Four Chemawa girls solved the summer employment problem for themselves last week when they accepted seasonal jobs with the Davenport hotel in Spokane, Wash., where they will work in the Delicacy shop, a grill connected with the hotel. In addition to their serving duties in the hotel, two of the girls, Alice Slater and Marie LaFrance, have excellent voices and will sing for the guests from time to time.

Margaret Hoptowit, third member of the quartet of Indian girls who have taken the jobs, is Washington girl, member of the Yakima tribe, with her home at Wapato, Wash. She is the champion cake baker at Chemawa and has been a member of the girls' basketball team for two years.

Theo Bird, the fourth girl, is one of the Blackfeet tribe and halls from Browning, Mont. She is one of the champion spellers at Chemawa. Alice Slater and Marie LaFrance are both members of the Chippewa tribe and come from Devils Lake, N. D. The girls had the support of

W. H. Lipps, former superintendent at Chemawa, in securing the jobs. Lipps in turn has been urg-ed by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur to see to it that as many Indians as possible are assimilated into the general current of American affairs so in time the Indian schools, as such, can be aban-doned.

Stories of Adventure

SILHOUETTE of a horseman against a desert sky . . . a swaying figure on a storm-swept deck . . . how enjoyable but how little related to your own every-day life are the stories of adventure that you read.

But there are adventure stories of another kind that you come upon every day. Adventures with a thrill and excitement of their own -adventures that you can share. You find them in the advertisements in your daily newspaper.

The advertisements tell you of new experiences that can be made a part of your life.

They tell you how it feels to skim along the road in a smoothly powered, new car. To turn a switch on a new radio and command the harmonies of a superb orchestra. To board a limited train and go whirling across the country on a new kind of vacation.

The advertisements do not stop with telling you about these things. They tell you exactly how you can make them your own-most economically and with the greatest assurance of satisfaction. Read the advertisements. Share the adventures in pleasure and satisfaction they offer you!
