ELKINS WOMEN SPONSOR CLUB

Rural Group Accomplishes Much During Past Few Years

MONMOUTH, May 29.—The women of Elkins community, four miles southwest of Monmouth, have for several years maintained a social club, which is an excellent example of what rural women can achieve as a group in the way of recreation and philanthropic advancement.

Fifteen charter members formed the club. Mrs. F. S. Leach, acting as the first president. Dues of 10 cents per month are imposed, and if finances run low, each member undertakes to earn a dollar, a contribution to the treasury. The money is used to purchase flowers for the sick, and for various charitable purposes.

Efforts Varied Diversification of endeavor has been one of the main ingredients of a continued interest. One winter the club engaged in quilting, and by this cooperative effort a quilt was made, complete for each member. Attractive bedspreads offered the motif for another winter's effort.

On special occasions they hold an all day meeting in the Elkins community.

Guests are always invited for these affairs, a good speaker is engaged, and the men of the community also enjoy the luncheon and program.

Mrs. M. B. Lucas is president this year, and a very successful season of activity, with 18 members enrolled, will be completed in June. The May meeting, for which Mrs. Laughran and Mrs. Fred Scholl were hostesses, was held Thursday at the former's home. A feature of the afternoon was a talk given on the "Hold Land" by Mrs. J. E. McDonald, wife of the Methodist minister of Falls City, who, with her husband, has recently returned from an extended tour abroad, including a visit with their son at Athens, Greece. Mrs. McDonald's descriptions of foreign lands were augmented by many pictures. Mrs. L. Canney played with a vocal number. Refreshments were served by the hostesses as a conclusion to the afternoon.
