Tuberculin Test Law Protested At Des Moines

DES MOINES, Ia., March 20—(AP)—More than 1500 Iowa farmers took possession of the state capitol Thursday to register a mass protest against continuance of the law requiring tuberculin testing of all cattle.

The basis of the protests was that tuberculin testing was not reliable, created confiscation of property and that there was no case of record of the transmission of bovine tuberculosis to human beings.

ADVERTISING SCOPE NOW IS COAST-WIDE

Advertising aimed to bring visitors to the west coast is more and more becoming coast-wide in scope, with California, Washington, Oregon and British Columbia participating, Leith Abbott, advertising manager of the Southern Pacific in this state, told the Salem Ad club members Friday noon. Significant of this trend is a four-page spread carried this week in the Saturday Evening Post, in which each of these districts presented their attractions. The motif of the ad is the desirability of a visit along the entire coast.

Abbott said that campaigns which had proved most successful were centered about the recreational possibilities of the coast.

"When you get leaders out here to fish, hunt, hike and play golf, they have a chance to observe the west and to plan for development here in a business way," the speaker declared.

Abbott pointed out that his own company had been engaged in advertising the west for more than 50 years. Its efforts are markedly similar to those of various communities now engaged in nation-wide advertising, he said.

Portland in its solicitation of funds has been remarkably fair in advertising the remainder of the state, Abbott observed. At present a drive is on for more than $100,000, which will be used for nation-wide advertising to bring visitors to the northwest.

Wales' Auto is Mired Down and Horses Required

BUENOS AIRES, March 20—(AP)—The Prince of Wales spent a few bad hours when his automobile became quagmired on the rainsoaked roads between San Miguel ranch and the Cordoba airdrome on his return to Buenos Aires, it was revealed here today.

Horses repeatedly dragged the royal car from mudholes with ropes and it repeatedly stalled again a few minutes later. At one point 25 men lifted the machine from its morass and then pushed it along the road.
