

SALEM HEIGHTS GROUP IS HOST

Teachers P. E. P. Club is Entertained With Program

SALEM HEIGHTS, March 18.—At the March meeting Tuesday evening of the teacher's P. E. P. club, many guests were complimented at the Salem Heights school. A very interesting and instructive program was arranged by Emma Deets, Hulda Mootry and Hamie Bostrack, committee in charge.

The Salem Heights school orchestra opened the program with several numbers, which was followed by an original Amos' Andy skit under the direction of Agnes Booth. Those taking part were Cleave Bartlett, John Stuart Craig, Muriel Robinson and Palmer Lee, pupils of Mrs. Booth. Hulda Mootry and Orville Beardsley each favored the guests with a vocal solo which was greatly appreciated. This was followed by a very interesting and amusing reading, entitled, "The Ball Game" by Mrs. Ella Forgard.

The Salem Heights teachers, Erma Deets, Hulda Mootry, Agnes Booth and Cecile Wiegand, principal, then presented a humorous skit which was roundly applauded. W. A. Delsell then entertained the club with a very interesting history chat.

A project on world peace which has been worked out by the seventh and eighth grades under the direction of Cecile Wiegand was presented by a group from each of these grades. A reading of an original poem was then given by Mildred Oaken. Reports of research work was presented by Eileen Van Eaton and Jack Bohannon. Susie Jones and Hazel Bedient closed the evening program by singing an original song. After the program many attractive posters were exhibited which had been done by pupils of all the grades. Refreshments were then served and the teachers state that this has been one of the most successful meetings of the year.
