everything that is placed on our tables has had ome kind of ection to insure not only food free from harmful becter-

but also free of hemical impurities. At times to great lengths:

By C. C. DAUER, M.D.
Marion County Dept. of Health
How many people know what is being done by the local, state and federal authorities for protection

In Salem the milk supply is proto determine whether or not the animals are diseased; milk must be handled in such a way as to satisfy certain requirements be-fore it can be distributed; cream must be pasteurized before being

Much of the meat we eat is inspected in the slaughter houses by destroyed and condemned meat

Recently a man in a cer in city became ill with ptomaine poisoning which was caused by a certain canned food. The United States investigated, found where the food

had received any of this product

I esterdays

Town Talks from The Statesman of Earlier Days

May 2, 1906

a visit to Forest Grove.

The Marion county tax increase this year is 26 per cent, and the Polk county increase is

Daily I hought

34 per cent, official records show.

cannot be sold when once con-

sold or made into butter.

the Oregon States man

"No Favor Sways Us; No Fear Shall Awe" From First Statesman, March 28, 1851 THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING CO. CHARLES A. SPRAGUE, SHELDON F. SACKETT, Publishers CHARLES A. SPRAGUE - - - Editor-Manager SHELDON F. SACKETT - - - Managing Editor

Member of the Associated Press The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in its paper.

Pacific Coast Advertising Representatives: Arthur W. Stypes, Inc., Portland, Security Bldg. Francisco, Sharon Bldg.; Los Angeles, W. Pac. Bldg. Eastern Advertising Representatives: Ford-Parsons-Stocher, Inc., New York, 171 Madison Ave.; Chicago, 350 N. Michigan Ave.

Entered at the Postoffice at Salom, Oregon, as Second-Class Matter: Published every morning except Monday. Business office, 215 S. Commercial Street.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Mail Subscription Rates, in Advance, Within Oregon: Daily and Sunday, 1 Mo. 56 cents; 3 Mo. $1.25 6 Mo. $2.25; 1 year $4.00. Elsewhere 50 cents per Mo. or $5.00 for 1 year in advance.

By City Carrier: 50 cents a month; $5.50 a year in advance. Per Copy 2 cents. On trains and News Stands 5 cents.

Holman for Treasurer

DUFUS HOLMAN for state treasurer. A lot of politicians will put a clothes pin on their nose when they hear that. They do not like Rufus. He has been an outsider and a cantankerous outsider. He doesn't know enough to stay outside in the cold rain; and politicians do federal authorities to see that the not like such ignorance or rebelliousness on the part of an meat of diseased animals is not

Rufus has kicked at the door. When the boys inside turned the key in the latch and pulled down the blinds, Our grocery stores, markets and other such establishments are in-Rufus would get mad and call names and make faces; and the boys on the inside didn't like that. He should his known better than that, been a good doggie and wagged his tail when the master cuffed him. Then some time he might get a little of the gravy to keep him from political starvacumulate. Condemned to accumulate. Condemned foodstuffs are sprayed with kerosene stuffs are sprayed with kerosene the boys on the inside didn't like that. He should have

So Rufus has been obstreperous. He has been violent in So Rufus has been obstreperous. He has been violent in or some other substance so that his denunciations. The Oregonian was the chief victim of it cannot be sold. Restaurants and his malediction. When the little fire was started for the hotels are inspected and the emcandidacy of George W. Joseph there was Rufus Holman ployes are examined for presence feeding the flames. When the insiders were laughing over of any communicable diseases. the Joseph candidacy and quarreling among themselves over Norblad and Corbett, Holman was in the inner circle of the loyal, he and Hanzen the only experienced assistants that Joseph had. Now Holman is on the inside—and those for- public health service immediately merly enjoying the warmth and the luxury of political merly enjoying the warmth and the luxury of political was originally packed, found what power, they are on the outside, and great is the wailing and dealers throughout the country gnashing of teeth.

