

Primo Finishes Irishman Quickly to Get in Out of Wet

IT'S ALL OVER IN ONE ROUND

Alp Floors Redmond With First Blow and Ends it In 2:24 With Kayo

NEW YORK, June 15—Primo Carnera of Italy knocked out Pat Redmond of Ireland in the first round of their ten round bout before a crowd of 20,000 here tonight. The end came after 2 minutes and 24 seconds of fighting from a right to the jaw.

Redmond never had a chance with the giant Italian. Almost the first punch Carnera landed, a hefty right, put the lantern-jawed Irishman down for an eight count and from there until the fifth he was rocking on his heels. Carnera, awarded a technical knockout, never giving Redmond a chance to get set.

Carnera, whose weight was announced at 275 pounds, pushed the fighting from the bell, getting around with amazing ease for his size. He came out throwing punches and the result was never in doubt after he connected with his first right. Redmond's weight was announced as 246 pounds.

Sharky Chisholm, a W. G. B. Heavyweight who originally was scheduled to meet Carnera on tonight's program, climbed in the ring to congratulate the winner, as Redmond's seconds worked frantically to revive their man.

Ernie Schaaf of Boston, 202½, knocked out Jack Gagnon of Boston, 205, in 46 seconds of the first round of the semi-final bout, originally scheduled for eight rounds, went to six in order that the main event might go on. Mays had Renault bleeding from the ears and generally cuffed him about, but could not put him on the floor. Renault scored 21½ Mays 192.

Ted Sandwina, Sioux City heavyweight, gained an eight round decision over Tom Kirby of Boston in the opening preliminary. It was a slow, grueling match that failed to excite the crowd, originally scheduled for eight rounds, went to six in order that the main event might go on. Mays had Renault bleeding from the ears and generally cuffed him about, but could not put him on the floor. Renault scored 21½ Mays 192.

REALTORS DEFEAT ELKS, SCORE 15-2

Hill's Candy	2	1	.667
Elks	1	1	.500
Legion Juniors	1	1	.500
Tucker's Realtors	2	1	.333

Tucker's Realtors staged something of an upset in Commercial league circles Monday night when they defeated the previously unbeaten Elks by the lopsided score of 15 to 2 on Sweetland field.

It was however an expected upset, as the Elks were lacking some of their regular players including the Russell brothers, gone to fight the foe in the battle of Camp Clatsop.

Tucker's scored in every inning getting three in the first and second each, one in the third, two in the fourth and six in the fifth after "Frisco" Edwards relieved Schnell in the box for the Elks and proceeded to demonstrate to his Junior Legion boys how not to do it. Herberger of Tucker's hit home.

Hooppe pitched for Tucker's and was nipped for a run in the first inning and another in the fifth.

There will be a league meeting Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. which all managers are urged to attend. A fully representative meeting has been held and President Hawk wants some instructions. The problem created by a depression which extends even to the matter of dimes, will also come up.

On Hudson and Thames

By HARDIN BURNLEY

YE historic Hudson River, at Poughkeepsie, and ye equally celebrated Thames, at New London, will command the sports news headlines this week, when seven famed crews will compete on the former, and Yale-Harvard meet on the latter—both over the four-mile course. It will be the thirty-first Poughkeepsie Regatta. The Thames classic dates back to 1876. The lordliest sort of intercollegiate tradition is identified with both regattas. The Hudson's bluest ribbon event will be rowed tomorrow afternoon. The Blue and the Crimson eights will duel as dusk approaches the Thames on Friday.

Cornell is the logical favorite to repeat its 1930 triumph at Poughkeepsie, with Columbia a close second choice. Seven other crews—Penn, Syracuse, M. I. T., Navy, Wisconsin, California, and Washington—are entered. This season Columbia has beaten Yale, Penn and Navy; Cornell also has outwitted Old Eli and the Quakers; Washington defeated California in their West Coast regatta. On form, tomorrow's classic should be a duel between Cornell and Columbia, with Washington and Wisconsin as dark horses.

ROUGH RIVER FOR REGATTA OUTLOOK

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 15.—(AP)—The rough river regatta, which opened up such a fuss today on the eve of the intercollegiate championship regatta, that naval headquarters along the banks of the Hudson prepared for another rough water battle for rowing supremacy, with Cornell's heavyweights favored to retain the varsity honors they won on stormy seas a year ago.

The warm and sultry winds that swept up the river today, cutting short final workouts, may switch to more favorable quarter by tomorrow, in the weather man's opinion, with fair skies likewise for the regatta throng of 50,000 or more spectators.

Although the champion Cornell crew, seasoned veterans in all kinds of gongs, have been picked by the experts to repeat, the prospects pointed to at least a four-event varsity struggle, under favorable conditions.

SHOE STORE MEN HOLD CONVENTION

Salem shoe stores are well represented at the annual state convention of that body in session in Portland from Sunday through tomorrow.

At some time during the conference the entire force of the Buster Brown shoe store will attend. The group, headed by George L. Arbuckle, includes H. A. Holt, Robert A. Fields, H. R. Burgess and Basille deLisle.

From the Price shoe store O. E. Price and son, Stanley Price, were in attendance yesterday, and Mr. Price and M. J. deLapp will be at today's sessions.

Edward W. Aclim of Foot Health store will be there today; C. S. Burgess and C. D. Burgess of the Oregon Shoe company were in attendance Sunday; and Edward J. Burnside and T. H. Chamlin, manager, both of Hamilton Shoe company, are spending some time there.

A bill will be sponsored in the Texas legislature permitting defendants in certain criminal cases to waive jury trial.

