

MEYERS QUILTS PRISON OFFICE

Resignation but two Days After Vindication by Board of Control

permitted prisoners to have other recreation than is provided by an under the usual prison environment there would be no criticism, but a hearty commendation pertaining to outside enjoyment, even though private interests benefited normally.

Spent Own Money

For Investigations

"To counterbalance the minor use of state trucks and prisoners, this has been more than equalized and the state benefited and compensated by the fact of the institution gaining by the use of my privately owned automobile, covering a period of my first two years incumbency, when transports were inadequate to meet demands. My car was operated without cost to the state yet privately owned cars used in state business are entitled to six cents per mile.

"I also made a personal inspection of the San Quentin, Folsom, Washington and New Westminster prisons at the state and at the same time paid this expense out of my own pocket."

Mr. Meyers was elected superintendent of the Oregon state penitentiary early in the administration of the late Governor Patterson. He at first refused to accept the office, but at the urging of Governor Patterson and other officials, he later agreed to assume the prison responsibility.

Hoss declared last night that under the law it would not be possible to abolish the office of superintendent of the prison, and it was said to have been suggested by Governor Meier as a means of curtailing expenses. The law provides, according to Hoss, that there shall be a superintendent, who is authorized to employ a warden, deputy warden, and other assistance as is necessary.

Purchasing Agent Talk Is Denied

Governor Meier Monday sidestepped responsibility for statements printed in the Portland newspapers and carried by press associations, to the effect that he would demand reorganization of the state's purchasing department.

"The Portland newspapers and press associations did not get that from me," Governor Meier said.

Later in the interview Governor Meier indicated that he had given the office of state purchasing agent some study.

"Everyone knows," Governor Meier said, "that you cannot employ an experienced and trained buyer for $300 a month." This is the salary now paid to Carrie Abrams, state purchasing agent.

Because of the absence of State Treasurer May the meeting of the board of control scheduled for Monday was continued until Wednesday.

Hoss reiterated the statement made Saturday that he will suggest to Governor Meier that he call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of enacting laws that will place the state penitentiary and all other state institutions now under the control of the state board, in the jurisdiction of the governor.

Hoss Successor

Won't Be Hampered

Meyers, in a second statement issued here last night said:

"My only desire is that the penitentiary shall function in an orderly and efficient manner, and that my successor will not be hampered by disorder and strife."

James Lewis, who probably will be placed in charge of the prison, was appointed warden of the institution soon after Mr. Meyers assumed the duties of superintendent.

Lewis previously had served as head of the prison under the administration of ex-Governor Olcott. He was relieved of his duties early in the Pierce administration.

In event Lewis is elected superintendent of the penitentiary Gene Halley, deputy warden, probably will be advanced to warden.

"Meyers said he had not yet made any plans for the future but probably would take a needed rest.

WORKING HOURS OF OIL FIRM REVISED

Five day Week With Short Noon Hours Provide More Leisure

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 27.—In a plan devised not only to give work to as many employees as possible, but to improve working conditions as well, J. A. Brown, president of California Petroleum Corporation of California, has just announced a revision of working hours which gives evidence of careful and thorough study of welfare work.

In some respects, the new general petroleum plan is similar to that of many other large corporations in that its primary object is to go to the fullest possible extent in relieving unemployment, but the men responsible for this move have taken advantage of an opportunity to go beyond the dollar mark by introducing phases for the sole purpose of making working conditions more pleasant.

The basis of the plan is the five day week, which will be put into effect throughout the entire Violet Ray gasoline organization on May 1.

Even the clerical departments in the general offices in the Higgins building will share in this shorter week, although the change will bring to them only one hour less per week than they are now doing. At present, they are putting in 41 hours per week, but by a revision of daily working hours, they will be reduced to forty.

About Same as Daylight Saving

By rearrangement of the office hours and making the luncheon period 30 minutes instead of an hour, the office employees will be on duty from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., which plan serves a double purpose. Not only will they have the benefit of Saturday off, but by leaving work at 4:30 in the afternoon they will virtually be enjoying daylight saving time, as it will give them a much greater amount of daylight time in which to have freedom.

That part of the General Petroleum plan which is new will be watched with keen interest, particularly by larger organizations on the coast as it is along today's popular trend, although practically all moves of this sort made heretofore have considered only the unemployed, with little or no attention being paid to benefiting those already at work.

FATAL CRASH CASE REPORTED SETTLED

The four damage suits filed against the Southern Pacific result of the Labor day crash near Turner last fall when five women were killed will not come to trial in circuit court here, it was revealed yesterday when papers were filed with the county clerk showing that a compromise had been effected between the parties.