We think Rufus Holman will make a very capable state treasurer. Unless we are mistaken he will be no mere rubber stamp for the governor. Holman has some political title and standing in his own right. He is not a political jelly-fish. His conspicuous service was as county commissioner of had received any of this product which had been packed at the same time, and telegrams were sent out to all these dealers requesting them to destroy or return any of the product that they fish. His conspicuous service was as county commissioner of had received any of this product which had been packed at the same time, and telegrams were sent out to all these dealers requesting them to destroy or return any of the product which had been packed at the same time, and telegrams were sent out to all these dealers requesting them to destroy or return any of the product which had been packed at the same time, and telegrams were sent out to all these dealers requesting them to destroy or return any of the product which had been packed at the same time, and telegrams were sent out to all these dealers requesting them to destroy or return any of the product which had been packed at the same time, and telegrams were sent out to all these dealers requesting them to destroy or return any of the product which had been packed at the same time, and telegrams were sent out to all these dealers requesting them to destroy or return any of the product that they had received any of this product. Multnomah county for ten years. He went into office after tions of a similar nature could be the old bridge scandals of the commission; and Rufus was given to show what different govruthless when it came to scotching graft. He is incorruptible. He is competent. He has the right instincts for public its citizens. the governor will find out. In fact the chief criticism of him as an office holder has been that he was hard to work with, too uncompromising, too obstinate.

What health problems have you? If the above article raises any question in your mind, write that question out and send it either to The Statesman or the Marion county department of health. The answer will appear in this column. Name should be signed, but will not be used in the paper.

Mary Lou's pai. service. He is stubborn in sticking to his own opinions, as man. Add to this a familiarity with state history and politics from a life spent wholly within Oregon, an acquaintance with public men over the state, good business training —with this equipment Holman should make a commendable record in a very important post of the state government.

Boycott the Cokes

NO "cokes" for Portland-this summer unless the makers IN offer amende honorable for the slight to Portland's pride. The junior chamber of commerce is leading the fight, which gives this newly formed body a commendable "activ- Harry Draper, Spokane officer ity." Its protest telegram is to be followed by many more, who brought down bloodhounds to the great profit of the telegraph companies and the surprise and consternation of the Coca Cola people at Atlanta, gun, fighting law to the last

It all comes about because Portland was not even mentioned in the radio broadcast of Coca Cola when names of cities on the coast producing fine roses were listed. Los An-trip, report that they have about geles led the list, of course, and Seattle was included, but completed construction of a boat poor Portland, which has spent its hundreds of thousands to put on he river between Salem advertising itself as the "city of roses" did not even get and Independence. mentioned. Perhaps the reason was that Los Angeles drinks more cokes than Portland which saves a nickel by using Bull Run. Or Seattle may be a better market with a coke for a bracer or a chaser. It may be that Portland was not mentioned because the broadcaster would have had to explain that Portland, Oregon, was being referred to instead of Portland, Maine.

So we have a great municipal incident, with hot wires going to Coca Cola, the editor of Better Homes and Gardens, who made the faux pas, and even to Grantland Rice, who for the first time looms as an authority on geography, roses and city ambitions. We may see the advertising manager of Coca Cola going into a quick huddle with the sales manager, looking up the sales sheets for cokes in Portland, frantically asking each other, "what to do, to do?" If the sales sheets justify it, a special dispensation will doubtless be accorded the "city of roses" and its wounded pride duly soothed by fifteen minutes of radio blah, blah.

Any Dogs Around Here?

DRYAN Unteidt, boy hero of the Colorado snowstorm, has been the special guest of Pres. and Mrs. Hoover event, to in the White House. The lad traveled all alone from his armory. western home to the nation's capital at the invitation of the chief executive. The president wanted to see him and compliment him for his courage and resourcefulness in managing his group of school children marooned in a school bus in a raging blizzard.

