Grand Island Improvement Streams Reported to Club Sponsors Production

GRAND ISLAND, Jan. 27— The school house was crowded to full capacity Saturday evening to places the severity even of last witness the presentation of the rural comedy three-act play "Deacon Dubbs" given by the Grand Island Improvement club. The play under the very competent direction of Mrs. Pauline Fowler, was declared a wonderful success. The characters were all suitably chosen for their parts and carried them in a most pleasing and effective manner.

The character of Deacon Dubbs carried by Worth Wiley won the audience from the very beginning and in parts held them nearly spell bound only to be relieved when he declared he would take for his own Miss Philipena Pop-over with all her drawbacks caused from the sad misfortune. The part of Miss Philipena

Popover was very pleasingly pre-sented by Mrs. Bertha Badger. The young lawyer and nephew of Deacon Dubbs, Amos Coleman, carried by Roy E. Will and the brave little school ma'am, Rose Raleigh carried by Mildred Smith both played their parts especially well and after the shadows of night had fallen the sky again become clear and the future held nothing but sunshine and roses for the happy couple. Mrs. Hattie Lefley proved a very interesting character as Emily Dale, the richest girl in town who immediately fell for the agent of the Empire State Trust company, Rowdon Crowley. which was carried so dramatically by Charles Nelson.

The auctioneer and justice-ofthe-peace Major Moses McNutt played by Clarence Badger was a good country auctioneer who held the maintenance of peace utmost in his mind. Deuteronomy Jones played by Adelbert Smith and Yennie Yensen, the hired girl from Sweden played by Mercy Tompkins were two laughable characters who acted their parts to perfection. The fact that Yennie Yensen won her heart's desire without having to spend her $16.69 was an exciting incident for all. Last but not least the character of Trixie Coleman, the 15 year old mischevious sister of Amos Coleman played by Mildred Ferguson greatly delighted the audience in all her pranks which she so successfully played on her dear Uncle Darius Dubbs and the budding blushing blossoming Miss Philipena Popover.

Much Appreciated The applause and laughter which came from the large audience proved that this was one of the best entertainments that has ever been played by Pearl Berger and Mrs. Harold Tompkins furnished music between two of the acts. Other music was given by C. L. Fowler and friends from the Unionvale district. The door receipts amounted to a little over $20.

The play will be presented Thursday evening in the Unionvale school building under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teachers association of that district.

WALDO HILLS, Jan. 27.— A great deal of feeling was stirred up when it was learned last week that all the windows in a building in the Warren or Mt. Hope cemetery had been broken by shot. It would seem that at least "God's Acre" might be kept sacred. To many who have loved ones at rest there the place is a dear spot and it hurts to have it desecrated. May this be the last.