A. E. Robertson, filed petition asking to be appointed administrator of the estate of Frankie Robertson, driver of the car which crashed, killing herself and Aylene Robertson, Inez Bennett, Betty C. Briggs and Lois Briggs. The petition stated that it was necessary to enter the Frankie Robertson estate to probate in order that compromise between the railroad company and administrators of the estates of the four other women might be made, and that this can be done until release from liability in estate of Frankie Robertson is given.

Petitioner states that no suit was filed against the railroad by the Frankie Robertson estate because she was driver of the car and no recovery was possible.

Guy Smith Joins Hole in One Club

Guy Smith, connected with a local oil company, joined the "Hole in One club" on the Salem Golf club course Sunday, sinking his drive from the eighth tee.

Officers of the club reported an exceptional patronage of the course Sunday, both of members and transients.

BETHEL, April 27.—The pupils of Bethel school made a fine showing in the Marion county spelling contest on Saturday. Scores were: eighth grade, Hilda Bahnsen, 96; seventh grade, Lorraine Strawn, 93; sixth grade, Gertrude Froehlich, 100; fifth grade, Wanda Froehlich, 100.

Western Mother Solves Problem

"MY little daughter, Aleta, caused me many anxious moments," says Mrs. H. I. Davis, 2931 N. 12th St., Kansas City, Kans. "She was underweight, didn't want to play and had very little appetite.

"She suffered constantly from colds until I thought about California Fig Syrup and decided to give her some. Fig Syrup helped Aleta remarkably. She is now strong, able to avoid colds, has a good appetite and digestion; is quite the picture of health as you can see."

For over 50 years, California Fig Syrup has been helping bilious, headachy, weak, excited babies and children. Doctors by thousands recommend this pure vegetable product. Children love its flavor. It acts gently to open the bowels in colds or children's diseases. It cleanses a child's system harmlessly and in a hurry. Bowels become regular with its use and remain so, because they are toned and strengthened by this wonderful combination of pure fig syrup and elixir of senna.

Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine.

Men and Women Here 70 or More Years Honored at Chamber Luncheon

Governor Julius L. Meier devoted his announced policy of few speeches and public appearances yesterday noon when he appeared before the Salem chamber of commerce to pay short tribute to pioneer men and women who have resided in the community 70 years or longer. The governor said he felt honored by the invitation and expressed the wish that for many years to come the chamber would repeat its invitation to pioneer men and women of Salem. Meier said he had regularly attended Portland pioneer meetings for the last 20 years.

Judge Peter H. D'Arcy, in whimsical D'Arcy style, presided at the meeting, introducing the governor and the pioneers.

He gave a special invitation to chamber of commerce members to attend Founders' day exercises next Saturday at Champeau park. Pioneers of Salem who attended the luncheon and the date when they came to the city, follow:

Mrs. S. A. Judson, Salem, 1855; Mrs. Abner Lewis, 1525 State, 1854; Mrs. L. J. Moore, 1855; Mrs. Flora Catherine Watt, 1458 Chemeketa, 1855; R. P. Boise, 825 North Summer, 1859; M. L. Jones, 570 North Winter, 1849; P. H. D'Arcy, 685 North Church, 1854; Oliver Jory, 967 South Commercial, 1859; James W. Witsie, Route 7, 1849; E. M. Kightlinger, 1258 South Commercial, 1858; Mrs. Lizzie N. Smith, 657 Center, 1849; Mrs. Sarah Barker Hutton, 596 Court, 1855; Mrs. Estelle A. Gilbert, Route 2, 1852; A. N. Moore, Salem, 1855; Mrs. Cora L. Moore, Salem, 1857; Mrs. Nellie Riley Pearson, Salem, 1849; Sarah E. Woodington, Salem, 1849, and Mrs. Ruth E. Sayre, 1365 Chemeketa, 1852.

Members of the state board were special guests of the chamber at the meeting.

That tragedy is so akin to humor that the two blends from tears to mirth and back again is a truth demonstrated all over again in the work of Charlie Chaplin in "City Lights."

The play is funny, yes, but it brings tears too, if you are a bit inclined to "enjoy a good cry" or are easily touched. Chaplin in his most amusing scenes retains at all times a bit of the tragic—enough to make his audience sympathize with him in his foolish mistakes rather than make him a laughing stock.

Such a play as "City Lights" is really good for one because in its short span it makes the observer realize that behind the silly insufficiencies of many a blundering boor there is much to appreciate of genuine good, and that there is much suffering for the poor awkward, foolish soul.

The story in itself has to do with the faith of a blind girl, played by Virginia Cherrill, in a poor chap who has a superb facility for getting himself into the wrong places at the wrong times.

