Parties Planned For Coming Week

The weekend will be busy with a number of things being given in compliment to the many visiting Business and Professional Women of the state here in convention. A banquet tonight and breakfast Sunday morning will be among the major social activities for this large group.

Other social events in Salem are rather quiet this weekend, after a busy week back and another busy week ahead. Many people have gone to the coast for a few hours rest. Among these is a group of Salem teachers who are spending the weekend at the coast.

Beginning with Monday club and party affairs will start. Mrs. Breyman Boies will be hostess for her club at her home Monday afternoon. Tuesday Mrs. Willard Marshall will be hostess to her card club. Mrs. W. A. Johnson will also be a Tuesday hostess with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Gray Belle followed by cards in play at eight tables. Other parties are being planned to be announced at a later date.

W. R. C. Benefit is Splendid Success

The benefit given by members of the Woman's Relief Corps proved to be a splendid success Thursday afternoon at Fraternal temple. Cards were in play at seven tables. Winning scores were held by Mrs. A. Breitenbush and Mrs. Hattie Kennon.

Refreshments were served following cards. The general committee acted as hostesses for the tea hour. Mrs. John Shipp was chairman, and was assisted by Mrs. Maud Chittendon, Mrs. Bertha Loveland, Mrs. Margaret Holdman, Mrs. Bessie Martin, and Mrs. Mary Kennedy.

American Lutheran Guild Sponsors Tea

An attractive event is being planned by members of the Guild of the American Lutheran church for Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. A silver tea will be observed as an annual event of the Guild.

The committee in charge is Mrs. C. H. Glenn, Mrs. E. N. Simon, Mrs. Haroldson and Mrs. Acklin.

Miss Rachel Chambers of Portland was a guest in Salem Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chambers and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pope.

Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS
This exquisite afternoon frock may be fashioned of georgette, chiffon, voile, cotton lace or eyelet embroidered batiste. It has an extremely becoming flared collar that crosses in front to form a fichu, a new and delightful fashion you will find most flattering. The gracefully flared skirt is joined in an upward point that accentuates the snug hipline. Pattern 2075 includes sleeves and flared cuffs, if you should prefer them. Fashionable colors for spring and summer include the bright green and blue, cornflower yellow, beige and dull rose.

Obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30. Size 14 requires 4 3/4 yards of 39 inch material. Yards for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Salem Woman's Club Installs Mrs. J. M. Devers as Head Friday

THE last meeting of the season for the Salem Woman's club was observed Friday afternoon with the installation of officers for 1931-32 and an important business and social meeting.

Mrs. J. M. Devers was presented as the incoming president by Mrs. David Wright, outgoing president, in a clever speech arranged in poetry. Interspersed throughout the whole program were poetry readings in compliment to national "poetry week." Miss Harriet Long, Miss Maud Covington, Mrs. William Fordyce Fargo, Mrs. Clifton Mudd gave these readings.

Other officers to be installed were Mrs. Ivan Martin, vice-president; Mrs. J. C. Tibbitts, recording secretary; Miss Eula McCully, financial secretary; Mrs. Mary Bayne, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Crosby, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Harry J. Wiedmer, director.

Committee reports were made by Mrs. Walter Pennington, program; Mrs. Paul Hauser, hospitality; Mrs. Ivan Martin, legislative; Mrs. C. K. Spaulding, trustee committee; Mrs. Ida Niles, house committee; Mrs. Mary Bayne, treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Nelson, applied education; Mrs. W. F. Fargo, fine arts; Mrs. Clifford Mudd, picture study library; Mrs. M. D. McCallister, music; Mrs. S. M. Endicott, institutions; Mrs. Earl Daue, social; Miss Maud Covington, literature.

Business matters to receive the attention of the club a vote to present Mrs. W. I. Staley with $25 as a birthday gift from the club. Mrs. Staley retired as financial secretary Friday after six years in office.

A vote also put the Woman's club on record as assisting the service clubs of the city to raise the $1000 pledged to the Waverly Babies home in Portland.

After discussion a final vote made Saturday the regular day of meeting instead of Friday as the club has been meeting this year. Saturday was until this year the regular meeting day.

It was also voted to raise the scholarship fund from the present amount of $59.25 to $100. The club went on record as endorsing a plan which would include better pictures for the Mickey Mouse club showings.

Mrs. J. M. Devers after receiving the gavel from Mrs. Wright presented Mrs. Wright with a pass president's pin from the club.

As a close to the business session Mrs. Devers appointed her committees for the year. These include:

In Off Hours

Personalities and Events at Convention of Oregon B. & P. W. Clubs

"We got here just the same," declared six delegates from Klamath Falls who encountered more than the usual difficulties of such a motor journey. The whole story was not told but mishaps included a flat tire and killing one dog. Nevertheless "the group was very much 'here'."

Two more Klamath Falls delegates arrived via air when Mrs. Leda Parker, president of the club, and Miss Margaret Snodgrass came in a plane piloted by Lee Parker, who declared that at this convention he was simply "Mrs. Parker's husband." At home he is head of the Parker school of aviation.

Miss Martha Gasch, state president, was seen with difficulty behind a huge bouquet of roses which was learned were telegraphed to her from Omaha, Nebraska, by Louise Hacker Turner, a former president of the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

Flowers played an important part in all of the sessions on Friday as decorations were elaborate. Particularly was a huge "Golden Key" made entirely of marigolds, which was the centerpiece for the executive council luncheon at the Marion hotel.

"Like getting back home," declared Emma C. Broderick, president of the Bend club who arrived with five of her fellow club members Friday morning. Mrs. Broderick has acted as secretary to the speaker of the house for the last two sessions of the Oregon legislature and so feels quite at home in Salem.

Maie Ross Walker, state song leader, is getting "Convention Conscious" as she will go to San Francisco in June to the national convention of music clubs. Mrs. Walker, who is president of the Monday Musical club in Portland, is also leader of the Monday Musical club chorus of 40 voices. This group has had the signal honor of being chosen as official chorus of the national convention at San Francisco, one of the members of the chorus.

Young Jefferson Recovering From Overturned Mishap

NORTH HOWELL, May 22.—Raymond Jefferson, 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jefferson is recovering nicely from bruises sustained when the car he was driving overturned on a bank near his parents home and pinned him underneath. Several of his teeth were broken and minor cuts about the face and neck were found.

The accident happened Tuesday evening, as the youth was driving an old car belonging to a neighbor boy. He was taken to the Silverton hospital for first aid.

Jeffersonians go To Grand Lodge Now at Corvallis

JEFFERSON, May 22.—John C. Alexander attended the grand encampment of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs at Corvallis, in session from Tuesday until Friday. He is delegate from Santiam lodge, No. 27, I. O. O. F.

Mrs. Dora Humphrey and Miss Laura Thomas are delegates from Mt. Jefferson Rebekah lodge to the grand lodge at Corvallis this week.

E. L. Wilson of Portland has purchased the J. L. Jones property in the north part of town and is erecting a repair shop and service station on the place.
