Refusal to Return Nominations of Power men is Held Pro-Utility

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—(AP)—Taking notice of reports, President Hoover would reject a request from the senate to return the nominations of three of the new power commissioners, Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, asserted in the senate today, such a refusal would justify the charge "great power interests are running his administration."

Administration senators, defending such a possible course if the senate passes the motion pending, declared the senate had no authority to take such action and the president would not have the right to comply with it.

Wheeler denounced the commissioners for dismissing solicitor Charles A. Russell and Chief Accountant William T. King. His speech during all day debate on the motion of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, to reconsider the nominations of Chairman Smith and Commissioners Draper and Garand.

Wheeler charged they were dismissed because "the great power interests wanted them to be" because of successful efforts to cut down the valuations asked by the power companies.

Senator Bratton, democrat, New Mexico, joined the forces seeking to recall the nominations. Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who already announced his position asserted that Theodore Roosevelt had been in the White House the three commissioners would have been fired "immediately for dismissing Russell and King."

Wheeler said he did not believe the president would stand behind the technicalities by refusing to return the nominations. "If the president stands behind that technically the charge will be made, and justly in my opinion, that the great power interests not only contributed to his campaign but are running his administration."

"Russell and King could have got along on the commission provided they had been subservient to the great power interests."

INTERNATIONAL WEEK IS SUCCESS AT UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Closer relationship between American and foreign students was brought about at the University of Oregon during International week, held December 1-7. Forum discussion groups were held in all living organizations, foreign students were guests of their fellow American students at a banquet, a talk on internationalism was delivered by Dr. G. B. Noble of Reed college, and by Dr. Roy Akagi, prominent Japanese author. On the directorate in charge of the affair were, from left to right: Charles Gillespie, Eugene; Minnie Holzer, Portland; Calvin Bryna, Grants Pass, general chairman; Michael Holmwood, Eugene; Merrill Blinn, Eugene; Elizabeth Scroggs, Portland; Kenneth Fitzgerald, Portland; Louise Webber, Portland; Alice Lyle, Elsie Falls; E. A. Spenser, Portland; James Hicks, Portland; Alice Redetzke, Portland; Isabelle Crowell, Portland; George Root, Portland; Jean Cox, Portland; and Rev. Walter Meyers, Eugene.

rimony exercised in such a way that the act is deliberately frustrated in its natural power, he said, "is an offense against the law of God and nature and those who indulge in such are branded with the guilt of a grave sin."

"Companionate" marriage came in for an equally vigorous denunciation.

Marriages of such a nature, are often defended as a necessity of "modern" culture, he declared. He gave as the church's dictum that they did not partake of such culture but were "simply hateful abominations which beyond all question simply reduce our truly cultured natures to the barbarous standards of savage people."

The modern view, the pope declared, must not carry the doctrine of obedience to her husband to the point of sacrificing her wifely dignity.

"This is not," he said, "true emancipation of woman. It is rather the debasement of the womanly character and the dignity motherhood."

Saints and Bible Called To Substantiate Pope's View

Divorce he utterly condemned and he called on the pronouncements of the saints and the Bible itself to show that once entered into conjugal fidelity and union must persist until death separates the partners.

"The laws of marriage are of God," he affirmed. "These laws cannot be subject to any human decrees or to any contrary pact, even of the spouses themselves," the encyclical enjoined.

The pontiff urged the education of youth for marriage but condemned too much "physiological" education.

The encyclical took on the nature of a sociological doctrine in its reference to the duty of the state to assist married couples in straitening circumstances.

"Their necessities must be relieved as far as possible," the pope said.

State Must Help To Provide Family With Funds

Then, adopting the principles of Pope Leo XIII's "rerum novarum" encyclical, he laid down the doctrine that "in the state such social and economic methods should be set up as will enable every head of family to earn as much as, according to his station in life, is necessary for himself, his wife and for rearing his children."

Persons contemplating matrimony, he said, should of course strive to dispose of, or at least diminish, the material obstacles in their way, but, "provision must be made also, in the case of those who are not self-supporting, for joint aid by public or private guilds."

