

MEYERS READY TO LEAVE JOB

Makes Proviso That pay be Extended to June 1; Up to Governor

(Continued from page 1)
to suffering a stroke of apoplexy at Tuesday's meeting of the board of control, had voted to accept Meyer's resignation effective June 1. Governor Meier had demanded Meyer's immediate retirement from the prison. A compromise motion offered by Hoss that Meyers retire on May 10 finally was approved. "Kay did not vote on this motion."

"While I had desired to continue at the prison until June 1," Meyer declared, "recent events have made it impossible for me to proceed with certain improvements which are under way."

UNION PACIFIC SLASHES

ROUND TRIP FARES to about 1¢ PER MILE

Between all points on Union Pacific (and important connecting lines) in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, (west of and including Butte and Havre), Utah, Nevada, California and Wyoming (Gardner and west), and some points in British Columbia. Minimum adult fare 50c.

GOING: MAY 8 or 9
RETURNING: MAY 14
(Home by midnight that date)

TO DESTINATIONS	100 MILES	200 MILES	300 MILES	1000 MILES
AWAY	2.16	4.32	10.80	21.60
AWAY	2.16	4.32	10.80	21.60

Children half fare. Baggage checked. Tickets good on all Union Pacific trains (including the Portland Road) and in all cars. In Standard and Tourist Sleepers, add regular sleeping car charges.

UNION PACIFIC

Ask local agent for details

There is nothing that I could hope to accomplish in face of the governor's opposition. I consider that a continuation of my presence at the prison would prove detrimental to the welfare of the institution."

Board Personnel Change is Factor
What will happen in case Governor Meier refuses to concur with Hoss in his recommendation that Meyer retire May 1 and receive compensation until June 1, was the question that resulted in considerable speculation here today. With the death of Mr. Kay the personnel of the board is now limited to Hoss and Governor Meier. Officials said a deadlock probably would mean that Meyer would continue at the prison until May 10, without receiving any vacation pay.

There also is the possibility, it was said, that Governor Meier, upon appointing Mr. Kay's successor, would call a meeting of the board of control and remove Mr. Meyer irrespective of the action taken by the board at Tuesday's meeting.

Colonel W. B. Bartram, for the past five years supervisor of the state flax industry, will retire from the prison May 1. Bartram's resignation also was demanded by Governor Meier, who received the support of the late State Treasurer Kay.

Officials said that conditions were normal at the penitentiary and that virtually all of the convicts were employed. There have been no demonstrations at the prison since last Wednesday night.

POLING RETURNS TO CHURCH HERE

(Continued from page 1)
years. For 25 years he served as superintendent.

Rev. Poling was prime mover in establishment in 1887 of the Lafayette seminary, of which Dr. W. C. Kanter was first president. In 1895, along with superintendency of the church, he became president of the seminary and continued until it was merged in 1900 with LaCrosse academy at Dallas. The merged institution was raised to college rank, and Rev. Poling served that as president from 1900 to 1906, continuing as superintendent also.

He resigned in 1906 and was called to LeMars, Iowa, where he served from 1906 to 1908 as president of the Western Union college, Evangelical. Because of ill health and extreme climate, he elected to return to Oregon, where he served until the war, when he went east. After the

COMING TO HOLLYWOOD Sunday
FIRST SHOWING IN SALEM
KLARA BOW
"NO LIMIT"
A GAYEST PICTURE

So easy!
Just rinse, dry thoroughly and it's clean
Your dry cleaner deserves your patronage. Call him for all important jobs.
But if you're caught in a rush just dip slips, ties, underthings, etc. in a bowl of Union Cleaning Solvent—then rinse and dry thoroughly. Note how clean they are!
Union Cleaning Solvent can aid, too, in general cleaning—sink, bathtub, bowl, woodwork, floor.
Don't be without it. Get it from your nearest dealer.
UNION Cleaning Solvent
A Product of the UNION Oil Company

