

LUMBER TREND IS IMPROVING

Orders Exceed Output in Northwest Mills, Show Notable Increase

SEATTLE, Jan. 16.—A total of 843 mills reporting to the West Coast Lumbermen's association for the week ending January 10 operated at 33.58 per cent of capacity, as compared to 25.73 per cent of capacity for the same week last year and an average of 40 per cent during the last three months of 1930. During the preceding week in which was New Year's day, these mills operated at 22.84 per cent of capacity.

Current new business reported by 224 identical mills was 21.33 per cent over production and shipments were 4.74 per cent over. During the past week orders in the mill trade increased about 900,000 feet, lumber cargo orders increased about 16,000,000 feet, export increased about 3,500,000 feet, while local dropped about 2,000,000 feet when compared with the week previous. Unfilled orders increased about 5,000,000 feet during the week.

During the past six weeks orders have averaged 13.94 per cent over production, due to the low levels of cutting and fairly regular although low volume buying.

Production at 224 identical mills totaled 86,352,931 feet; orders were 104,776,699 feet; and shipments 90,455,155 feet. Orders increased about 26,000,000 feet, shipments stayed approximately the same as the preceding week at these same mills and production increased about 26,000,000 feet over the previous week.

LAKEVIEW TO BURNS ROAD TO BE GRADED

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Grading of a 91-mile connection between Lakeview and Burns in eastern Oregon at a cost of $195,000 was approved today by the state highway commission. Work probably will begin in April, the commission said.

The work will be paid for out of the $195,000 federal road funds made available under the Oddie-Colton bill. W. H. Lynch, divisional engineer for the bureau of public roads, said the sum approved by the commission would virtually complete grading of the road.

The remaining $10,000 of the federal funds, the commission decided, is to be used for a survey of a proposed shortcut between the two points. The Lynch-Madras on the Dalles-California highway.

A bulky report covering six possible short cuts from Portland to the sea was submitted to the commission by the state engineer's department. The commission did not make public the report.

Lynch urged the commission to take immediate action on the proposed Wallulu cut-off. The road would run along the Columbia river from Umatilla to the Oregon-Washington line to connect with Washington highway. The cut-off would shorten the distance between Spokane, Walla Walla and lower Columbia river points.

Action was postponed for another month until Chairman Van Duser returns from a business trip to California.

COURT IN HUDDLE WITH MOTT AGAIN

Sooner or later, Mott feels, this Oliver Twist of Marion county's road system, must ask the county highway commission for a decidedly larger helping than it has to date received.

The court got busy yesterday seeking to straighten out the situation. It proposed to get in touch with the state highway commission and to have it confirm in writing, the oral agreement made at the Portland meeting when the $100,000 forest road funds were agreed upon. Chairman Van Duser could not be reached as he is in California.

When the court can get its situation down in black and white, it expects to present Mr. Mott with a letter, urging him not to seek the inclusion of the North Santiam on the state highway map and affording him a complete reason for any carrying out his pre-election promises.

Mott would not say last night that even with this written request from the court in his hands, he would desist in his legislative desire to write North Santiam highway on the new map. He said his first move when the court's letter was received would be to consult the county delegation and to see what its wishes would be.

The entire question appears to be one of procedure alone, since the court, Mott and the entire delegation all want the North Santiam highway. In other words, the question is the old one of the best way to skin a cat; and the court and Representative Mott have each elected a different procedure.

Witty Cox Now Leading Golden In Pro Tourney

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Wilfred H. (Witty) Cox, good natured Brooklyn professional, leaped into the lead of the $25,000 Agua Caliente open golf tournament by unloosing a sensational 69 on the classy field for a three-round total of 213.

The straight shooting and sure putting Witty was in the last threesomes to leave the first tee, but he dislodged the serene John Golden from the temporary throne when he covered the first nine holes in 24, where par is 26. He needed a par four at the home hole for a 68 which would have given him a two stroke advantage. However, he pushed his brassie a bit and failed to reach the green in two, getting down in five.

Rate Reduction On Gas Service Effective Here

Rate reductions of the Portland Gas & Coke company, affecting Salem, Eugene, Albany and a number of smaller towns and communities in the Willamette valley, will become effective Friday, according to announcement made by the public service commission. The rate reductions apply particularly to gas used for cooking and heating. The reductions average approximately 10 per cent.