When the president after meeting him said he would him at lunch, Bryan asked: "All right, Mr. President, but by the way, haven't you any dogs around here?" Bully for Bryan. He deserves the enconiums that have been heaped upon him. He's a red-blooded boy. He shows he can keep his head not only in a school bus in a snowstorm but in the white house in Washington. Most boys would have been too frightened to chirp. A few would have wanted to go out and slide down the Washington monument or tinker with the toys in the patent office. But Bryan, left to himself for a spell, knew what to do. With a dog or two he could be at

Rather a wholesome picture, this of the visit of the 13-year old lad from Colorado in the white house. He will get a lot out of the trip, and probably the president and Mrs. Hoover will enjoy it quite as much. They themselves have a pair of boys, now quite grown up.

Scientists at the Montana school of mines claim to have discovered a cheap process for hardening copper, making it harder than structural steel. Such a discovery if proven commercially practial, would have a profound effect on the utility of the red metal. So soft and ductile has it always been that its uses were somewhat limited. A myriad of uses will open up to hardened copper because of its rustless characteristic. When new chemical or physical changes are desired in materials used in industry science never not to be shown anywhere. The gangster pictures are surely the pictures. The psychological effect of such a picture is wholly bad. Ist, just as they face a ten per cent wage cut. "In Portland we do."

were washed and dried. And prespectures. The psychological effect of such a picture is wholly bad. Ist, just as they face a ten per cent wage cut. "In Portland we do."

were washed and dried. And prespectures. The psychological effect of such a picture is wholly bad. Ist, just as they face a ten per cent wage cut. "In Portland we do."

Pure Foods HIGHLY DISAPPOINTING

type, orphaned by the death of her parents, lives with her aunt and uncle, Clara and Howard Sanderson. Mary looks after Billy, their youngster, while they go to busi-ness. Larry Mitchell, energetic young newspaper reporter, is Mary Lou's pal. Mary Lou is haphappy solution to the situation, but she convinces him they are merely good pals. The Sanderson and Mary Lon visit Mrs. Sanderson's mother who is to care for Billy during his parents' absence.

CHAPTER IV. Adelaide was in the house and lying, as usual, on the very slippery horsehair sofa, a knitted af-ghan over her knees. Adelaide The man hunt of Murderer Smith is ended. He was killed by didn't look ill, and for the very good reason that she was in excellent health. But she, refused to ald in the hunt for him. He to believe it, and she had more was shot as he reached for his aches and pains to the minute than most people have in a life-time. She had long ago discovered that it was rather nice to A. D. Pettyjohn and son of be waited on, to have the neigh-Hall's ferry, in town on a business bors run in with soup and custards, garden flowers and calves "poor Miss Jennings" and she adored hearing "how patient" Julius Demming returned from foot jelly. She liked being called she was "under her burden." And what most amazed her relatives -Clara in particular-was that old Mrs. Jennings, usually so clear-sighted and so impatient of fraud, should so completely be-lieve in Adelaide's "heart at-tack" and Adelaide's "rheumatics" and be even a little proud of so gloriously invalid a daugh-

The Salem American Legion post has endorsed a movement to organize an auxiliary here. Mrs. Adelaide was a plump and Walter Spaulding, state secregrayish blonds with an exprestary, and Mrs. T. Kirk, met with sion of resigned sweetness nowthe post and recommended such second nature to her. Billy, rushing into the living room where she lay, cast himself across her Herb Welch, Keizer bottom rarecumbent form without let or dio operator, picked up several hindrance.

messages relative to burning of the Japanese ship, Tokuyo Maru, destroyed off the Oregon coast. "Softly," begged Aunt Adelaide in her die-away voice, "Auntie has such a headache. The chamber of commerce is How well you look, Billy boy! she added, almost accusingly. sponsoring a series of receptions Clara and Howard tiptoed up for newcomers to the city, a community sing to feature the second from force of habit—to remove event, to be held May 18 at the their insensitive son, and inquired dutifully for Adelaide's well-Adelalde sat up, reached for the smelling salts which stood on a small, entirely beautiful tip-top table beside her, inhaled Men are tattooed with their special beliefs like so many South Sea Islanders; but a real human heart with divine love in it beats tribes.—O. W. Holmes.

