Primary Election Change Approved

A bill introduced by Senator Bennett providing that primary elections in off years shall be held in August instead of in May as under the existing laws was approved upon reconsideration by a vote of 22 to 7. The measure previously was defeated.

Senator Bennett explained that this bill would eliminate lengthy and costly campaigns and save the taxpayers a large amount of money. Senator Miller opposed the bill on the ground that it would cost the candidates more money than under the present laws.

The senate referred to the revision of laws committee a bill providing that theatres shall post signs when no seats are available. This bill was up for final passage today, but was held in abeyance at the request of Senator Moser, who said a number of theatre owners in Portland had requested a hearing.

First Evening Session is Held
A bill by Senator Moser providing for the protection of lawful fishing gear in the Columbia river was defeated.

The senate referred to the revision of laws committee a bill passed by Senator Hall exempting persons 60 years or more of age, who have lived in the state of Oregon for 50 years, from paying for fishing and hunting licenses. This bill has twice been before the senate this week, but each time was referred for amendments.

The first after-dinner session of the senate was held Thursday night. This was found necessary because of the congested calendar, and the large number of legislative matters now pending. Legislators declared Thursday night that adjournment probably would not be taken before Tuesday of next week.

Nelson, bank robber, and Barnes, highwayman, had saved their way from their cell block during the night, entered the canteen building and crawled under the can pile to await an opportunity to make their way outside.

Stocks Advance To High Levels On Bullish Wave

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Share prices were swept to new high levels since early October by a fresh wave of bullish enthusiasm in today's stock market.

The advance was one of the more violent upturns of the new year, however, and it attracted a backwash of profit-taking sales in the final few minutes of trading which carried away a substantial fraction of the day's extreme advance.

WARNER'S ELSINORE

WARNER'S CAPITOL
Today—Kay Francis in "Passion Flower."

GRAND
Today—Charles Bickford in "River's End."

HOLLYWOOD
Today—Hoot Gibson in "The Concentration Kid."

It is my great pleasure to tell the "Dare Public" that there is I am concerned there are two good shows at the Warner Brothers Capitol and Elsinore today.

At the Capitol is "Passion Flower" a disturbing play which does not do anything correctly to the picture theme. The theme is a triangle of two women and a man—the women are Kay Francis and Kay Johnson and the man is Charles Bickford.

The story has to do with two honest boys who are in the manner in which these affairs come about. They seem the unhappy working of fate and when the play is all over you say to yourself almost without thinking that what I have done in that same circumstance? Perhaps you give yourself a pat on the back and say, "I would have had better sense than to have gotten myself into such a fix," but without doubt in this particular day and age there are hundreds of just such queer developments and no end of honest heartaches—honest at least to the individual.

The acting is very excellently done. Sincerity and artistry with each actor in "character" marks the whole play. Zasu Pitts brings a laugh each time she appears; small Dickie Moore, who surely can not be over five years old is delightful; the other members of the lead in addition to the lead are Lewis Stone and Winter Hall.

"The Bachelor Father" is the high comedy and farce built on a queer plot and to be seen at the Elsinore with Marion Davies, Ralph Forbes, C. Aubrey Smith, David Torrence and a group of other very excellently chosen cast.

One is at first a bit offended at the plot which dares to make such fun from the loose life of a pleasure loving bachelor whose age has passed that of much action. This man is C. Aubrey Smith, one of the largest men I have ever noticed on the screen.

There are no end of laughs with Marion Davies provoking most of them. She is really delightfully funny and the spirit of burlesque gets into one's thinking and the audacious plot seems to soften into a good joke before the play is over.

Smith is in fact a bachelor father who daringly gathers up his various offspring and brings them into his own home. The results are all that could be asked for in the way of clever fun.

HOUSE PASSES VETERAN LOAN

Vote is 328 to 79, Forty Members Swinging to Support Hoover

22 1/2 percent of the face value of the compensation certificate issued in 1924 and maturing in 1945.

In his message, President Hoover told congress the legislation would impose a potential cash outlay of $1,700,000,000 if all the 3,400,000 veterans applied. Veteran Administrator Hines, he said, estimated it would cost $1,000,000,000.

"There not being a penny in the treasury to meet such a demand," the president said, "the government must borrow this sum through the sale of the reserve fund securities together with further issues of war bonds and to postpone further taxation."

The crowded galleries broke into applause when the message was received. Speaker Longworth admonished the spectators.

CAPONE'S ILLNESS IS ISSUE IN TRIAL

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The ailments of Al Capone two years ago were the subject of a clinical examination today in the court of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson as the gang leader's contempt of court hearing neared its end.

Probing into the month of January 1919, defense witnesses, doctors and nurses said the scar-faced one was perilously ill in some danger of dying.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob I. Grossman brought the government's case to bear in his final argument, which was interrupted by adjournment for the day, and reported that if Capone actually was sick, he soon got over it and suffered no bad effects from pursuing his usual pleasures in and around his Miami beach home.

Capone's illness was given as a reason why he should not be called upon to come up to Chicago in March, 1929, to testify before a grand jury.

SAMUEL HILL PASSES AWAY

Taken ill While on way to Salem for Address at Senate Chamber

the late builder had erected on a high Washington cliff overlooking the Columbia river.

Hill was known to many European rulers and statesmen. His mind was one that dealt with great problems and his knowledge on a great diversity of subjects brought both pleasure and astonishment to those who met him.

Queen Marie of Rumania, to whom he was host when she and her entourage toured the United States several years ago called him "a great builder and dreamer."

On the Pacific coast he was known principally as a builder of good roads. It was he who sent Samuel Lancaster, engineer, to Europe to study that the Columbia river might be navigated along the lines of the most beautiful continental highways. At the time of his death he was looking forward to an extension of the Pacific highway into Alaska.

Three persons, his son, Nathan, a cousin, Edgar N. Hill, Seattle and W. F. Turner, president of the S. P. & S., were present at his death.

That cold may lead to something serious, if neglected. The time to do something for it is now. Don't wait until it develops into bronchitis. Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin as soon as you feel a cold coming on. Or as soon as possible after it starts. Bayer Aspirin will head off or relieve the aching and feverish feeling—will stop the headache. And if your throat is affected, dissolve two or three tablets in a quarter-glassful of warm water, and gargle. This quickly soothes a sore throat and reduces inflammation and infection. Read proven directions for neuralgia, for rheumatism and other aches and pains. Genuine Bayer Aspirin is harmless to the heart.
