

FINAL EULOGY PAID TOM KAY

Official Pomp Lacking but Many Hundreds of his Friends Present

ket was opened and the great assembly was permitted to file by for a last look on the face of the former state treasurer. In the line were men of high and lowly estate, part of the vast company who has known and respected Mr. Kay. The number attending the funeral was estimated at 1500.

Active pallbearers were: Fred H. Paulus, Rex Davis, Paul B. Wallace, Henry W. Meyers, W. I. Staley, M. L. Welder. Honorary pallbearers included: A. M. Bush, Maj. Gen. George A. White, Secretary of State Hal E. Hoss; J. K. Weatherford, Sr.; Albany; J. C. Alsworth, Portland; C. E. Ingalls, Corvallis.

Floral offerings, great in number and elaborate in design, transformed the front of the church. Wreaths, floral blankets, sprays and special designs in great profusion were displayed about the altar rail, and in front of the platform. A floral shrine emblem hung from the organ pipes. One large piece was from the employ of the Thomas Kay woolen mills; another was a blanket of flowers made by inmates of the penitentiary. Others were from lodges, state institutions, organizations, business corporations. Mr. Kay was identified with, as well as individual offerings from friends and political associates. One wreath was the gift of Lake, Harney and Malheur counties, the remotest portion of the state from Salem.

Prominent Citizens Present at Funeral

Among those who attended from outside of Salem were: U. S. Senator Frederick Steiwer, Portland; Senators Joe Dunne, I. E. Gervais, W. E. Burke, Newberg; C. E. Eberhard, LaGrande. Representatives: J. K. Weatherford, Jr., Albany; John Manning, Portland; Ralph Williams, national committeeman; Jack Day, United States marshal; George Neuner, United States attorney; E. F. Carlton, George Guild, James McCarron, O. Lauergerd, C. C. Chapman, E. F. Haney, Nathan Straus, Floyd Cook, Phil Metcalf, Paul H. Stoot, Arthur Callan, J. E. Latourrette, ex-judge O. P. Coshov, Portland; Albert Abraham, Roseburg; E. Koppe, Eugene. Wooten, Mills, Bortland; Frank Settlemyer, John P. Hunt, Woodburn; H. J. Elliott, Perrydale; M. F. Hardesty, Seaside; Dr. McNary, Pendleton; Jay Lewis, Rev. Matthews, Corvallis; A. E. Mason, Albany; Sam Garland, Lebanon.

PHI DELTA KAPPA CHAPTER FORMED

MONMOUTH, April 30 — Dr. A. S. Jensen was elected secretary of a chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, professional fraternity of education, organized Saturday at Monmouth, which is to serve Portland and this section. Other officers chosen were C. A. Fry, principal of oosevelt high school, Portland, president; H. H. Dirksen of Grant high school, Portland, vice president.

Professor Nelson Bessing of the University of Oregon represented the national president of the fraternity at the ceremonies at which 55 educators from various sections of the state were pledged as charter members of Sigma Alumni chapter. Superintendent C. A. Howard presided as banquet toastmaster.

McCoy Woman To Los Angeles

MCCOY, April 30 — Mrs. Gus Prang left Tuesday for Los Angeles, Calif., where she will join her husband, Mr. Prang who is in California for his health. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prang, Miss Helen Prang is staying at home during her parents' absence. She is a teacher in the Parish Junior high in Salem and will drive back and forth to her work. The women members of the McCoy grange served a delicious banquet Wednesday evening to the Kiwanis club from Dallas. A delightful dinner was served and enjoyed by everyone.

Mickey Mouse NOTES

By Zolite Volchok
Well, Mico, here I am, writing again, after two weeks silence during which I have been helping the managers work out new ideas for you mice, and as I write I can truthfully say there is to be plenty of new stunts of every description. So be sure and attend every meeting of the "Mickey Mouse Club" at Warner Bros. Casino theatre.

All the prizes for the Mickey and Minnie art contest will be awarded this Saturday and there's going to be prizes galore.

I see before me hundreds of drawings of Mickey and Minnie Mouse which are being turned in every day. A week from tomorrow is the end of the contest, so if you plan to hand a picture in, do so immediately.

Soon we are going to have a pet parade for all the members of the Mickey Mouse club, and prizes will go to the owners of best dressed pets. Watch for it.

New officers will be elected May 2, remember every one of you Mice, come; from now on during Mickey Mouse performances all officers will sit on the stage, and will also be admitted to the matinee free.

We want more entertainment from our own members, so if you can sing, dance, or stand on your head sign up in the office as you may be a natural born actor. Also remember that this is your club, so if any ideas about what you would like to do during the Mickey Mouse club matinee comes to your head let us know, as they may be worthy.

All I would have to say in this paragraph is Joyce Chambers from Barbara Burns school and you'd know what I meant; right away you would think of a beautiful and talented little actress who entertained us last week.