Now we know we are wrong. The Newberg Graphic denies printing the editorial relating to higher education which we credited to it and the Woodburn Independent claimed. Well, we must apologize to both these worthy weeklies for getting their editorials moved. When Rod Alden and Edgar Dimond come up to the state ress meeting next month we'll have to set 'em up. Anyhow they are both bright editors who do not hesitate to express some opinions and that deserves notice in this day of mollycoddle and soft-

The week's best bit of humor comes from Eugene where Pres Hall says the university policy is to "follow the survey". The best oratory heard at the Salem meeting of the board was Dr. Hall's plea to retain pure science, which the survey assigned to Corvallis, at the university. Each school wants to "follow the survey" when comes to picking up .nore functions; but to oppose it where it

The New York stock market continues to suffer from heart failure and apoplexy. Values have washed out so fast they will soon have to put minus signs in front of the quotations.

Mayor Cermak of Chicago has announced he will not let a famous gang picture "On the Spot" be shown in Chicago. It ought won't be satisfied till they have Cannon behind them.

Mary Lou Thurston, a beautiful | deeply, and then launched into | good of their health after so lavnd vivacious girl of the "home" an account of three heart at- ish a meal. tacks in as many weeks, a stiff Billy, who had been told mereknee and a sense of breathless> expected, thank you." She then looked at Mary Lou, rosy from the crisp Autumn air, and inquired fretfully: "Is that paint on your face,

"I never use it. I don't title. "Well," said Aunt Adelaide,

"I don't like so much celor in a girl. Tell me," she asked Howard avidly, "is there any history of tuberculosis in Mary Lou's family? I don't like that bright color," she repeated. "For goodness sake, Adelaide, no! Why should there bet" asked Howard, irritated, "Mary Lou comes of perfectly healthy stock At this moment as Adelaide was about to burst into description of a school friend, "very like Mary Lou in coloring" who had died of galloping consump-tion before her shocked family was even aware she was sick, Grandma Jennings arrived with Adelaide's morning snack of hot milk, toast and jelly, and order was restored.

While Adelaide sipped-"No wonder she's fat," thought Mary Lou with scorn, "eating six times a day and never taking a step of exercise, I wish I could have her for a year. I'd scare her up on her feet!"-the family made her plans. Make Plans For Billy Billy was to come out to Oakdale a day before his father and mother sailed, as Clara found it unnecessarily cruel to expose him to the emotional strain of a parting on a cold, wind-swept, depressing pier. His diet was discussed, his schooling, his clothes -all this being possible as Billy was out in the garden chasing Aunt Adelaide's coddled and indignant cat, with howls of merriment. Mary Lou was to follow him down after closing the house and to share his little bedroom until she made other plans. When the talk turned, as was natural, upon Howard's new position and the Orient, Adelaide was in her element, having known several missionaries to foreign parts who had either been murdered in mutinies, eaten by cannibals or who had died, lingeringly, of awful fevers, including dengue, black water and malaria. There was even one family wiped out with cholera. At this functure Howard Sanderson wiped his brow, gazed appealingly at his wife and escaped into the garden just in time to rescue the cat from Billy's firm, loving but unconscious-y murderous embraces. A little later, leaving the sisters together, Mary Lou went out to the kitchen to help Mrs. Jennings "dish up" dinner and to set the table. She was quite happy out there in the pleasant smell of roasting and baking and made herself extremely useful. She and Grandma Jennings had always been good friends and Mary Lou thought, wistfully, that if she could only get sme paying work she would be content to live in Oakdale with the old lady and Billy. But not as content with Adelaids. "Adelaide," thought Mary Lou, "gives me a pain in the neck! I'd like to shake some sense into her. She's so darned healthy she'll outlive all of us!"

