and the hostess, Mrs. Eckerlin. Mrs. J. J. Karst was awarded first prize for the afternoon's play.

Congratulations are being sent to Dr. and Mrs. Dolph Craig upon the birth of a daughter, born Monday evening at a local hospital. The little miss has been named Prudence, in compliment to her aunt, Mrs. Prudence Chapman, and great-aunt, Miss Prudence Patterson of The Dalles. This is the Craig's second child, the first being a son, Robert, fourteen months of age.

Another interesting play is underway by the "Shikpo" society of the Salem high school, and January 9 is the date selected for this dramatic production. "It Won't Be Long Now" is the name of the play and the leads are being taken by Miss Lavone Watkins and Sylvia Travis. Miss Lella Johnson is coaching the play and some clever situations are being well developed. The full cast will be announced later.

Bishops Entertain For Holiday Guests

One of the loveliest informal affairs of the holiday season was the dinner Monday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Bishop in their home on Court street, honoring their house guests and a group of former Brownsville residents now living in Salem. House guests at the Bishop home for the Christmas holidays are Mrs. Clara Bishop Starr of Brownsville, Miss Elizabeth Jane Bishop and Miss Rasmussen of Portland.

An informal evening with the group singing old time ballads, added to the pleasure of the guests. Mrs. Addie Curtis gave a reading appropriate to the season. The evening was well used artistically about the rooms formed a festive background for the party.

Guests sharing Mr. and Mrs. Bishop's hospitality included Chief Justice O. P. Coakley, Mrs. J. A. Bishop, Mrs. W. Earle Cochran, Miss Lois Cochran, Miss Eva Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Golden Wedding Celebrated by Stayton Couple

Stayton.—Hon. W. H. Hobson and wife, one of the best known couples in Marion county, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They were married on December 12, 1880, in the house they now occupy, and all of that year or more ago have lived in this same house. The wedding ceremony was performed by Judge Geo. Powell, an old time resident long since dead and there is no one alive now who was present at the ceremony except Mr. and Mrs. Hobson. Mrs. Hobson was Anna Thomas.

Mr. Hobson was the first storekeeper in Stayton, starting a store in 1871 and he conducted a store here until about ten years ago. In an early day Hobson and Ulrich Whitney who passed away a year or more ago, were associated in business. These partners, Hobson and Whitney, built a grist mill in 1875. They also had a packing house, where pork was packed. The mill, head and pigs feet were thrown or given away.

In 1895 Mr. Hobson was elected senator from Marion county. Four years later he was joint senator from Linn and Marion counties. Both men who were governors at the time, Lord and Hobson, were elected together and there are only one or two members of the senate who are still alive.

Mr. Hobson is the only man living inside the city limits who was living here when the town was laid out in 1871. His wife, Anna Stayton is the only woman who was living here then who is living here now. When the town was laid out John Gridley did the surveying, and Hobson and Drury S. Stayton carried the chains. They laid out six blocks, and named the town Florence, after Stayton's daughter. Later when the postoffice was established word was received from the postal department that there already was a town in Oregon by the name of Florence, so the town was called Stayton.

Drury S. Stayton was the grandfather of Charles and Clifford Stayton of this city. During Mr. Hobson's store-keeping days he did business with one generation of the Stayton family.

The Christian church was the first church to be built, and Hobson and Whitney, prominent merchants, neither of whom were members, were asked for donations. They gave the church $100. Later the Baptists wanted to build a church and the merchants were again asked to help. As they owned considerable land in town they told the promoters that if they would give up the land for a meeting place for the Masonic lodge, which at that time had no regular place to meet, they would give them a block of ground. This the Baptists readily agreed to do, and it was so recorded in the deed. Later Mr. Hobson laid the corner stone for the Methodist church under the auspices of Masonry.