GREYHOUND TRAVEL SALE
MAY 7-8-9-10*
RETURN LIMIT MAY 14
Incredibly low round trip fares (much less than the usual one way) to points over entire Pacific Greyhound System. On sale for 2 days only.
EXAMPLES
Round Trip excursion to Portland $1.05
San Francisco 10.90
Beginning May 1, Pacific Greyhound offers low round-trip excursions on sale every day in the week.
Similar Reductions to All Points
TERMINAL HOTEL SENATOR Phone 4151

PACIFIC GREYHOUND LINES
MAY 7-8-9-10*
RETURN LIMIT MAY 14
Incredibly low round trip fares (much less than the usual one way) to points over entire Pacific Greyhound System. On sale for 2 days only.
EXAMPLES
Round Trip excursion to Portland $1.05
San Francisco 10.90
Beginning May 1, Pacific Greyhound offers low round-trip excursions on sale every day in the week.
Similar Reductions to All Points
TERMINAL HOTEL SENATOR Phone 4151

The Call Board..

By OLIVE M. DOAK

HOLLYWOOD
Today — William Powell in "For the Defense."
Friday — Harr. Langdon in "See America Th'at."

WARREN'S ELSINORE
Today — Edward Everett Horton in "Kiss Me Again."

GRAND
Today — Lois Moran in "The Dancers."
Friday — Victor McLaglen in "A Devil With Women."

WARNER'S CAPITOL
Today — Irene Dunne in "Bachelor Apartment."

A lot worse pictures have been seen in Salem than "Bachelor Apartment," despite the sound of the title. Just why titles such as we have been having a deluge of are used is one of the mysteries of the minds behind screen play production. "Hot Hellfire," "The Queen's Bed," "Men Call It Love," "Illit" and a few other choice titles leave one wondering just what the title writers think about when they are not writing titles.

To go back to "Bachelor Apartment." It is funny and while a bit risqué still there are really no lines of which to disapprove, and the plot has some truly good food for thought.

Lowell Sherman and Irene Dunne play splendidly realistic parts. While Miss Dunne is not the same type as in "Cimarron" yet she has the same sincerity and finish to her acting. Yes, there are some excellent laughs and some good thoughts in "Bachelor Apartment," now at the Capitol.

SALEM PAYS FINAL HONOR TO T. B. KAY

(Continued from page 1)
of gloom Wednesday, and the expressions of sorrow over the passing of its leading citizen were manifold. At the Kay home hundreds of telegrams and letters came bearing words of sympathy and expressions of esteem for Mr. Kay from leaders all over the northwest as well as from those in humble station. Mrs. Kay, stunned by the shock of the sudden passing of her husband, bore up well during the day. Friends of long standing came to pay their respects and to offer the comforts which they could in the hour of bereavement.

Again!
Southern Pacific
DOLLAR DAYS
$1 FOR EACH 100 MILES*
Cent-a-mile for roundtrips over Mothers' Day
MAY 8 and 9
FRIDAY & SATURDAY
Good on all trains. Be back by midnight following Thursday

No better opportunity for a family reunion than Mothers' Day—May 10... no better time to visit friends and relatives than right now.
"Dollar Day" tickets are again on sale to all places on our Pacific Lines. Children from 5 to 11 ride at half the Dollar Day fares. Children under 5, free.

Portland	.90
Eugene	1.40
Marshfield	5.05
San Francisco	15.05
Los Angeles	23.40

*Approximate

Southern Pacific
Buy tickets now—at any Southern Pacific ticket office.
City Ticket Office Tel. 4642
Passenger Depot Tel. 4408

O. S. C. REPLIES TO UNIVERSITY

Unfair Insinuations Made In Brief, is Claim From Corvallis

Charging that the brief filed recently by the University of Oregon with the state board of higher education, contained certain insinuations and innuendoes unfair to the Oregon State college, the latter institution in a supplemental brief filed with the board Wednesday, called attention to alleged inaccuracies and took the university to task for some of its statements.

"Certain charges and insinuations in the university brief challenge a reply," read the supplemental brief. "While many of them are non-essential in themselves, utterly unsupported by evidence, and obviously meretricious, the mass of them, taken together, constitutes so formidable an implication of unfair tactics, low standards and unworthy objectives on the part of the college that they may possibly mislead the uninformed if not disposed of."

