

MEIER WIELDS AX VIGOROUSLY

New Game Commission Plan and Parole Board Idea Among the Slain

Governor Meier, a neophyte with the veto ax, took healthy swings at several legislative measures Wednesday and when the day was ended numerous legislative enactments lay stretched out and inert on the floor of the governor's office.

Not only did major appropriation bills and the Copco enabling act meet veto death from the governor but the following important bills fell prey to executive fire:

Creation of a new game commission under approval of various organizations.

Bill to reorganize state parole board.

Filling of legislative vacancies by county courts.

Dunne bill to compel state institutions not to use butter substitutes.

Governor Meier affirmed his veto to house bill 236, by Representative Nichols and others, providing for the creation of a state game commission to be composed of five members. One member of the board would have been recommended by the Oregon state game association, another by the Isaac Walton league, the third by the Oregon state forest fire association, and the fourth by the Oregon Game Protective association. The fifth member would have been appointed by the governor. The proposed law would have abolished the present game commission.

Lack of Control by Public Noted

"The game commission collects and expends a large amount of public money," read Governor Meier's veto message. "Its functions affect directly or indirectly, nearly every citizen of the state. Under this bill four of the five members of the commission would be selected by organizations over which the public has no control and which represent but a small per cent of the citizens of the state."

"Private organizations should never be allowed to select public officials who control the expenditure of public funds."

Parole Board

Change Frowned On

Among other bills vetoed by Governor Meier was one by the joint ways and means committee providing for the reorganization of the state parole board. The measure provided that the board should be composed of five members, one of whom would be the warden of the state penitentiary. The private secretary to the governor, who is now a member of the parole board, would be eliminated.

"This is not constructive legislation," read Governor Meier's veto message, "and does not correct the objectionable features of the parole system as it now exists."

Governor Meier vetoed a bill introduced by Senator Bennett providing that vacancies in the state legislature shall be filled by the county courts. This bill, as originally introduced, provided that the vacancies should be filled by the governor, subject to confirmation of the house in which the vacancy existed. Vacancies will be filled by election under the existing law. "This is unnecessary legislation," read the governor's veto message, "and deals with a subject which is already provided for by constitutional provision."

The governor also disapproved senate bill 72, by Senator Dunne, prohibiting the use of oleomargarine, imitation cheese and other dairy product substitutes in state schools and institutions. Governor Meier said this legislation was unnecessary for the reason that the purchase of supplies for state institutions is in the hands of the state board of control. "Restrictions of this kind are untimely in the face of present economic conditions," the governor said in his veto message.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB HAS BANQUET

Public Relations Event is Held; Col. A. E. Clark Delivers Address

Nearly 180 members and guests of the Salem Business and Professional Women's club were in attendance at the second annual public relations banquet at the Masonic temple Wednesday evening.

The public relations banquet is given as a part of the observance of National Business Women's week which is being observed throughout the United States.

Mrs. Mona Reid Yoder, president of the Salem club, presided and welcomed the guests. The response was given by E. M. Gregory, mayor of Salem. Group singing was led by Mrs. LeMoine Clark, with Mrs. Billy Herberster as accompanist.

Col. Clark Talks On Woman's Role

The address of the evening was given by Colonel A. E. Clark of Portland and who spoke of the part women have played in the history of the world.

The musical program included numbers by the Lena Dotson instrumental trio, vocal solos by Mrs. Gordon McGilchrist and three numbers by the Salem chorus. The personnel of the chorus includes: Myrtle Gilbert, Esther Hagerdorn, Alta Kerschner, Mrs. A. H. H. How, Mrs. Margaret Jorgensen, Edna Lauck, Myrtle Reeves, Winifred Pettijohn, Mrs. Alvin Stewart, Billy Herberster is accompanist and Madeline Callin is director.

Mrs. Josephine Shade was in charge of the banquet arrangements and Mrs. Hector Adams had charge of the decorations.

At first the children had to be talked to in a room that was occupied with all the "hard-boiled" detective officers, but for several years the juvenile department has had rooms of its own especially equipped for handling and amusing children while they are waiting to be interviewed.