SPORTSMEN TO OPPOSE POLICE

Anglers and Hunters Group Joins Move to Divorce Enforcement Work

PORTLAND, Ore., June 15.—(AP)—The State Game commission, meeting here today, decided definitely to maintain its offices in Portland instead of moving to Salem, heard of a proposed movement to have the game law enforcement taken away from the state police, voted in favor of a widespread scientific and educational program for Oregon and transferred other business.

The action on the retention of offices here came after two long reports from the Portland chamber of commerce and other Portland organizations, urging such a decision, had been read.

Fred W. Wegner, acting president of the Multnomah Anglers and Hunters club, told the commission his organization wished to join the Isaac Walton league in an effort to find some way of removing game law enforcement from the state police.

It looks bad for those sportsmen who go out to fish in rattlesnake country to have state police stop them and look in their creels and find a bottle of anti-snake bite," Wegner said.

Earlier in the day the commission held an executive session with Charles P. Pray, new state police head, to work out a plan for shifting game wardens from the game department to the police department. Later Chairman Dana announced wardens who wished to be transferred may file their applications directly with Pray before August 1.

William Hanley, Burns, and Zim Baldwin, Lakeview, suggested to the commission the establishment of an Antelope National park comprising upward of 370,000 acres of uninhabited semidesert country in southeastern Oregon, west of the Steens mountains and midway between Burns and Lakeview.

The commission instructed Ralph Cowgill, engineer, to make an investigation of the Sandy river and the possibilities of improving it for angling and fish propagation.

The educational and scientific program discussed was reported by Chairman Dana. He said the plan includes preparation of a textbook of Oregon wild life for use in the schools, of co-operation with sportsmen's organization in prevention of stream pollution and promotion of game conservation, and of a state wild life survey.

Missouri conservation authorities have asked railway companies to convert their rights-of-way into game refuges.

1930 CHAMPS ARE FAVORITES

PORTLAND, June 15.—Frank Troeh, veteran Portland trap shooter, captured the Oregon state singles trapshooting championship here Sunday. He was one of the five men who broke 100 straight targets in the first half of the tournament and Sunday he was the only one to duplicate the feat.

Missouri conservation authorities have asked railway companies to convert their rights-of-way into game refuges.

With 19,317,373 acres, Idaho leads the country in national forest area.

Considered by many dopsters as favorites to win the intercollegiate rowing regatta on the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie, the crew of Cornell University, 1930 champions, is going to find plenty of competition from the eight other shells racing against them June 16. This picture shows the Itasca, N. Y., college boys starting out for a practice run with their skipper, Commodore Heidelberger, shown at right, and veteran Coach Jim Wray at left.

Legion Junior Teams All Even, Will Battle it Out Thursday, Chemawa Field

CURT COMMENTS

Fans and players trying to get the Silverton pitcher's goat pronounced his name "Susie" but can he pitch? Ask any of them in a calm moment of afterthought.

If there's any justice, McCarthy and Keber will be on the team that goes into the district tangle. How those boys can rob opponents of base hits!

In one respect Silverton deserves to capture the county flag again. It had a bigger, or anyway a noisier crowd out there Sunday than Salem did on Salem's own lot.

If Salem got the breaks Saturday, Sunday made up for it. Imagine a strikeout starting the "scoring rally." But it was nobody's fault at that, aside from the throw to second. The strikeout ball that went past the catcher was a wild pitch. There was a report that the same catcher dropped the throw home when Brady scored. Maybe he did, we don't remember, but we do know Brady beat the throw there and would have scored anyway.

Jude Moreland, from Estacada or some such place but a war vet well grounded in the principles of baseball, and Speck Burke, last year at Coast league umpire, will call 'em in the final game Thursday at Chemawa. Good stuff. There can't be any catches except as to their blindness.

The two lads who struck out to spoil the ninth inning rally were the same two who won Saturday's game with a home run and a great throw. There's no joy in Mudville—that's the national pastime.

Newberg and Gresham were the only team to start a game and that lasted only five innings before the rain stopped it. Hillsboro failed to get a team of registered players together and forfeited to Vancouver Barracks.

LETTERS GIVEN OUT AT MONMOUTH HIGH

MONMOUTH, June 15.—This year for the first time, letter awards were made to Monmouth high school students for achievements other than athletics. The new arrangement was planned by Glenn Halliday, student body president, and faculty members. Participation in dramatics, orchestra, reportorial and editorial work for the school's weekly news sheet, honors won in declamation and typing, also holding offices in class and student body organizations were evaluated on a point system.

Earning 20 points secured the award of a letter. To aid repetition in granting letters to any one individual, Mr. Patchin suggested that small emblems be designed that various activities be represented, and that these emblems be placed on a large letter M. The various emblems are: For orchestra, a harp; for basketball, a small basketball; for baseball, crossed bats; for tennis, crossed rackets; for typing, a small letter T; for dramatics, small letter D; for 20 points for a combination of activities, a small letter A.

These emblems are attractively constructed of leather and felt attached upon the chenille letters. Letters for the boys are gray and for the girls purple. These students received letters with emblems as stated:

Chester Chamberlin, A; Gordon Ebbett, harp, baseball; Elton Fishback, B;
Harold Good, A, T, basketball, baseball; Marian Good, A, basketball.
Orval Hockema, basketball, baseball, A, track; Glenn Halliday, megaphone, gavel, E, A; Kenneth Roth, harp, T, basketball; Harold Santee, D, basketball, baseball, track; Juanita Nelson, H, T, D, basketball.