Notes "Sweeping" Statements Made
In reading the introduction of the university's brief in particular, one is struck with the sweeping character of the statements made, and with the apparent inclusiveness with which almost all of the recommendations of the survey are therein accepted, only to be modified or annulled in the more specific terms of the separate briefs.

"One is so struck with the facility with which the introduction applies to the college and its work, or the relations between the college and the university, such invidious terms as pretext, disguised, smuggled, forbidden fields, undue expansion, exaggerated development, feverish rivalry and irritating situation. Without exception, too, these implications are flung out with no supporting evidence whatsoever."

"The university's contention that business administration is more closely allied with the liberal arts and sciences than it is with the professions, and that the technical professions resting upon the physical sciences, cannot stand the test of close analysis."

"The original school of commerce brief submitted by the college brings out the fallacy of such reasoning, and points out that since the business executive is as much concerned with the manipulation of materials as he is with human contacts, it is as important for the student in training for such executive positions to obtain a command of the physical sciences and the technical professions resting thereon, as it is that he should understand his social environment."

"An intimate relation exists between business and certain of the other professions, and the numbers students are desiring courses which consist of combinations of business with some other field of endeavor, such as law, the physical sciences, etc."

"The manner in which the university would save the state $100,000 makes interesting reading. Such a saving, could it be made, would amount to more than the total budget for the biennium of the university's school of business administration, which was $90,223 for the last biennium. The absurdity of such an assertion should be evident on the face of it, without further argument."

"The university has raised the question of transfer. It may be pertinent for the college to consider the effects of transferring the school of business administration at university to the college, and merging it with the school of commerce on the Corvallis campus. Just how indispensable is the university school of business administration to the rest of the campus?"

Holds Course Is Not Essential
"We note that the university offers in this school only four service courses. We note, too, that courses in business administration are required only in political science and the school of education."

Answers Objection To Moving Sciences
Replying to the university brief protesting against the survey commission's proposal to eliminate from the university the upper division and graduate work in science, the supplemental brief submitted by the college, reads in part:

"The university presents five

objections to the proposed transfer of upper division science. It should be remembered, to begin with, that the survey commission's dominant principle is that all the state institutions of higher learning should become a part of one great system. This will make them all, in effect, one institution. Thus the university's objections largely disappear.

"Sound educational policy warrants the assignment of science to the state college."

"The fear of loss of prestige disappears when all higher education is regarded as a unified system."

"The university's contention that it needs upper division science for its pre-medical work belongs where science is allocated."

"Upper division science is not nearly so important for the university for its major students in the sciences and art as it is for the college for its major students in applied sciences and technical curricula."

"The transfer of upper division science to the college would affect greater savings than the university estimates."

Referring to the university's charge of rivalry and confusion, in its discussion of journalism, the supplemental brief continued:

"This is a hallucination brought on by a grievance which the university has held for years against imaginary duplication and expansion in the college offerings in journalism."

"The college entertains no spirit of rivalry nor has made any attempt to confuse public thought. The one aim in the department of industrial journalism has been to meet the needs of the students. The department has been too busy at this job to indulge in petty grievances and rivalry."

"The university brief infers that there are two schools of journalism in the state. This is of course wilful exaggeration. The college has maintained merely a service department in industrial journalism. Evidence to prove that there is a precedent in support of offering journalism as a department in the curriculum of a land grant college is found in the college brief filed April 18."

"Exception is taken to the gross inaccuracies in the statement of the university having to do with the cost of industrial journalism. The actual cost of instruction in industrial journalism for the two year period 1929-31 was $14,043 or a trifle more than $7000 a year. Is this an excessive amount for the instruction of more than 400 students in service in service courses and the supervision of 300 students a year in college publication work?"

Physical Education Course Defended
The supplementary brief, in referring to physical education said in part:

"Criticism has been directed in the past toward members of the physical education profession largely in regard to their unscientific approach to the work in which they are engaged. It should be clearly understood that the physical educator is dealing with human mechanism. He is attempting to shape this organism to some desired end. Hence, unless the physical director is provided with a scientific background which acquaints him thoroughly with the organism with which he is dealing, the desired end cannot be accomplished in an intelligent manner."

