Recognition Service is To be Given This Afternoon

THIS afternoon at 4 o'clock the public is invited to attend an impressive recognition service to be given by the high school Girl Reserves, and the triangles of West Salem, Leslie and Parrish junior high schools, in the First Presbyterian church.

The motive for the service is to welcome new members into these various groups represented. Miss Doris Clark will lead the singing of hymns and the Young Women's Christian association hymn, sung by the Reserves as a professional. Nathalie Noer will give a scripture reading and numbers by the Girl Reserve choir under the direction of Miss Helen Breitaupt will follow.

Miss Helen Praug has had charge of all the music for this ritualistic service.

Miss Margaret Nunn, president of the high school Girl Reserves, will make the opening speech and will be followed by short talks from officers in the other triangles. The meaning of the colored candles will be given by Mary Elizabeth Keels, Maxine Murphy and Ruth Maerz.

Other talks concerning the meaning of Girl Reserve work and activity will be given by Miss Louise Brown, Miss Elizabeth Atkinson and Mrs. Elizabeth Galtner, who will welcome the new members into the organization which now has a membership of about 350.

This ceremonial is the beginning of work on the part of the Girl Reserves for the new project which is being developed in connection with the spring conference in Astoria, February 13, 14, and 15. The project by name is the "Modern Pioneer."

The high school Reserves will meet Wednesday for the next step in the project which will be a discussion of "Discovery of Gold."

All junior and grade school Reserves will meet at the appointed times this week. The Parrish triangle will enjoy a swim at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A. pool.

Splendid Program Planned at Leslie

One of the outstanding programs of the year to be given before the Leslie Parent Teachers' association will be that to be given Monday night beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the Leslie school.

The program will open with community singing. A style show given by Miss Miles' class in sewing will follow the sing and then an address on some phase of educational life will be given by state superintendent of schools, C. A. Howard.

A group of numbers will be given by the "kitchenette" orchestra under the direction of Miss Gretchen Kraemer. A business meeting will follow the program.

It is announced that the eighth B grade had the highest per cent of parents present for the month of December in the contest which began in December. This contest will end in May and has to do with the attendance of parents in the P. T. A. meetings. At the end of the contest the grade or room having the highest per cent of parents present over the period between December and May will be presented a book which will be placed in the school library, and on the preface of the book will be a name plate bearing the name of the winning grade. Mrs. B. R. Griggs is chairman of this contest committee.

Each member attending Monday night is urged to bring a friend.

Owing to the fact that it was impossible to stage the three act play "Belinda" before the beginning of the legislative session and because the pressure of business connected with the session at present makes it impossible for Irl S. McSherry, who has been directing the play, to continue with the direction, Mr. McSherry has resigned. As soon as another director can be secured it is hoped that work on the play will be continued.

What Paris is Wearing

By K. D'ORSAY

PARIS—The little red velvet shoulder cape, introduced to Paris by the Empress, Accouti of the Maison Ardanne, has taken the French capital by storm. It is appearing in a dozen new versions, all of them carrying out the antique suggested by the red velvet and gold embroidery of the original model. Paris women carry the idea to the extreme in wearing this little cape with jewels of antique lines.

One of the favorite accompaniments of the velvet shoulder cape, as it has been seen recently in Paris, is the shawl—a modern brooch that takes its form from the pin used by senators of old Rome to hold their togas in drapery on the shoulder. One part of the pin pierces the material while a second, hinged portion, in the shape of a horseshoe, is used to pull the fabric through.

The figure in the sketch shows a dark red marquisette evening gown, devoid of any ruffles or protruding lines of any kind, and a dark red shoulder cape, edged with embroidery in genuine gold thread. The shawl—contrary to the Ardanne rule of real jewels or none—is of metal—the polished yellow gold that is the current Paris craze.
