Farm at Clatskanie Stripped During Owner's Absence

WACONDA, Jan. 6. - Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thurmon recently made the trip by motor from their home at Forest Grove to their place at Clatskanie where about one hundred acres of bottom land is planted to peppermint.

The house on this farm which the season of cultivating and harvesting is vacant at this time of year. When Mr. and Mrs. Thurmon arrived they found that thieves had entered a short time before, and ransacked the place, taking with them foodstuffs and farm equipment which cannot be ed for less than two hundred dollars.

When Mrs. Thurmon who always looks on "the bright side" wrote home about this she did so poetically. Her letter follows. Dear ones at home:

Poor Mother Thurmon went to the cupboard To get her poor husband a meal. But when she got there-She found it stripped bare,

Spices all gone, sugar and fruit, Butter and beans-Even to seeds, Crackers and lard, Coffee and mush. Not anything left-O such muss. The bedding's all here, also the clothes Tables and chairs, lamps and stoves. Radio fine, just eats I believe Was all they needed their wants to relieve.

Two barrels of distilate, all of the Hoes and some tools (O, how we boil!)

No, they couldn't eat those, I guess I was wrong, But they took all the eats, And it didn't take long. The floors they didn't want Or the table cloths neither, But sure a big loss And it can't be helped either.

New Officers Installed at crate. Impressive Ceremony Recently

BRUSH COLLEGE, Jan. 6. -The public installation of officers of the Brush College grange at their last meeting, January 2 was well attended by members and guests.

Egg prices were unchanged but the mark ruled barely steady with receipts more than ample for the light demand. Of the fresh fruit and vegetable trade, government market news service reported:

The new years activity in apple distribution has largely subsided, with retailers' stocks mostly wellfilled, and movement to retailers largely confined to the cheaper Mediums ungraded sorts. There is apparently an inexhaustible supply of face-and filled, and cooker packs throughout the northwest; and this class of stock promises to dominate the local apple markets for some weeks to come. There is now a limited trading in wrapped and packed winesaps and yellow Newtowns, although volume distribution of these varieties is not anticipated before February. Foreign inquiry has been comparatively quiet since new years.