Referring to music, the supplemental brief read:

"It is apparent that both the survey and the university agree in recognizing the importance of music on the campus of the college."

"That the university sees no objection in students in the college receiving private lessons, for fees, in music of any kind or grade provided such instruction is given by members of the university music faculty."

"That the scope of the work in music available at the college is therefore not in itself objectionable. The university merely objects to the arrangement permitting the college music faculty to give individual lessons for fees."

"In view of the fact that the present college arrangement is more satisfactory than anything suggested seems likely to prove, and is much more economical, there seems to be no reason why any further restrictions upon its music work should be imposed upon the college."

Answers Objection To Moving Sciences
Replying to the university brief protesting against the survey commission's proposal to eliminate from the university the upper division and graduate work in science, the supplemental brief submitted by the college, reads in part:

"The university presents five

objections to the proposed transfer of upper division science. It should be remembered, to begin with, that the survey commission's dominant principle is that all the state institutions of higher learning should become a part of one great system. This will make them all, in effect, one institution. Thus the university's objections largely disappear.

"Sound educational policy warrants the assignment of science to the state college."

"The fear of loss of prestige disappears when all higher education is regarded as a unified system."

"The university's contention that it needs upper division science for its pre-medical work belongs where science is allocated."

"Upper division science is not nearly so important for the university for its major students in the sciences and art as it is for the college for its major students in applied sciences and technical curricula."

objections to the proposed transfer of upper division science. It should be remembered, to begin with, that the survey commission's dominant principle is that all the state institutions of higher learning should become a part of one great system. This will make them all, in effect, one institution. Thus the university's objections largely disappear.

"Sound educational policy warrants the assignment of science to the state college."

"The fear of loss of prestige disappears when all higher education is regarded as a unified system."

"The university's contention that it needs upper division science for its pre-medical work belongs where science is allocated."

"Upper division science is not nearly so important for the university for its major students in the sciences and art as it is for the college for its major students in applied sciences and technical curricula."

"The transfer of upper division science to the college would affect greater savings than the university estimates."

Referring to the university's charge of rivalry and confusion, in its discussion of journalism, the supplemental brief continued:

"This is a hallucination brought on by a grievance which the university has held for years against imaginary duplication and expansion in the college offerings in journalism."

"The college entertains no spirit of rivalry nor has made any attempt to confuse public thought. The one aim in the department of industrial journalism has been to meet the needs of the students. The department has been too busy at this job to indulge in petty grievances and rivalry."

"The university brief infers that there are two schools of journalism in the state. This is of course wilful exaggeration. The college has maintained merely a service department in industrial journalism. Evidence to prove that there is a precedent in support of offering journalism as a department in the curriculum of a land grant college is found in the college brief filed April 18."

"Exception is taken to the gross inaccuracies in the statement of the university having to do with the cost of industrial journalism. The actual cost of instruction in industrial journalism for the two year period 1929-31 was $14,043 or a trifle more than $7000 a year. Is this an excessive amount for the instruction of more than 400 students in service in service courses and the supervision of 300 students a year in college publication work?"

Physical Education Course Defended
The supplementary brief, in referring to physical education said in part:

"Criticism has been directed in the past toward members of the physical education profession largely in regard to their unscientific approach to the work in which they are engaged. It should be clearly understood that the physical educator is dealing with human mechanism. He is attempting to shape this organism to some desired end. Hence, unless the physical director is provided with a scientific background which acquaints him thoroughly with the organism with which he is dealing, the desired end cannot be accomplished in an intelligent manner."

Referring to music, the supplemental brief read:

"It is apparent that both the survey and the university agree in recognizing the importance of music on the campus of the college."

"That the university sees no objection in students in the college receiving private lessons, for fees, in music of any kind or grade provided such instruction is given by members of the university music faculty."

"That the scope of the work in music available at the college is therefore not in itself objectionable. The university merely objects to the arrangement permitting the college music faculty to give individual lessons for fees."