"The Spell Of The Circus," is an all talking serial and it is the name of our new serial. We have had every kind of a serial but never a circus one and we have also had many mysteries in our serials but never one that has so many as this. It has the thrills of a real circus combined with mystery and romance.

M.M.C.

He is only eight years old but he had enough sense to know how to baudege a boy's arm when it was broken, and that is what he did when his playmate fell down and broke his arm. So on the Honor Roll for eight year old Burton Ireland. Even though his name sounds it he's not Irish.

M.M.C.

Why not hand in a yell and have it yelled at the club meetings. Honorable mention goes to Alice Ann Wirtz for handing one in.

provision that it contain a clause that the appointed person should be a member of the political faith of the one who had been elected.

The meeting was a harmonious one, the best of feeling being evidenced among the members. No further meetings will be held unless it be for consideration of legislation affecting this county.

While the meeting was called as a secret meeting, word of its being held became circulated. Thursday. Members were reticent about discussing their action but the above report is regarded as dependable.

Qualifications of all men carefully checked over.

The delegation went very carefully over the whole list of persons who had been mentioned, discussing their qualifications and endeavoring to come to general agreement without discord. The house members deferred to Senator Brown in the matter of the recommendation for his colleague.

Mrs. W. Carlton Smith who is widely known in Salem and the valley has long been active in Salem affairs, civic and social.

GOOD FOOD TO BE HAD FOR LITTLE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—(AP)—A food guide calculated to furnish the maximum of health and energy from a minimum expenditure was made public today by the bureau of home economics.

The plan was prepared at the request of the president's employment committee to help families with low incomes and was outlined particularly with a view to prevention of mal-nutrition.

Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, chairman of the woman's division of the committee, emphasized "our food standards must not be lowered or adults will suffer and the children may be handicapped for life."

The recommendations include: For every meal, milk for children, bread for all.

For every day, cereals in porridges or puddings, potatoes, tomatoes or oranges for children; a green or yellow vegetable; a fruit or additional vegetable.

For two to four times a week, tomatoes for all; dried beans and peas or peanuts; eggs, especially for children, lean meat, fish or poultry or cheese.

Where fresh milk costs more than 10 to 12 cents a quart, the committee suggested unswetened canned milk or dry skimmed milk be substituted for the great part of the milk allowance.

The housewife was cautioned to adapt her menu to local prices. In regard to meat it was pointed out there are many inexpensive cuts.

to conference unless the republican and democratic forces agree that the food provision apply to both urban and rural districts.

He introduced a resolution today to appropriate $30,000,000 to be turned to the American Red Cross to feed the unemployed throughout the country.

Similarly a measure to appropriate $15,000,000 was introduced by Representative Fish, republican, New York, who also submitted a resolution to have the farm bonded turn over to its possession over to the Red Cross.

Objecting for the third time to a move by Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee to send the drought measure to conference, LaGuardia said it would be "impossible to explain to the American people why food should be distributed to certain sections of the country, utterly disregarding the needs in other sections, particularly in the cities."

Wood said he was opposed to the food provision for any section of the country as a matter of principle. He added the England, Ark., food disturbance was staged "for the purpose of creating consternation and a confusion and trouble all over the country and declared the Arkansas governor had repudiated the whole thing."

At that point Representative Parks, democrat, Arkansas, leaped to his feet and shouted that the people participating in the Arkansas incident "never heard of a radical organization in their lives."

Parks read a telegram from Governor Parrott of Arkansas and more than a score of others from prominent Arkansas people urging relief and telling of pitiful conditions in the drought areas.

"I hasten to correct any impression that Arkansas does not need assistance, regardless of what the eastern papers may say," Parrott's telegram read. "Am strong for the Caraway amendment and hope that it will pass by big majority."

JONES LAW UNDER SOME MODIFICATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—(AP)—Congress passed the Stobbs bill to modify the Jones "5 and 10" dry law today and that was about the sum total of agreement on Capitol Hill.