STRONGER SERUM BALKS DIPHTHERIA

Toxoid Gives Same Results As T. A. T. Statement Of Health Board

A new diphtheria immunization serum, stronger than toxin-antitoxin but which simplifies the immunization procedure, has been made available for the war against diphtheria, according to the weekly bulletin of the state board of health. The new weapon is diphtheria toxoid, of which the health board says the following:

"While both toxoid and toxin-antitoxin give the same results, toxoid has the advantage of being a little stronger immunizing agent than toxin-antitoxin. According to studies made by the U. S. public health service, two doses of toxoid given a month apart will immunize a higher percentage of children than three doses of toxin-antitoxin given a week apart. Appreciation of this fact should lead to its more extended use."

Toxoid is especially suitable for immunizing infants and young children. Since more than one-fourth of all cases and over half the deaths from diphtheria occur under five years of age, it is highly important to have this protective treatment given to children before they reach school age. The fact that over three per cent of the cases and seven per cent of the deaths occur under one year of age would suggest immunizing infants as soon as practicable after the age of six months. It is recommended that this be done by the family physician as a routine.

In older children and adults

TOXOID OCCASIONALLY CAUSES A REACTION WHICH CONSISTS OF SWELLING AND REDNESS AROUND THE SITE OF INJECTION WITH MALAISE, HEADACHE AND FEVER. THESE SYMPTOMS LAST TWO OR THREE DAYS AND DISAPPEAR. BY A SIMPLE TEST IT IS POSSIBLE TO PICK OUT BEFOREHAND CHILDREN WHO WILL REACT TO TOXOID. SUCH CHILDREN CAN BE IMMUNIZED BY A MODIFIED PROCEDURE TO AVOID REACTION.

TOXOID GIVES SAME RESULTS AS T. A. T. STATEMENT OF HEALTH BOARD

"Thus it requires a little more work to immunize older children with toxoid than to immunize those below school age. The best way to avoid this extra work is to give all children diphtheria toxoid as soon as possible after the age of six months. Parents can have this done by the family physician. As the reaction test is not necessary for young children, giving two doses of toxoid is a simple matter."

Glee Victim Adorns Top Of Sun Dial

More Freshman Glee bets were paid during the last two days at Willamette university. It seems that one day is not long enough for the students to accomplish the payment of these "debts of honor" or "Endurance" "tree sitting" or "contests were the order of the day Wednesday.

Two junior young men spent five hours following 11 o'clock in the morning sitting, lying and standing on two brick columns in front of the main building, Eaton hall. If the juniors had won, their places would have been taken on by two prominent members of the executive circles of the student body.

One young woman was featured for an hour standing in a Flying Mercury position on the sun dial pedestal in front of Eaton hall. Another young man spent the time between 1 and 4 o'clock on the roof of the Y. M. C. A. cottage.

Tuesday, one of the campus' most enthusiastic student pacifists was compelled by his bet to parade in a French helmet and a flint-lock rifle. Another student was seen wearing a blue ribbon around his head.

In the senior class meeting, it is rumored that someone passed candy to each of the winners.

The junior class met but did not weep any salty tears over its third place. Instead, the members joked in planning the junior weekend, when the junior play, "A Scrap of Paper," will be presented. Tryouts will be March 16. This play is a comedy of three acts translated and adapted from the French.

MRS. LOSSING IS CHAPEL SPEAKER

Mrs. Elizabeth Lossing, police-woman from Berkeley, Calif., was the speaker of the morning at chapel at Willamette university, Wednesday. Other platform visitors were the members of the Porto Rican debate team with their coach.

Mrs. Lossing told of the work of the bureau of which she is the head in California. Her address included remarks about her first experiences in the work when all she had to work with was theory, learned in training school.

She described the activities of certain University of California young men and women who are helping in the crime prevention problem in the California city by burning slashings during certain seasons of the year without a permit.

..another expert chooses Crisco for all frying and shortening purposes

Thousands of women who attended the recent Cooking School in this city saw how Crisco helped Mrs. _____ to get better results—to make better-tasting fried and baked foods.

We were interested to learn that most other cooking experts use and prefer this shortening for all purposes, too.

Since the school, many of our customers have been using Crisco and have told us how much they like it. This so impressed us that we have decided to feature Crisco this week, in order that all of you may learn of its many superior qualities.
