Many Seek to Enroll — To date 143 students have made formal application and received permission for admission to the freshman class at Willamette university. This represents a considerably larger number than had applied at the same period a year ago. No cash must accompany the application for enrollment and as a consequence there is also some shrinkage between the number of applicants and those who actually enter school.

Dollar Dinner every night, 5:45 to 8 at the Marion hotel.

Larger Income Expected — Willamette university expects a considerably larger income from endowment funds in 1931-1932 due to the returns on funds received last year and invested but not as yet yielding cash returns to the university. A deficit of $11,000 in the last year's budget was reported to trustees last week. Much of this was occasioned by non-recurring capital expenditures and these are to be apportioned over the next three years.

Hawley Away — Congressman W. C. Hawley plans to attend the pioneers' picnic today at Lebanon, weather permitting. He will go to Camp Clatsop on Saturday to attend the review of troops who have been in camp there the last ten days.

Trip East Hurried — Dr. F. K. Power made great time on his auto trip east, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. Frank Power, 253 North 15th street. He arrived at Appleton, Wisconsin at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, having left Salem at 4 p.m. Saturday. The trip is a 2400 mile one. The doctor drove east by way of Pocatello, Idaho, Cheyenne, Wyoming and Omaha, Nebraska.

Restraining Order — In suit of W. T. Nelson vs. J. N. Haugen, order has been issued restraining defendant from disposing of mortgage until the suit is settled. Plaintiff alleges that he was misled by false representations of defendant to execute two promissory notes and a chattel mortgage in favor of other parties, who in turn signed them to defendant.

Cases Set Over — A. A. Bonney faced two charges in justice court Wednesday, one of assault and battery and the other of securing an angler's license without first obtaining a hunter's license as is required of aliens. Both charges will be heard at a later date, postponement being necessary because of the absence of important witnesses.

Execution Reports — Western Loan and Building company was high bidder for property foreclosed on in two suits started by the loan company against W. L. Bulgin and against Lawrence G. Bulgin. The W. L. Bulgin property sold for $2487.08 and the other for $5,894, according to report filed by the sheriff.

Pleads Not Guilty — Jack G. Hughes, a laborer of Stayton, and Frances Neymeyer were charged with adultery when they appeared in justice court on Wednesday and both pleaded not guilty. The case will be heard on Saturday.

Wrens Here — Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wrenn arrived in Salem late Tuesday from Stanford university, Palo Alto, where Mr. Wrenn is completing work for his doctor's degree. Mrs. Wrenn will be at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. LaRaut, 755 North Church street, for the summer, and Mr. Wrenn will be in Portland, where he will teach at the summer session of the University of Oregon. He is majoring in education.

Dallas Busy Town — Dallas is feeling the effects of depression much less than most towns in the opinion of Rev. Jacob Stocker of the Evangelical church there. He was in Salem yesterday on business. The mill there is running steadily and the Gerlinger plant has been extremely busy. Diversified farming safeguards the producers but cherry men have suffered heavy losses because of recent rains.

Work to be Shown — The annual June exhibit of patients' work at the state tuberculosis hospital is to be held this week in the schoolroom at pavilion "C." The dates are June 17 to June 23. Management of the hospital hopes for a large attendance of Salem people who will thus have an opportunity to become more familiar with the general and special care afforded tuberculosis patients.

Demand this Proof...that there is no Acid in the Gasoline you Buy

It's Violet Color Proves It Is Acid-Free

The crude oil from which gasoline is produced contains naphthenic and sulphur-bearing acids. If not completely removed by refining, these acids attack bearings, corrode the carburetor needle valve, pit valves and reduce efficiency of motor in general. The result is excess consumption of gasoline, reduced mileage, serious repair bills and increased operation cost.

Any other gasoline may contain these acids and there is no way for you to detect them. The Violet Ray process of refining, protected by seven U.S. patents, completely removes all acids. Even the slightest trace of naphthenic or sulphur-bearing acid would completely destroy the violet color and turn the gasoline back to white. Your one sure, safe, positive protection, then, against the possibility of there being acid in your gasoline is to use only violet-colored Violet Ray.

COSTS NO MORE THAN WHITE GASOLINE

Secoay Dewaxed 100% Paraffine Base Motor Oil is body-controlled at all temperatures... more penetrating... longer lasting... increases power... decreases gasoline consumption.
