

GRAN'S STEADIER AFTER SLUMP BUTTER MART INCREASINGLY FIRM

Nervousness at Sales By Government is Much Reduced

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Lessening of nervousness over proposed large-scale export selling of United States wheat at present prices had a conspicuous steadying effect on grain markets today. Wheat trade leaders emphasized moves to dispose of American seaboard stocks of wheat would be helpful in averting congestion of storage facilities.

Announcements banks were asking increased margins on wheat loans had no market effect, the rate changes being looked upon generally as a seasonal step.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to 1/8 cent higher, corn at 3/8 decline to 1/4 advance, oats 3/8 to 7-8 off.

APPLE SHIPMENTS SEASONABLY HEAVY

Medium, Light Hens Up one Cent at Portland

PORTLAND, Feb. 27 (AP)—Portland wholesale butter and egg quotations opened unchanged today.

Butter market was very firm, receipts barely enough to demand, specially strong on 90 score.

Big market opened easy with considerable excess of undergrades stock looking for takers.

Dressed poultry market opened with medium and light weight hens up 1 cent to 13 and 15 cents a pound respectively, due to good demand for all weights.

IRIS SEEKS DIVERSION PUPILS GIVE WELCOME

"Famous Fastidious Goat" Pays School Visit

WACONDA, February 27—Irish has broken into the news again. The latest episode in the life of the "Famous Fastidious Goat" Mission Bottom is a trip to the village schoolhouse, where it is supposed she went in connection with a Washington's birthday program was scheduled for that day.

Irish made her first appearance in the news a few weeks ago when she invaded the interior of her mistress' home during the latter's absence. Perhaps she liked having her name in print, again she might have craved some form of diversion. Certainly a goat deserves some recreation when she's good enough to provide milk every day of the year for all the cats and dogs on the Cole farm.

Whatever her reason for the visit being reminded of the "lamb at school" was a pleasant experience for the children and Irish will be a welcome guest at the Mission Bottom school any time she wishes to call in the future.

Mass Meeting is Called to Consider Water Situation

MONMOUTH, Feb. 27—A mass meeting of citizens was held Tuesday evening to discuss the water system situation, with particular reference to a question of how to raise money to retire more bonds on the outstanding liabilities. Dr. F. R. Bowersox, new mayor, presided.

A tax levy was suggested among other measures; also the possibility of charging each patron an additional fifty cents per month. No definite action was taken on any of the tentative possibilities.

CHILDREN REPORTED ILL

WACONDA, Feb. 27—There has been much sickness here this winter among the school children. An epidemic of chicken pox and whooping cough has spread through the community, and now one case of measles is reported here.

Salem Property Traded for Farm At Waldo Hills

WALDO HILLS, Feb. 26.—A real estate deal of widespread interest was made this week when Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Sebo of the Waldo Hills traded their 211 acre ranch for a building in Salem, belonging to Mrs. N. J. Kenyon.

This building is located at 13th and State streets and has on the first floor a store, a restaurant and fur shop with apartments above.

The farm is one known as the Elwood Small place and is 2 1/2 miles south of Silverton on the Stayton road. It is on the east side of the road and the second place south of the new Drift Creek bridge.

Mr. Sebo purchased the farm in 1919 from Wm. Shurter. The next year he razed the buildings and built new ones. The house is large and very modern. He also built a commodious prune dryer, he having a 30 acre prune orchard in full bearing.

Mrs. Kenyon has rented the place to Mr. Cutler and will have an elderly couple come to live in the house.

And all the way up Lowell Drive she danced before her eyes a vision of Walter as he looked sitting there at the desk, remote and uninterested, and shut away from her. She sighed and wondered what life would be like without him in it. Em Hardy, at Bin's request, gave her a room on the third floor in the west wing which looked out over the ravine and the gardens. Imogene's room was down the corridor a little way; it would be quite easy to exchange with her secretly. After she had settled herself here and looked about a bit, Bin went for a walk up the mountain stopping for a moment to speak to Millicent who was at work in her garden.

Bob was improving, Millicent said, though she was careful not to disturb him with any reference to the murder.

"Why don't they let the thing drop, Bin?" Imogene cried. "What good does all this stirring up do?"

"But there's the law, Millicent dear. Justice, you know."

"Oh—justice! We were so happy and peaceful here till she came. It isn't right for one person—someone none of us knew—who cared no more for us than we cared for her—to make all this trouble. She had no right," Millicent wailed "to come here and bring all this on us!"