"In view of the fact that the present college arrangement is more satisfactory than anything suggested seems likely to prove, and is much more economical, there seems to be no reason why any further restrictions upon its music work should be imposed upon the college."

Answers Objection To Moving Sciences
Replying to the university brief protesting against the survey commission's proposal to eliminate from the university the upper division and graduate work in science, the supplemental brief submitted by the college, reads in part:

"The university presents five

objections to the proposed transfer of upper division science. It should be remembered, to begin with, that the survey commission's dominant principle is that all the state institutions of higher learning should become a part of one great system. This will make them all, in effect, one institution. Thus the university's objections largely disappear.

"Sound educational policy warrants the assignment of science to the state college."

"The fear of loss of prestige disappears when all higher education is regarded as a unified system."

"The university's contention that it needs upper division science for its pre-medical work belongs where science is allocated."

"Upper division science is not nearly so important for the university for its major students in the sciences and art as it is for the college for its major students in applied sciences and technical curricula."

Lipps to Leave Today For Post At Sacramento

O. H. Lipps, who has been superintendent of the Chemawa Indian school for some years, will leave today for Sacramento where he will be stationed by the Indian service. Mr. Lipps, who is recognized as one of the leaders of work among the Indians of the west will supervise adult education in the district from the Oregon line south as far as Fresno.

Mrs. Lipps and the children will join him after school closes. They will retain their home here, and hope to return to Salem after Mr. Lipps retires from the government service.

150 Lose Lives As Coop Burns
One hundred and fifty baby chicks were killed in the flames of their burning coop, at 1541 North Front street shortly before 8 o'clock last night. The fire department arrived in time to prevent the coop being completely razed. The roof was destroyed and the walls charred.

J. Humfeld is the owner.

Hotel Bowlers Beat Mark Set By Salem Elks

PORTLAND, Ore., April 29.—(AP)—The Imperial hotel five-man team took the lead in the open event of the annual north-west international bowling congress here tonight.

The Imperial quintet raised the total to 2721, depositing the Salem Elks, who forged to the top early in the congress. The Elks won the out-of-town championship.

Wife of Former Ambassador Dies

CAP FERRAT, France, April 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Whitelaw Ogden Reid, widow of Whitelaw Reid, former ambassador from the United States to Great Britain, died at 9:50 a. m. today at "Rosemary," the home of her daughter, Lady John Ward.

DIVORCE PLANS OFF
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 29.—(AP)—Divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Charlie Marion Lombard Cobb April 15 against Tyrus Raymond Cobb, former major league star, were withdrawn today.

WARNER BROS. CAPITOL THEATRE
Coming TOMORROW!
SPARKLING HUMAN GAY AS SPRING TIME! BUBBLING WITH LAUGHTER BRIMMING WITH HEART TUGS FLOODING A MILLION HEARTS WITH SUMMER SUNSHINE
LAUGH AND GET RICH
with EDNA MAY OLIVER
Set the World Laughing In "Cimarron" and "Cracked Nuts"
DOROTHY LEE HUGH HERBERT

TODAY at 2 P.M.
Come and laugh a few hours away... a comedy so delightful... so deliciously amusing... so wildly funny... that you will call it the best of the year!
EDWARD EVERETT HORTON
KISS ME AGAIN
Gay laughter... gay love... gay ladies with BERNICE CLAIRE • WALTER PIDGEON FRANK McHUGH • Directed by WILLIAM A. SEITZ
MAKE WARNER BROS. THEATRES YOUR WEEKLY HABIT... MATINEE 2 TO 5 P. M.
WARNER BROS. ELSINORE THEATRE

LAST TIMES TODAY!
Here's Year's Gayest Party
Bachelor Apartment
IRENE DUNNE LOWELL SHERMAN MAE MURRAY WARNER BROS. CAPITOL

It's On You!
You're Through!
THE FINGER POINTS
Tonight is Family Night
Friday-Saturday Victor McLaglen in "A Devil With Women"

THE DANCERS
LOIS MORAN WALTER BYRON PHILLIPS HOLMES
GRAND THEATRE

PACIFIC GREYHOUND LINES