Again Chief Lasswell has a real program for all the mice; "Laugh and Get Rich"—something real funny.

Our Mickey Mouse in "Traffic Troubles." It took a long time to make this picture and it's a real good one. And a special feature for fat boys.

So long M M C
Zolite.

LYNX AND BEAVER TRAPPED ON FARM

G. D. Myers of Nehalem brought to the county clerk's office Wednesday skins of two animals, a large beaver and lynx, which he had trapped on his farm. For both he collected but a dollar bounty, as none is offered on beaver, and only a dollar on lynx.

A large rodent claim was presented yesterday by Roy Todd of Jefferson route 1, who brought in 219 gophers and enough other small scaps to bring his bounty to $23.50. These scaps were said to be more "high water" trappings, as a large number of these small animals are driven onto high dry spots in the Jefferson and Independence section during the flood waters.

THREE SCHOOLS TO HOLD MAY EVENTS

Nieswander, piper; Burt Dutton, keeper of the chimies; Mary Gelmunder, mistress of the dairies; Francis Lindsey, keeper of the grounds; Glen Williams, night watchman; Robert Boatwright and Leon Spalding, sons; Doris Creson, queen's cook; Wayne Curry, carpenter; Jean Probert, lady of the fountain; Omer Burgess, Alfred Fropp, Wallace Eisenbrandt and Henry McClain, farmer; Ivy Sweeney and Margery Friem, flower girls; Lucretia McClain, queen. A number of dances will be given.

At McKinley, the program will carry through the idea of the "Ship of Health", with the entire school to participate. Ninety-two students will be awarded the heralds of health button at the grand march.

HOSPITAL HERE MORSE'S TOPIC

"Bloodless" Knife is new Possession; Support Of Public Urged

Equipment of and financial condition of the Salem General hospital, which he declared is owned by all the residents of Salem, were discussed before the Lions club yesterday noon by Dr. W. E. Morse, local physician, who has been a member of the hospital staff since it was founded 25 years ago.

Dr. Morse told of a so-called "bloodless" or cautery knife, a small flat wire instrument which cuts by electric spark, which has been loaned to the hospital by the eastern manufacturers. The "knife," while not entirely bloodless, is especially important in operations for cancer.

The principle of its operation is a high frequency current with voltage enough to kill were not the amperage low. There is almost no heat. A current connects the coagulating current, thus saving considerable time if a large number of blood vessels are involved in the operation. It does away with trying many vessels. Dr. Morse indicated that its use is successful.

The general hospital here has the finest night operating light in the country, excepting none, Dr. Morse said. The x-ray equipment, laboratory and operating tables are all expensive and valuable additions to the hospital, and only recently a fracture table has been ordered.

Dr. Morse said that within a short time the hospital hopes to receive full stadarization from the American College of Surgeons, under which program it has been working and building for the past three years. He desired the fact that not a single Salem resident has left a bequest to the city's hospital and that only $1000 — that contributed by the janitor — is in the hospital endowment fund. It is this lack of public interest and support which has kept the hospital from doing charity work, he doctor said.

SUPPLY CLERK FOR SCHOOLS PROPOSED

Proposal that the Salem school board create position of school supply clerk and place handling of a number of routine matters on ordering, checking and distribution of supplies for all the schools in the clerk's hands, was made at the school board meeting this week by Mrs. Roy Keene, director.

Mrs. Keene suggested that such a step would relieve the city superintendent of a great deal of small business and leave him free for more important matters. It was also suggested that such an assistant should be given charge of the hundreds of free textbooks which the school will own and must keep check on beginning this fall.

Board members approved the plan and suggested that it be given further consideration. Members seemed to be reluctant, however, to create any new position which will call for expenditure of funds.

Supt. George Hug said that while he liked to know what supplies were ordered and where distribution was made, such a move would relieve him of meeting a great many persons who had things to sell, and that he would not be adverse to the move.

Prexy-Elect at Whitman is Out Due to Conduct

WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 30 — (AP) — A petition bearing the names of 300 Whitman college students, asking the reinstatement of Kenneth Norberg, Lewiston, Idaho, college body president-elect, was given to the board of deans tonight.

Norberg was suspended Tuesday for the remainder of the college year because of "unseemly conduct and damage to private property."

Under the Dome . . .

Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's state government

A hush fell over the state capitol buildings yesterday afternoon. There was no activity. Offices were closed and blinds drawn. All business was officially suspended during the time of the funeral of one of the members of the official family, in fact one who may be even called the father — Thomas B. Kay.

Today a new state treasurer will be appointed, and today selections again will rule the state house. Business of state must go on. The new officer will sit in the chair occupied 15 years by a great man. That chair will be hard to fill.

