Pigs Make Fast Growth; 10 are Sold by Bowman

G. B. Bowman, farm manager for the E. A. Rhoten farm near Finser, sold ten pigs on the local market that had made hogs of themselves quickly. The ten head were three days less than four and one-half months old and weighed 200 pounds. He received top price for seven of them as they weighed exactly 1400 pounds but the remaining three were over size weighing 630 pounds and Bowman had to be contented with a less price on account of their overweight. This is unusual for pigs of that age.

Mr. Bowman keeps about ten brood sows and markets the skim milk from the dairy through this method. Every week or so he brings in a load of porkers, but this lot was unusual on account of the heavy weight, age considered. He ships sweet cream daily to Portland.

Y. W. CAMP PAID IS UNDER WAY

Report on Progress is due Today; Workers Meet At Luncheon

First reports on response met by the Y. W. C. A. finance campaign workers will be announced at the luncheon to be held at the Y. M. C. A. this noon. The first meeting of all workers was held Monday noon, when Mrs. Elizabeth Gallaher, general secretary of the association, and Rev. Hugh R. Fouke of the Jason Lee church were the principal speakers.

Rev. Fouke stressed the fact that the association is engaged in a constructive enterprise for betterment of women and girls of the city, and pointed out how much greater is the force of such an organization than of one which engages in reconstruction of human beings.

Mrs. Gallaher said that the program of the Y. W. C. A. is doing much in the city, especially for the young girls, of whom there are 300 belonging to the 16 Girl Reserve clubs in the city. Home and school relationships have been greatly improved through the Girl Reserve work, mothers have declared, Mrs. Gallaher pointed out.

Remodeling is Done by Owners
She explained that the present remodeling of the Y. W. C. A. headquarters is not being done entirely by the Y. W. C. A. company, owners, and that no funds from the campaign are going into this project. She spoke also of the housing situation and acknowledged donations made by the Ministerial association to assist girls in need.

Devotions were led by Miss Nina McNary and instructions were given by Mrs. F. A. Elliott, campaign chairman. Mrs. M. B. Wagstaff, employment secretary of the association, will give a brief talk this noon on the employment phase of the work.

Mrs. Maude Pressnal has been named on the team of Miss Helen Louise Crosby, taking the place of Mrs. Olga Hoffard.

SINCLAIR LEWIS NOVELS POPULAR

For accommodation of patrons who are asking for the novels of Sinclair Lewis since he won the Nobel prize, the Salem public library has replaced and added a number of copies of reports Miss Maud Covington, librarian. There is an increasing demand for Lewis' works.

Among other recent additions to the library shelves are five biographies, and with the biography which is popular reading these are expected to be in great demand. The new ones are: Weigall's Nero, the Singing Emperor of Rome; Petrova, Twice Born in Russia; Adams, The Adams Family; Ford, Letters of Henry Adams; and Henry Ford, Edison as I Knew Him.

Among the novels which have been put in circulation recently are: Macaulay, Staying With Relatives; Maughan, Casuarina Tree; Steno, Waters Under the Earth; Johnson, Some Trade; Clark, Tarkington, Mirrhill Haven; and Wharton, Certain People.

New books for general reading are: Personality Adjustments of School Children; Troth, Selected Readings in Character Education; Johnson, Some Trade; Letters of Henry Adams; and Henry Ford, Edison as I Knew Him.

PART TIME SCHOOL REPORT HANDLED IN

52 Students Aided in Last Semester, Three new Ones Enter now

Work that the part time continuation school, conducted jointly by the Smith-Hughes project and the Salem school board, did during the first semester of the school year has been summarized by Miss Gertrude Anderson, director, and shows that 52 students, 27 girls and 25 boys, were enrolled.

During the first term the average attendance was 21. Half of the girls enrolled were engaged in regular duty as housemaids and the other half worked from three to five days a week as housemaids. Fifty-two per cent of the boys had steady work, while others worked at odd jobs.

Three new students have enrolled so far this semester, and there is room for as many more boys and girls who care to continue their studies while working to support themselves. A few instances where families are making up back work and hope later to reenter full time school.

At the part time continuation school which is conducted in the basement of the senior high school, all instruction is individual, except spelling and drills in rapid calculation, so the number of subjects taken by the student may be governed by the time the student is able to spend away from work. Some take as high as four subjects.

The subjects offered are designed to help the boy and girl with the job at which he or she is employed and to assist social adjustment. Many students enroll for the typing classes, which are conducted in room 1-M of the high school each Monday and Thursday beginning at 3:15 o'clock. These classes are open to students who have had typing and which brush up while unemployed and to beginners. Miss Elizabeth Hogg of the high school faculty is instructor. It is urged that boys and girls wishing to take this work for this semester enroll now.

The sewing class, organized December 5 for a 24-hour course, has 16 enrolled. Many things are made, and some stress is given to remodeling old garments. Mrs. Davis of O. S. C. is the instructor.

Any one interested in enrolling in the part time work may call Miss Anderson by telephone at 492-W.

MANY FRIENDS AT CREECH SERVICES

Funeral service held Sunday afternoon at the St. Paul Episcopal church for Julia Creech was one of the largest ever held in the city for a private citizen, the church being filled to capacity and fully 200 persons unable to get inside. Floral pieces were exceptionally beautiful and ran into many numbers, many of these coming from Eugene and Portland.

Her sisters of the Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority on the University of Oregon campus, where Miss Creech was a sophomore, attended the services in a body. Many other friends from the student body and faculty of the university were here. The procession to Belcrest Memorial park was fully 150 cars long, and it was necessary to delay the committal service a half hour before all gathered before the grave.

Miss Creech died in a Eugene hospital Friday evening after a sudden serious illness. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Creech of this city.