The $15,000,000 loan for human food was virtually in the same position in the house that it occupied yesterday. The senate spent most of its time arguing over the proper reconsideration of Commissioners Smith, Garand and Draper of the power commission.

Concerned with the small-like progress of legislation in the senate, McNary of Oregon, informed his colleagues he was prepared to ask for night sessions three days a week beginning Monday.

Muscle Shoals is out of conference but its troubles are not yet over. It may pass the house but even then it faces the possibility of a presidential veto.

Congress, feeling it has enough trouble on its hands, has made an effort to delay submission of the much discussed prohibition report of the law enforcement commission. The attempt failed. The commission is understood to be ready to tell the president the result of its dry law studies and he is expected to transmit the report to congress.

the Lady Rolph. The materials requested are used in patching plane fabric.

Five of Army's Best Were in Question Mark

The Question Mark, the army's contribution to endurance flying, set the first refueling mark here just two years ago. It was aloft a little more than 150 hours. The Question Mark carried a crew of five of the army's best fliers and was powered by three motors.

Under a sodden sky the Lady Rolph was refueled at twilight for the 19th time since its takeoff at 3:30 p. m., Sunday. With its tanks full the plane was prepared to fly through a dreary night.

The return of the plane to its base eased the tenacity evident last night while it circled the Imperial valley airport 150 miles away. In case of trouble the girls can coast the plane to a landing at the municipal airport with a new women's record clinched. They exceeded the old 42-hour mark on Tuesday, but had they been forced down elsewhere the flight would have come to naught.

Poor flying weather, present more than half the time since the takeoff, has had its effect on the fliers' spirits. Apparently they have given up all hope of challenging the men's 645-hour record, but are determined to reach the absolute limit of their plane's 175-horsepower motor.

PERU PRESIDENT HELD LOOTER OF STATE'S COFFERS

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 8—(AP)—Augusto B. Leguia, deposed president of Peru, and his three sons must pay into the treasury $5,000,000, approximately $7,325,000 as reimbursement for alleged improper transactions during the 11 years of the Leguia regime.

The national sanctions court today announced sentence on the former president and his three sons, Augustus, Juan and Jose, following a three-months investigation.

Two of the judges in an additional opinion estimated that the Leguia's owed the country $5,000,000, or about $15,250,000.

MILES' SON DIES IN ELEVATOR ACCIDENT

Salem friends of Branson Miles, 29, son of the late Don Miles, Salem attorney who died last spring, learned he was accidentally killed in a fall down an elevator shaft at a home hotel in San Francisco, word received here yesterday.

Young Miles' absence of two days from his place of employment led to notification of the police and investigation, which resulted in his body being discovered in the elevator pit of the hotel. He was night clerk and had been working there since early in 1929.

Since word of his death, sent under date of January 4, was to the effect the body had been found that morning, it is supposed death actually occurred last Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Nothing was said regarding funeral arrangements. It is believed the remains will be buried in California.

Besides his mother he is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Miles, formerly of Salem but now living in Portland, where Mr. Miles is seriously ill at a hospital. Mrs. Miles went to Portland to be near her husband.

DAUGHTER GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE MOTHER'S LIFE

PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 8—(AP)—A girl recovering from infantile paralysis today gave a pint of her blood to save the life of an expectant mother suffering from the same disease.

The girl is Miss Patty Baker, 19, Stanford university co-ed, who has been in the Palo Alto hospital for the past three months. The expectant mother is Mrs. A. Tucker, who was discovered today to be suffering from the disease.

Doctors recommended an antitoxin injection, and Miss Baker's offer of a pint of blood was accepted. Dr. Harold Beaver, who made the transfusion, pointed out the girl's blood was an antitoxin as her blood had been built up to resist infantile paralysis.

