

Salem High Noses Out Overtime Victory Over Tillamook

CHEESEMAKERS PROVE STRONG

Red and Black Wins 30 to 27 When Siegmund and Foreman hit Hoop

By JAMES NUTTER
Although Salem high has had an easy time of it in the last few games played, it took an overtime period to beat Tillamook 30 to 27 in a game played here Saturday night.

The usual playing time ended 27 to 27 and in the three minute overtime period, Siegmund converted a free throw and Foreman made a crumple to beat Salem. Far from displaying good shooting, Salem high looked poor in that department, and in the heat of the game, fumbles were not uncommon. Siegmund had the tip-off giving the ball to the red and black most of the time from the center circle. None of the tip-off plays were worked. Sanford accounted for most of the points in the first quarter when Salem looked its best. At the end of the first period the score stood 13 to 6 in favor of Salem.

Although Kitchin did not start the game, he went in during the second quarter. Bona had a slump and Siegmund appeared nervous and fumbled a number of Kitchin's passes. None of the players were hitting the basket consistently, while the Cheesemakers dropped in long shots and shots from the corners at regular intervals. The score at half time was 18 to 13 in favor of Salem.

The Cheesemakers came back the second half with fight and determination which was matched by the red and black, but the boys from the coast were able to hit the basket better. Close checking marked the second half and the ball traveled fast. A flock of fouls were made toward the close of the game, but few of the attempts were converted. Nonchalant Mahan

Consistent Shot
By the middle of the fourth quarter, Tillamook tied the score, led by Mahan who scored 15 points during the game. As the score reached a tie at 26 all, the crowd became excited and it was difficult to discern the sound of the referee's whistle. Siegmund put Salem ahead by one point when he made a foul try good, Sanford and a Tillamook man both missed chances to score on a double foul. Schoppert then converted a foul try for Tillamook bringing the score to 27 to 27. Sanford who is usually strong on foul shooting, missed two attempts as the game ended.

At the start of the overtime period Mahan fouled Siegmund and had to leave the game as it was his fourth foul. Siegmund converted the try, making the score 28 to 27 in favor of the red and black. On another double foul, both Kitchin and Bunn failed to convert attempts. Immediately following that both sides blew crumples, Huntington's men then took their easy foul, and were in no hurry to go in and lose the ball. The break came soon however and Kitchin managed to intercept a Tillamook pass and snap the ball down to Foreman who made a goal with all five Tillamook men caught up the floor.

Sanford was high scorer for Salem with seven points and Mahan with 15 was high scorer of the game. The Tillamook players handled the ball well and played consistent ball.

Son of Great Mathewson Knows His Tail Spins, if Not His Sinkers Inside

By LEONA HICKOK
MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Jan. 17—(AP)—Like father, in this case not like son, the most skillful student pitcher in the department of commerce examiner has witnessed in some time.

"I'm not much of an athlete, I guess, young Christy said today. 'I play a little golf and a little baseball. They have a baseball team here at the post, and I suppose next spring they'll ask me to help out. But I'm afraid I won't be of much use to them.'

Young Mathewson is a graduate of Bucknell college, where his father earned his first fame as a pitcher. Upon completion of college—and over his mother's strenuous objections, friends of his father say—he took up flying.

What reminded us of religion in relation to sports wasn't the approach of the Sabbath, but the fact that this week, the Willamette basketball team plays a Protestant team on Wednesday night, a Catholic team Friday night and a Jewish team Saturday night.

We'd like to see all three of those games and try to figure out if the religious faith—or religious background—of the various teams makes any difference in their playing. Not details like pivoting and shooting, but teamwork, confidence and "the old fight."

Already we're pretty well convinced that the Catholic faith somehow carry religion over into their playing. Or perhaps it's only class consciousness—class loyalty—with the church taking the role of "class" in this case. To boil it down to something definite, what we mean is that the athletic team of any Catholic institution will fight from start to finish no matter how things are going. And that's not our observation from up a tree either. We've played on Catholic school teams and also against them.

Maybe that's wrong. Maybe the Catholics fight so hard because their teams are mostly Irish. Take Notre Dame—"The Fighting Irish," with Irishmen like Carideo and Savoldi right in the thick of it.

We haven't had much opportunity to observe Jewish athletes, except in the ring. We had a notion, based on nothing at all, that Jewish boys weren't natural athletes. Some of them have just about killed off that idea—yet look at the tough time the New York baseball teams have had getting Jewish players who would make good and drag in the Jewish fans.

Our suspicion is that a class consciousness operates in the Jew's case also; but not having observed sufficiently, we're making no guesses. Only, it's an interesting question.

Woodward is Nation's New Trap Scorer

VANDALIA, Ohio, Jan. 17—(AP)—E. F. Woodward of Houston, Texas, heads the list of the nation's trapshooters with an average of .9905 for the year 1930, and the longest run of targets on record—1500.

The A. T. A. awards high averages in five divisions in order to arrive at some basis for handicapping the shooters.

E. L. Ford of Ogden, Utah, was supreme in the 3000 to 4000 class. His average was .9781. He shot at 3300 targets and broke 3230.

The high 1930 handicap average went to Charles E. Moore, Klamath Falls, Ore., who had a mark of .9437 on 800 targets.

Another Klamath Falls, Ore., man took honors in the handicap averages. He is E. M. Nischolm, who led the 1900 to 1500 class with .9165 on 1150 clays.

Von Elm and Golden Tied For Big Sum

By BRIAN BELL
AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 17—(AP)—George Von Elm, former amateur golf champion of the United States, and John Golden, Connecticut professional today tied for $10,000 first prize in the $25,000 Agua Caliente open, with 72 holes of 293.

Von Elm finished with a brilliant 71, a stroke under par, while Golden wound up the tournament proper with an 18 hole score of 72.

The two leaders will play 18 holes tomorrow to decide who shall be the Agua Caliente champion for a year and wear a dazzling diamond studded medal if occasion offers. It was announced also the play-off tomorrow would decide the division of the money $10,000 to the winner and $3500 to the runner up. The two players will divide 50 per cent of the "gate" tomorrow.

However, Golden and Von Elm, if they choose, may make a gentlemen's agreement to divide $1,500 into $675, and a dazzling George is a self styled business man golfer, and Golden has been playing for pay a long time, something of the kind may be worked out.

HUSKIES STILL HEADING LIST

Idaho Vandals Threaten in Second Half but are Halted in Time

SEATTLE, Jan. 17—(AP)—Defeating the University of Idaho 24 to 23 here tonight, the University of Washington basketball team kept its 1931 slate clean to continue at the top of the northwestern division of the Pacific coast conference race. It was Washington's fourth consecutive victory and its second over the Vandals.

Idaho led only once in the game, when Kenneth Pikes, center, scored the first point on a free throw after he was fouled by John Culler.

Kline Swygard, forward, sent the Huskies ahead a few seconds later when he counted a field goal and the purple and gold can steadily widened the margin after that.

The half ended with Washington leading 21 to 10. Idaho made things interesting for the Huskies in the first five minutes of the second half, piling up eight points to bring the score to 21-18 before Washington could tally. Pete Wicks, diminutive forward, led the attack for the Vandals, gathering seven of the eight points in the short time.

Washington stepped out again when Swygard netted two field goals in quick succession and Idaho never threatened again. Coach Hec Edmundson used his second stringers against the Vandals in the last three minutes.
