Address Capone To Stay in South

"What are you going to do about Al Capone?" was the question nearly all of the English reporters asked.

"I understand he is out of town," replied Cormak, "and my advice to him is to stay out for the next four years. He is under sentence here, you know, and I suggest that he stay in Florida. That's where he lives now."

Cormak laughed when the London writers asked about Thompson's attack on King George.

"He didn't really fool you people, did he?" chuckled the mayor. "No, he isn't really anti-British. The British vote is the smallest in Chicago so he decided to pick on the British king."

"What will be your first step?" came a voice from across the Atlantic.

"I've already taken my first step. Last night I ordered the resignation of four police captains who were politically transferred."

a committee which will plan a reception here on April 13 for Joust Shouse, chairman of the party's national executive committee.

"Re-legalizing liquor," he wrote, "will not put food into a single hungry mouth, nor provide employment for the great army of jobless men and women in the United States—more than six million in number as shown by a recent statement of Secretary of Commerce Lamont.

"When we reflect that there must be an average of at least two dependent persons on each of the six million unemployed, we can get some idea of the magnitude of the problem which these eighteen million people, largely without means of existence, present to the country."

"Is liquor the democratic answer to this vital problem? If it is, then the party is too impoverished in ideas to enter even a snail's race."

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 8.—(AP)—The young Baroness Marie Forester died tonight of a bullet wound in her stomach after being brought to a Budapest sanitarium from the castle of the Count Teleki at Szob.

One version of the shooting was that the baroness had just fired at and missed a target and the revolver was discharged when she turned to examine it. However, newspapers say that medical examination showed it would have been impossible for her to have inflicted the wound herself.

Baron Stefan Bornemisza, who is said to have witnessed the shooting, was being questioned by authorities tonight.

CAMPAIGN BRINGS IN NEW MEMBERS

87 Have Joined Christian Churches Since Start Of Revival Here

There have already been 87 additions to the Christian churches of Marion county during the present evangelistic campaign under the leadership of the Kellems Evangelistic party, 55 of them at the First Christian church in Salem, where the meetings are being conducted.

The largest crowds to attend a meeting nightly are now coming from all over the valley.

This week already there have been delegations from Portland, Woodburn, Silverton, Mill City and Scotts Mills. Tuesday night Dr. Wilfred Nankivell and a fine delegation from the Mallory Avenue church in Portland attended the meeting and Dr. Nankivell favored the large audience with a beautiful baritone solo.

Sees Excuses for Non-Membership

Last night Dr. Kellems preached on the theme "Salvation and the Church" or "Can a Man be Saved Outside the Church."

"A great many people today think of the church just as they think of some popular club or fraternal order. It is something we may or may not join just as we think best and does not make a real difference. I think the greatest reason why many good people are out of the church is that they do not want the responsibility which comes when one is a church member.

"To be a Christian means the responsibility of attendance, of sharing in Christian work and of doing good to others. It is just so easy to let things slide and pay no attention that many people are just not interested.

Tonight Dr. Kellems will preach on the theme: "The Non-Conversion of Felix." The sermon will be preceded by a little play given by the Christian Endeavorers.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 8.—(AP)—I. Loizgesell, motorist was induced today to waive his "constitutional rights."

Loizgesell informed Traffic Patrolman Fleming of his rights when he took a "right" rather than move his double-parked automobile and he repeated the assertion to Municipal Judge Tomlinson.

"I'll park wherever I want to and you can't fine me for it," Loizgesell shouted.

"Five dollars," answered the judge.

"I won't pay it! You can't make me pay it. I—"

"Take him upstairs and let him cool off," Judge Tomlinson directed.

Patrolman Fleming took his prisoner by the arm but Loizgesell shook him off and put up his fists in approved fighting fashion. The crowded courtroom waited, tense and expectant.

While Fleming and Loizgesell eyed each other and maneuvered for position someone called Traffic Investigator John Bosovich and presently he stepped through the door.

Bosovich, a former pugilist, advanced toward Loizgesell, a smile of anticipation on his battle-scarred face. Loizgesell recognized those marks.

"All right," he said, "I'll go to jail."

He did, but presently he sent word that he was ready to waive his "constitutional rights" and paid his fine and left.

ROGERS CHEERS UP VICTIMS OF QUAKE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 8.—(AP)—Will Rogers, humorist, came to desolate Managua today and his coming acted as a tonic of cheer to a stricken people.

News of his presence later among the ruins spread like wildfire and he became the center of a smiling crowd.

Foreign Minister Irias was introduced to Rogers and he replied in Spanish through an interpreter.

"I know of him from two angles—that he is a famous humorist and a writer of philosophy as pleasing as an old shoe and that his presence on this earth has been beneficial to mankind."

pearing at intervals as he perpetrated a new feat.

"Act" Requires But Half Hour

His "act" took less than a half hour with all attendants talking to him and among themselves.

Under "spiritualistic" conditions the seances would have taken on between three and four hours and no one would have been allowed to talk, Nino said.

"Eleven years ago when I told people I was a spiritualist they didn't believe me," he said. "Now I'm trying to convince them I'm not and they won't believe me."

"In all my appearances I've been paid but little. For the past two years I've been giving free seances to convince scientists that I really could get messages from the dead and could produce ghosts. For this I haven't received a cent.

"I'm tired of the whole thing and want to quit. I've never been a mystic and nobody else has. Trickery and science can do anything I've done."

JURIES PARLEY ON FATE OF NEGROES

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., April 8.—(AP)—Two Jackson county juries tonight deliberated on evidence presented in the trial of six negroes charged with attacking two young white girls who were "bumming" their way on a freight train.

Three negroes already have been convicted with the death penalty for the offense.

One jury considered the fate of five negroes, four aged 17 and the fifth 16, for whom the death penalty was asked and the other that of Roy Wright, 14, for whom the state agreed not to ask execution.

The 14-year-old negro was placed on trial shortly after the other jury had retired. The two girls appeared when the state and the negro was the only defense witness. He admitted he was present but denied participating in the attack.

Both juries were locked up for the night shortly after 9 o'clock when the Mountain States Seed Growers Inc., was organized here today to affiliate with the Federal Farm board in marketing the seed from one of the largest seed growing sections of the west.

repealing the federal anti-trust laws; and (2) offering every individual a drink."

"This is an entirely new school of political thought," he said.

"Why should the people of the south," he added, "continue an alliance with a political organization that is so bankrupt and so disorganized that it cannot present to the American people a statement as to what it believes and as to what it will do in event it is given control of the federal government?"

"Why should the people of the south continue to place themselves in a perpetual minority, and set themselves aside from the rest of the country politically, by following such bankrupt leadership?"