Mr. Hobson is past grand master of the Masonic grand lodge of Oregon and has been nearly every office in both Masonic and I. O. O. F. lodges. Is a member of Royal Arch, Knight Templar and Scottish Rite, and has offices in these orders also. Mr. Hobson has been clerk of the Stayton school district for the past eight years.

Mrs. Hobson, too, has taken active part all these years, in both the Eastern Star and Rebekah lodges. She has always been an ardent worker in church and Sunday school. There is no one who has given so freely of their time in helping the Ladies' Aid society with their work, or in helping the sick or needy.

Two children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hobson. Their daughter, Alta, passed away about eight years ago. Dr. Everett H. Hobson of Salem is their son. The Hobsons have many, many friends throughout the state of Oregon who will congratulate them on their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Birthday Anniversary Motive for Gay Party

In compliment to the birthday anniversary Monday of Mr. Louis Lachmund, Mrs. Lachmund entertained with an attractive dinner party for a group of Mr. Lachmund's intimate friends. This affair being an annual affair for the honor guest.

Polinettas, and green tapers in silver candleabra, made the effective centerpiece for the dining table, where covers were placed for the honor guest, Judge John H. McNary, Mayor T. A. Livesley, Dr. W. B. Morse, Ross Wood, William Phillips, William S. Walton and James Linn, all of Salem, and Harry L. Hart and Kola Neta of Portland and E. B. Kirkpatrick of Dallas.

In compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Comyn Tracy, just recently married, Mr. Tracy's parents entertained with a lovely Christmas dinner in their home. Covers were placed for the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Comyn Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tracy, E. A. McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Longworth, Mrs. Eveline Dorly, Clark Longworth and Mrs. Almo Denby, all of Portland, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy.

The interesting feature of the dinner was the use of the remarkable linen which served at the wedding supper of Comyn Tracy's parents, thirty-five years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Comyn C. Tracy will be at home to their friends later January on the Tracy farm southeast of Turner.

Mrs. McCall has as her guest her cousin, Miss Maude Annette Williams of Roseburg. Miss Williams came Christmas eve and will return home the last of the week. Mr. and Mrs. McCall and Miss Williams had Christmas dinner at the house of Dr. and Mrs. Corrydon Blodgett and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Epley.

Howe will be accompanied by her brother Carroll Howe, who has also been a guest at the Walter Kirk home.

Tea For Younger Set Event of Today

Probably the outstanding social affair of the holiday season among the younger maids of the city will be the formal tea being given New Year's afternoon from 4-6 o'clock by Miss Julia Johnson and Miss Josephine Cornoyer, at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cornoyer on North Summer street.

Miss Roberta Mills and Miss Kathleen Fitzpatrick will pour during the first hour, while Miss Dorothy Moore and Margaret Heltzel will preside during the second hour.

Assisting in the dining room will be Misses Alice Speck, Mary Kafury, Esther Gibbard and Betty Bonnell, while those serving and assisting about the dining room will be the Misses Virginia Cross and Betty Smith.

The guests will be greeted at the door by little Sarah Ann Ohling and Sybil Spears. Christmas decorations of holly, greens and mistletoe will be used profusely about the spacious rooms of the Cornoyer home, while the dining table will be beautifully adorned with candleabra, red tapers and a lovely centerpiece of red frothorn.

Invitations have been issued to about 60 guests including high school and college girls which will call during the tea hours.

Ralph Campbells Hosts for Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Campbell were interesting hosts Tuesday evening in their home on Chemeke street, when they entertained six tables of bridge. Christmas appointments, carried out the Yuletide spirit and formed artistic decorations for the event. Guests at the campbell home included, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bock of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kane of San Francisco, California, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Braun, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olson, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Red, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Armstrong. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Fred Bock and Mrs. Edwin Armstrong.

The regular meeting of the grange will be held Friday evening in the Brush College school house. Installation of officers will be the main point of interest on the program. Mrs. McCall, state lecturer of the grange, will install. The gentlemen will put on the program and dinner which will be served at 6:30.