Many familiar faces were seen in Salem yesterday, persons who came from all over the state to attend the funeral of Tom Kay. U. S. Senator Frederick Steiwer was among those here. Ralph Williams, national republican committeeman; and Floyd Cook, state republican chairman, were in attendance at the funeral.

General Butler is coming to Oregon after May 12, a news dispatch stated yesterday. It seems almost certain he will arrive at Salem, as some mail has already been received for him. Several letters for the general have been delivered to the governor's office where they are being hid for his arrival.

QUEEN TO APPEAR AT GLEE CONCERT

Queen Betty I of Willamette university's May Day festivities for 1931 will enter the Elsinore theatre with her attendants at 8:30 o'clock tonight. She will enter amidst a flourish of trumpets from the stage.

The audience will stand as she enters the auditorium and remain standing until the queen and her attendants have been seated in the space reserved for them on the mezzanine floor. She will be surrounded by 148 Willamette students who will act as a guard of honor.

The entire mezzanine floor and part of the balcony and lower floor will be occupied by Willamette students, friends and guests. These will join in singing university songs led by Miss Helen Cochran, song queen of the university and Edith Findlay, pianist.

Among other numbers in the concert are four sacred songs which will be given by the singers in vestments. Another song, the last of routine matter, is "The Moon," to be illustrated by Cameron Marshall, director, while the club sings. Special on the program will be "Concert Polka" a trumpet trio, by Wesley Roeder, Percy Sweet and Gus Klempel.

The concert will include the following numbers: "Give a Man a Horse he Can Ride," O'Hara; "Galloping Dick," Bervald; "Morning," Speaks; "Heah Dom Bells," McCosh; "Uncle Remus," Homer; "Standing My Name," Burleigh; "La Menestrier," Wel-mawski; a violin solo by Verne Wilson; "Just For Today," Siewer; "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears," MacDermid, incidental solo by Lawrence Deacon; "Worship of God in Nature," Beethoven, Robert Magin at the organ; "Mother O'Mine," Hour; "Deep River," Burleigh, violin obligato by Verne Wilson.

TREASURER TO BE APPOINTED

Herbert Gordon Another of Leading Prospects as Situation Viewed

will be called upon to make. It carries ex officio membership in the board of control about which all the figures in recent weeks has centered. The board has control of most of the state institutions and several of the executive departments. Gov. Meier has sought to impose his own policies and to set up his own appointments in offices under the board. He has also tried to institute a new purchasing system wherein the board would supervise the purchase of each item of supplies for use by the state. Some of his policies have met with some opposition from Secretary Hoss and the late Treasurer Kay. New Gov. Meier can pick a man who will be in accord with him and thus he will dominate the board.

DAVIS WILL HEAD FIRE PREVENTION

Lester B. Davis, employed as statistician in the state fire marshal's department since May, 1927, Thursday was appointed deputy state fire marshal in charge of inspection and fire prevention work. The appointment was announced by A. H. Averill, state fire marshal.

Mr. Davis came to Oregon 23 years ago and served during the Spanish-American war in the Philippines with the Second United States volunteers. He originated the Oregon Blue book under Frank W. Benson, then secretary of state, and assisted in the issuance of the Oregon Almanac, which was published in 1913 and 1914. He has been active in fire prevention work since 1918, at which time he was employed in the fire marshal's department.

Mr. Davis left this position in 1920 to serve as cashier under O. P. Hoff, ex-state treasurer. He resigned this position in 1921 to accept the appointment as deputy fire marshal in arson in investigation work, and served in this capacity until May 1, 1923. In 1927 he again returned to the fire marshal's department, with special duties in fire prevention work.

Mr. Davis is secretary of the Oregon State Fire Chiefs' association.

Today — Edna May Oliver in "Laugh and Get Rich."

You will never recognize Edward Everett Horton in "Kiss Me Again," film feature at Warner Bros. Elsinore today and tomorrow. His voice is the same but in looks he is just not the man whom the horse chased about the tree in "The Hotshot."

He is the same amusing character, however, even though his role is so different from others taken by him. He is dressed in a charming military uniform, as are most of the men who appear in the picture, and he is as good looking as Walter Pidgeon, but he can not sing like the latter. Pidgeon has a perfectly delightful singing voice for the vitaphone. Bernice Claire, too, has a beautiful voice, as well as a lovely face and figure. Her acting has no very great depth but she proves delightful in this colorful, amusing and sweet love story.

Fred Cook Dies In California; Services Here

Fred W. Cook, one-time resident of Salem, died in Southern Pacific hospital at San Francisco, Calif., Thursday, according to information received by Terwilliger Funeral home. He was a past master of Salem Lodge No. 4, A. F. and A. M. While in San Francisco he worked on the Southern Pacific switch gang. Later he worked at Tigard; six weeks ago he was taken to the southern hospital.

The remains will arrive in Salem tonight and funeral will be held Monday at an hour to be announced later by Terwilliger's.
