ATCHISON LEADER I. C. C. GLEE CLUB

Se Reports William P. Ellis
On Return From Trip
For Fruit Growers

Clyde Atchison, who began his public service as a rate commissioner in Salem, distinguished himself in the closing hours of congress by leading the interstate commerce commission glee club in a number of songs before the house of representatives, reported William P. Ellis, who returned yesterday from Washington, D. C. Ellis represented the state public service commissioner and an association of Oregon fruit growers in the northwest fruit rates cases, hearings on which were held March 4 and 5.

"Atchison is a fine musician and a good leader and his men were well trained," commented Ellis. "We found the commission very attentive to our arguments and the importance of the fruit rate cases was indicated by the fact that the commission sat en banc to hear the testimony and the argument."

"Our request was for lower rates as soon as possible, notably on apples and pears. We pointed out that the fruit industry was severely affected by continued high rates and that some relief was well nigh imperative."

Ellis came home by way of Chicago which was a cold city last Sunday when he was there. Snow was heavy in the streets and traffic was sluggish. As a whole, Ellis noticed less evidences of winter than usual at this time of year. Through the middle west the ground was clear of snow in many places.

Ronald Badger Wins State Honor

GRAND ISLAND, March 11—Ronald Badger, a student in the Amity high school, entered the Willamette valley sectional vocational agricultural contest held at Corvallis Saturday. His work was in the soldering division.

Donald was much elated upon his return home that evening, due to the fact that he had won a prize in the soldering contest which consisted of two new soldering irons. Ronald proved to be the only Amity representative so fortunate.

DANCE IS POPULAR
WALDO HILLS, March 11—One of the outstanding affairs of the Waldo Hills community club year was the dance held Saturday night at the club house.

STILL GRINS

Jim Thorpe (above), acclaimed the greatest football player of all time and once the holder of the title of world's best all-around athlete who raised the flag of his native land to the top of the Olympic mast, is working in Los Angeles as a laborer with pick and shovel for $4 a day, but he can still grin. But Big Jim is determined to beat back.

day night at the club house. From the time the music began at 9 o'clock until Home Sweet Home was played at midnight, the floor was filled with people. It is estimated that close to 200 attended. Music was furnished by club members assisted by Dr. A. D. Woodmanse of Salem, Rudd Benson, Art Canoy and "Curly" Leach of Silverton. Great credit is due Frank Egan as general manager and Fred Knight who had charge of the floor. Proceeds from the dance amounted to $19.50.

Heise Elected State College Ad Club Chief

One of the most important functions of the club is the annual banquet held on the campus in February each year. Wesley Heise is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

The weather service of the West Indies is maintained by 600 stations.

ELIZABETH LOSSING SPEAKS AT ROTARY

Mrs. Elizabeth Lossing of Berkeley, Cal., one of the instructors at the police school here this week, talked to the Rotarians about "Little Boys" yesterday. Her talk was largely a "case" talk, citing case after case of boys who had come before her for discipline, guidance and correction, and the methods employed to save the boys to society. Control and re-direction of their activities, improvement of their environment are the aims of her organization. Punishment she said, should be prompt and fair and not undertaken in anger.

Dr. Edgar Fortner, five-minute auto-biographer, related how he switched from a Texas farm to college and Harvard medical school and the practice of his profession as physician and surgeon.

STATESMAN SELLS STATE TO DAKOTAN

C. D. Ourtie, superintendent of schools at Pembina, North Dakota, is greatly interested in Salem and is thinking seriously of locating here he writes The Statesman this week, asking for more copies of the paper.

"I recently received a copy of the New Year's edition of The Statesman; I have read it thoroughly and enjoyed the reading," writes Ourtie. "I am thinking seriously of making my future home in or near Salem. I am thinking of bringing my family out about June 1 to view firsthand the beauties of Oregon of which I have heard and read so much."

Curtis adds that he has been a reader of The Statesman prior to this spring, with the idea of locating in Oregon.

PERFECT HAND OF HEARTS IS PLAYED

WASHINGTON, March 11. — (AP)—The dream of every bridge player has come true for Mrs. Joseph P. Ralph. She picked up her hand last night and found 13 hearts. "I thought there must be a joker somewhere," she said today. "For a moment I hesitated. I'd heard of people making all sorts of mistakes with perfect hands and I wasn't taking any chances. After a moment I bid seven hearts and, of course, took all the tricks."

She has been playing bridge 20 years.

Town of Eight Voters Elects One Democrat

HART'S LOCATION, N. H., March 11. (AP)—In the heaviest vote cast here in 20 years, the residents of this town have elected a democrat to a town office. Series of recounts of the eight ballots cast showed that there was no mistake — that James Monahan, an admitted democrat, had been elected road agent. The other five offices were filled by republicans. The increase in voting population from six to eight was accounted for by the arrival of two new residents since the last town meeting.

I THOUGHT SO HE SAID

I met a friend on the street the other day. He looked right straight at me with kind of a worried look in his eyes, and said, Bill, who writes the ads for Busick's stores? I told him who the guilty party was.

Just As I Thought, He Said,

and walked right on without saying another word.

I Stood There and Stared Kinda Dumb-Like

for a minute or so, then started on down the street wondering what the Sam Hill was wrong with him, acting like that.

Then, According to a Lady

I met, I was talking out loud to myself. That's bad, too, you know (talking to one's self, I mean). Here's what she said I was saying to myself: "I don't care what anyone says, I am going to stay right with that policy. He said it was the right way and he proved it too —"

Say, She Said,

What's that you were saying to yourself? Who's right? Who proved it? What are you going to stay with? (Of course now you know it was a woman because she asked all those questions without waiting for an answer.)

I Told Her I Was Just Thinking about what Russell Sage once said. What did he say? she asked. Well, I said, he said if you want to succeed in business and make money, always let the other fellow make a little at the same time. In other words, don't try to make it all. And I was just thinking that that was just exactly what Busick's stores are doing, giving the customers a break — and it doesn't make so much difference whether our ads are good or not so long as the people know we're giving them the best prices we can, whether advertised or not.