The things he does for her and the ultimate result of his interest in the girl make up an excellent picture that is silent makes it just that much more unlike other current pictures. The music which accompanies the action is highly effective to take the place of the voices to which we have become so accustomed.

Don't miss "The Big Trail" now at the Grand. It is one of those classics that ranks with "Cimarron," and "The Covered Wagon."

An excellent play which shows today for the last time.

Tennis Tourney Is Planned at Leslie School

Boys and girls at the Leslie junior high school are enthusiastic over prospects of a tennis tournament for each group. Preliminary practices were started yesterday and it is hoped in a short time the teams will be chosen and competition can be entered into with players of other schools.

A tournament will be held to select the five players who will represent the school. Mrs. Madeline K. Hanna, science teacher, is directing the players. A large number turned out yesterday, and judging from the ranks Leslie will have a good team, for a number of experienced players were out the first day.

"Hot Heiress" is a funny little picture at the Capitol. It has a background which takes the observer from society bars and handsome country homes to steel riveters at work on dizzy heights. It also takes one from the love of a very rich "rotter," as the idol of his affection terms him, to the love of a brawny riveter. The idea of love overcoming all is hereby made the subject of much screen humor and dramatics.

The girl is Ona Munson, some one for you to get acquainted with for she is rather new to the screen and the hero is Ben Lyon. Mr. Lyon really looks more natural in a riveter's suit of clothes, and takes the part of a poor but honest workman in better manner than he does some of his more "elite" roles.

That tragedy is so akin to humor that the two blends from tears to mirth and back again is a truth demonstrated all over again in the work of Charlie Chaplin in "City Lights."

Fair Board to Continue Work

No Change This Year, Word At Conference With Governor Here

The Oregon state fair board will continue to function until the close of the 1931 state fair, regardless of the creation of the state agriculture department authorized by an act of the recent legislature.

This was announced following a conference of Governor Meier and members of the state fair board here Monday. Under the act of the 1931 legislature the state fair will become a part of the state agriculture department.

Governor Meier, at the outset of the conference, made it plain that he would expect a curtailment of passes.

"I expect to pay for my tickets to the state fair," Governor Meier said, "and there is no valid reason why other persons should be admitted free. It is important that we so improve our attractions at this year's fair as to insure a record-breaking attendance."

It was brought out at the conference that the premiums at the 1930 state fair exceeded the appropriation of $37,500 by several thousand dollars. Members of the fair board said that the premiums for this year's fair probably would be reduced to at least $4000.

As the result of the deficit resulting from last year's fair no material improvements will be made at the state fair plant during the current biennium. The decrease was caused by inclement weather conditions.

Members of the state fair board are Henry Crawford, A. R. Shumway, A. C. Marsters, D. O. Woodworth and C. E. Cleveland. Mrs. Ella Wilson is secretary.

Mac Dowell Club Concert Pleases

Jean Miller Rahn and Also Portland Trio add to Singers' Program

My OLIVE M. DOAK

The spring concert of the Salem MacDowell club was presented in Waller hall of Willamette university Monday night before an unusually large audience. In all a beautifully balanced and delightfully artistic program was presented.

Assisting artists were the Portland Trio, Sylvia Westman Margulis, violinist; Lora Tushnet, cellist; Ruth Bradley Kasper, pianist; and Jean Miller Rahn, contralto. Mrs. Rahn gave a group of four numbers, charming character studies, sung expressively and with delicacy. The rich depth of Mrs. Rahn's voice was especially lovely in "Rain! Rain!" by Gay. An encore was demanded and "The Cuckoo Clock" was artistically given.

The Portland Trio who have been heard in Salem before were again warmly welcomed. Each number was especially well chosen but outstandingly brilliant was Dvorak's "Dumky Trio Op. 90" the first movement of which was given with a beauty of interpretation and depth of understanding which held the audience in absolute silence. The beautiful balance and warm, sympathetic unity of the Portland Trio creates a splendid playing group.

The chorus of 42 voices under the direction of Lena Bell Tartar, sang exceedingly well. Careful modulation, reserve volume, and unity of voices showed the result of the concentrated work which the chorus and Miss Tartar have done since last fall.

Each appearance of the chorus shows increased beauty of accomplishment.

The group of early English songs were especially effective both for beauty and for proof of progress made in the year's work.

Miss Ruth Bedford as accompanist, gave the same untiring support in her accurate and beautifully sympathetic reading.

Attention was called by Miss Frances Virginia Melton to the fact that "better music" week will begin May 3 and extend to May 10 during which annually interesting programs will observe the aim of the week to "center the attention of the public upon good music."