Company Leaves by Train After dinner—which Adelaide enjoyed heartily, not coming to the table, however, but served on an ample tray, the Sandersons and Mary Lou stayed for another hour or so, sitting sedately in the living room, a hodge-podge of good and bad furniture, of mixed periods, after the dishes

"I just can't get my breath at times," said the sufferer proud-ly, "but I'm as well as can be expected, thank you." ly that his mother and father the cat, was perfectly happy in the charming selfishness of children, too young to realize the impending long separation, and de-lighted with the thought of coun-"Why, no, Aunt Adelaide," would get from his relatives, of dusty as she was, her trunk haveleder woman her usual courtesy to the fact that Mary Lou would Cakdale.

Aug. 15, 1842 at Fort Hall, Dr. White wrote his wife: "Our journey has been laborious but pleasbe with him too, made everything quite all right. Clara was happy for him that you."

he "took it that way," but, moth-to grieve." himself. Children were like that the thought, and even some adults. Not all grownups, however, possessed such a happy faculty, she pondered heavily.

The rest of the remaining time flew, or so it seemed to Mary Lou. The house was cleaned, things were stored, some were sold to friends and neighbors. Mary Lou and Billy raced along Shore Road one Saturday aftershopping for clothing suitable to your hands full." conscious, Mary Lou with an increesingly sore heart. And pres- and Clara's eyes were red while ently the day had come for Clara | her tall, lean husband was much and Howard to bid their little subdued. The next morning, boy good-bye and take him out early, Mary Lou went with them to Oakdale. Mary Lou stayed home that day, wandering about be there and others of their the empty house, a house which friends, including several past would you think of a man who seemed the ghost of itself, most business associates. They were had a business that was running of the shabby, lived-with furni-ture gone, the walls showing marks of vanished pictures and party which was going out to kept a full force Not much. Meler the very floors, bare, echoing des-olately to her tread. She was (To be continued)

"Resolved, that every male over the age of 18 years shall be prowagon conveyance; shall have one gun, three pounds of powder, 12 pounds of lead, 1000 caps, or suitable flints, 50 pounds of flour or meal and 30 pounds of bacon, and a suitable proportion of provisions for women and children; and, if any present not be so provided, he shall be rejected, "Resolved, that Dr. White now exhibit to the meeting, to be read by the secretary, any document from the war department in his possession, showing his appointment to any office in the Oregon territory, which, being done, of motion, "Resolved, that we elect a captain for one month, from and af-

"Resolved, that for the benefit of all those who may hereafter remove to Oregon, and that the government may be well informed of the road, its obstructions, means the road, its obstructions, means of subsistence, eminences, depressions, distances, bearings, etc., there be now elected a scientific corps, to consist of three persons, who shall keep a faithful and true record of everything useful to the government, or future emigrants.

"This corps consisted of C. Lan-caster, S. W. (Lansford W.) Hasings, and A. L. Lovejoy. James Coates (Coats) was elected pilot, and Nathaniel Crocker secretary.

"Resolved that H. (Hugh) Burns be appointed master blacksmith, with power to choose two

Larry came over that evening, before the Sanderson's return, gazed soberly upon the empti-ness, the strapped and locked trunks, the bulging and battered bags, gazed earnestly upon Mary Lou's pallor and "listened" as he said, to her extraordinary siltry and garden and freedom, to ence-a remarkable feat-and say nothing of the spoiling he then dragged her out to dinner,

> "You'll seem so far off," she told him, over coffee. "I'll miss

"Not necessarily. Oakdale's on erlike, she naturally could not ly an hour or so away. You can't forbear a little pang of fealousy get rid of me as easily as that," that her boy seemed so indiffer- he told her gayly, "and I'm trailent to her departure. "Not," she ing that job for you, Mary Lou, added hastily, "that I want him Trust your Uncle Larry."

"Find me a job as companion," Mary Lou told him, trying "He's very little," Mary Lou ion," Mary Lou told him, trying excused him, "and he doesn't re-alize. I expect that after you do and quiet! That's me! I can readgo, he'll be awfully homesick for aloud, Larry, and I think I can you, Clara," She refrained from fetch footstools and carry trays adding what she further believ- and pull down window shades, ed, knowing Billy, which was for I've had quite a course of that he would soon forget, adapt Aunt Adelaide, you know." Larry had never met that plump and ailing lady, but Mary Lou had given him a full description. He laughed and then sobered abruptly.
"Joking aside," said Larry, "if we could get you a job like that it would be great," "It's about all I can do," she conceded in a small voice.