Legislative Sidelights

Oregon's 36th Legislative Session Brings Interesting Personages to Salem

THE state capitol was leader than dead yesterday with but very few senators and legislators to be seen. Most of them had scattered for their homes, to gain a breathing spell before the real rush begins next week. Ordinary statehouse activities seem greatly curtailed during the session. Departments are especially reluctant to release news, feeling the least said the better when the legislative switch is so near at hand and might be used.

Governor Meier trekked off for Portland Friday and announced he would not be back until the first of the week. He expects to attend to some business matters and he will presumably consult with Colonel Clark regarding the utility legislation which is likely to be introduced Monday.

Linn county is exceedingly proud of Senator Marks as president of the senate, not alone because the senator is popular in his own county, but because he is the first Linn county man to preside over either house in 55 years.

He is the fifth to hold this honor from Linn county. In and just before the early days of statehood, two other Linn county men presided over the senate and two were presidents of the house. Luther Elkins and Charles Drain were in charge of the senate at different sessions while Delason Smith and J. K. Weatherford served as speakers of the house. Weatherford served during the ninth regular session, from September 11, 1876 to October 20, 1876. His grandson now sits as a member of the 36th session.

Newspapers were filed high on representatives and senators' desks yesterday awaiting the return of their eager readers. The house provides an allowance sufficient to let each member subscribe for seven papers during the session while the senate allows each man to subscribe to five. The delegates are just as anxious to know what the newspapers are saying about them as are the folks at home. The papers also provide convenient amusement during a boring speech.

CROWD IN PANIC AS CHICAGO GUNS FIRE

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Machine gun bullets splattered windows and stove fronts of the Howard street business section today, injuring two women and sending shoppers in a panicky rush for cover. The intended victim, recognizing his attackers as they cruised by in a green sedan, fled to safety down an alley.

Their quarry was a dark young man about 30. He had been loitering for an hour near the entrance of the North Shore theater when the automobile approached, halted suddenly; a door opened and a deadly hail of lead spat forth.

Detectives offered a guess that gang executioners had sought the life of "Monkey Face Charlie" Genker, pal of the slain Jack Zuta. Their only clues were the descriptions of the fugitive, the package of kosher meat he dropped as he ran, and the gray felt hat he wore. It had been purchased in "The Hart-Albin Store," Billings, Mont.

A row of parked automobiles probably saved the lives of diners in a restaurant nearby. One bullet pierced the wrist of Mrs. Alma Moore, who was standing at the door of a candy shop. Splinters of glass injured a woman inside the store. Witnesses counted 73 bullet holes in the windows and body of one car and 55 in another.

This picture is released by a German company and for that reason it is silent, except for the announcing done by Graham McNamee.

The story begins in the Alps on the mountain, Pitz Palu. A man and his bride are on their honeymoon and intend to climb the terrible "North Wall." They are talking of a doctor who had, some years before, lost his bride while trying to climb the mountain, when the doctor himself comes in. This doctor is known as the Ghost of the Mountain, and his appearance is almost specter-like when he enters without a word. In the course of events the three become well acquainted.

On day they set out to climb the mountain. As they are about half way up the doctor breaks his leg in saving the young groom from a fall. As a result of this the three are trapped on the mountain without any means of rescue. On the second day of their horrible imprisonment two of them are rescued by the villagers with the help of an aviator. The rescue is a most exciting and thrilling episode, quite beyond words to describe.

THE GRAND
Today—Irene Dunne, Ken Murray in "Leather-Necking."

WARNER'S CAPITOL
Today—Gustav Diesel in "White Hell of Pitz Palu." The "White Hell of Pitz Palu" is one of the most intensely gripping pictures that has been here since "All Quiet on the Western Front." The dramatic element is highly intensified as you see the three climbers braving the dangers of the "North Wall," the most dangerous part of the mountain.

This picture is released by a German company and for that reason it is silent, except for the announcing done by Graham McNamee.

The story begins in the Alps on the mountain, Pitz Palu. A man and his bride are on their honeymoon and intend to climb the terrible "North Wall." They are talking of a doctor who had, some years before, lost his bride while trying to climb the mountain, when the doctor himself comes in. This doctor is known as the Ghost of the Mountain, and his appearance is almost specter-like when he enters without a word. In the course of events the three become well acquainted.

On day they set out to climb the mountain. As they are about half way up the doctor breaks his leg in saving the young groom from a fall. As a result of this the three are trapped on the mountain without any means of rescue. On the second day of their horrible imprisonment two of them are rescued by the villagers with