THE CALL BOARD
You will enjoy "Dancing Sweeties" now at the Warner's Elsinore, if you see it as I saw it Thursday afternoon. It is the story of two modern youths of the great middle class, each of them misunderstood at home, where their money, if they make any, is more acceptable than their presence, who meet in a public dance contest and fall in love. A furnished flat is being offered to any couple who will get married as part of the festivities in the dance hall the night of the contest. Circumstances work so that there two young things, Sue Carrol and Grant Withers, are the ones to be married.

Some trouble follows and all in all the whole thing is quite human and not too far outside the keen of actuality. In addition to that it is well acted and not badly photographed.

demonstrators today left a conference with the chief executive. They threatened that "unless our program or relief is approved the unemployed workers will take matters into their own hands."

The program demanded by the demonstrators yesterday included immediate appropriation of $26,000,000 for relief of unemployment. Gov. Olson in conference with the delegation today turned the demands "unreasonable."

items are $28,139 for a tuberculosis ward and shed at the Oregon state hospital in Salem, $53,500 for building and furnishing a dormitory at the state home for the feeble minded in Salem, $20,199 for additions to the supreme court library, and $50,000 to aid in the construction of a training school building at the Eastern Oregon Normal school at LaGrande. The latter appropriation is contingent upon the LaGrande school district providing $80,000 for the same purpose. The capital outlays approved by the governor aggregate approximately $493,729.

Capital outlays recommended for the years 1929 and 1930 aggregated $422,948.

Comparing the various requirements for the years 1931 and 1932 with the amounts provided for the previous biennium, it was found that the increases occur chiefly at the state custodial institutions. Requirements at the state tuberculosis institutions at Salem and The Dalles for the biennium 1931 and 1932 total $120,812, as compared with $85,993 for the previous biennium. At the eastern Oregon state hospital the increase for improvements totals approximately $246,595. At the state penitentiary the increase, exclusive of the deficiency of $245,000 authorized for the purchase of floor straw and $53,000 for the construction of a cell block, totals $71,754.

SKIPWORTH ORDERS PROBE AT CORVALLIS

CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 8—(AP)—Gang rule and bootlegging activities, as revealed in testimony in the William Henderson murder trial here this week, are intolerable, declared Circuit Judge J. F. Skipworth here today. He ordered a special grand jury drawn to investigate the situation.

Judge Skipworth delivered a sharp rebuke to peace officers and attorneys immediately following the announcement. Henderson had been convicted of manslaughter for the shooting of E. B. Mills here last November. He said he was amazed such conditions were allowed to develop here in the very shadows of a great educational institution.

Judge Skipworth ordered the grand jury drawn immediately. The investigation will begin next Wednesday.

Several of the state's witnesses in Henderson's trial admitted knowledge of liquor "deals" hi-jacking operations and gambling.

"Russell and King could have got along on the commission provided they had been subservient to the great power interests."

WHEELER HITS AT PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—(AP)—Taking notice of reports, President Hoover would reject a request from the senate to return the nominations of three of the new power commissioners, Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, asserted in the senate today, such a refusal would justify the charge "great power interests are running his administration."

Administration senators, defending such a possible course if the senate passes the motion pending, declared the senate had no authority to take such action and the president would not have the right to comply with it.

Wheeler denounced the commissioners for dismissing solicitor Charles A. Russell and Chief Accountant William T. King. His speech during all day debate on the motion of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, to reconsider the nominations of Chairman Smith and Commissioners Draper and Garand.

Wheeler charged they were dismissed because "the great power interests wanted them to be" because of successful efforts to cut down the valuations asked by the power companies.

As debate swept on, leaders virtually gave up hope of a vote before Monday.

Senator Bratton, democrat, New Mexico, joined the forces seeking to recall the nominations. Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who already announced his position asserted that Theodore Roosevelt had been in the White House the three commissioners would have been fired "immediately for dismissing Russell and King."

Wheeler said he did not believe the president would stand behind the technicalities by refusing to return the nominations. "If the president stands behind that technically the charge will be made, and justly in my opinion, that the great power interests not only contributed to his campaign but are running his administration."

"Russell and King could have got along on the commission provided they had been subservient to the great power interests."