"Cheer up," ordered Larry, flercely, "or I'll make you marry noon while the Sandersons went me, and then, woman. you'll have Clara and Howard returned from Oakdale late that evening

BITS for BREAKFAST

East and back to Oregont others, and also to call to his aid the force of the company. (Continuing from yesterday:)

"This was the first experiment of "Resolved that John Hoffstut-ter (Hofstetter) be appointed master wagonmaker, with like power with the blacksmith. the kind ever made in that direc-tion. (Dr. White had been given his commission with the secret un-derstanding that he would lead a party of immigrants to the Oregon country.) A meeting of the emi-gration was called to consider this "Resolved that the captain appoint a master road and bridge builder, with like powers. "Resolved that a code of laws be drafted, and submitted to the and other subjects, and to make regulations. The following resolu-tions were adopted: company, and that they be en-forced by reprimand, fines, and final banishment,

"Reserved, unanimously, that there shall hereafter be no pro-fane swearing (wonder what the mule drivers did?), no obscene conversation, or immoral conduct, allowed in the company, on pain of expulsion.

"Resolved that the names of every man, woman and child be registered by the secretary, "Which being done, "Resolved that this meeting now dijourn; to meet again at Port Vancouver, on the Columbia river, on the first day of October next, the powers of Heaven will-

The record of the spechal journey is most interesting; but it was much like many that have been published and are familiar to all readers of Oregon history. As the party passed to the southwest, leaving the Santa Fe trail, they in a few days reached what they called the "dog oncampment" where on a two-thirds not a little resentment from the objectors; the other third. While there the child of C. Lancaster and wife became ill, delaying them for two days. The party went on, after another delay, leaving Dr. White and an attendant with the stricken family. The invalid, a girl, and an only child, died and was buried. The dis-tracted mother became ill; the company halted three days, and, 170 miles out, the grieving father and sick mother turned back and retraced their steps.

very unhappy and very uncertain of herself.

She would spend the night of the Sanderson's departure next door, with a friendly neighbor, for tomorrow morning the last pieces of furniture, beds, dressers and a chair or two would be strong, and I have been able to obtain the services of Mr. Fits Patrick (Thomas Fitzpatrick of the American Fur company of the American Fur company of which the famous Milton Sublette and Jim Bridger were other members), one of the ablest and most suitable men in the country, in he, poor fellow, was accidentally shot through, and expired in 30 minutes. He was a useful man, (Continued on page 7)

New Views

The question asked by Statesman reporters yesterday was:
What do you think of Governor Meier's administration to date?

Eric Butler, Western Union manager said: "I admire a lot ofthings he has done. I think he is really trying to give an efficient

F. O. Johnson, county rondnaster, said: "I feel there, is nothing wrong with the various investigations the governor has made. If any official's business has been conducted squarely he need fear no investigation."

Helen Louise Crosby, attorney, Said: "To date Governor Meier's administration has evidenced a thorough and clear understanding of the fundamental needs of the government of the state of Oregon and a constructive service to the people of the state by his program of strict business economy.'

M. Morris, proprietor of State Cafeteria, said: "Fine. What

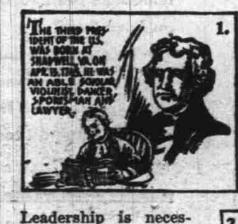

American

Biographies in

Miniature

Thomas Jefferson

(1743-1826)

sary even in a Democracy. In securing comfort for others a man assures himself

of their good-will and support.

ME BECAME GOVERNOR OF VINGINIA IN 1779 AND DECAME THE FIRST SECRETARY OF SINE

Complete,

Modern Service at Your

Phone

