Miss Ruth Barnes Pretty Bride of W. Warren

Monmouth—One of the most interesting local weddings of the season was solemnized Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Evangelical church when Miss Ruth Barnes, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Barnes, became the bride of Wilbur Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warren of Irigoin.

The bridal party came up the aisle to Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," played softly by Miss Helen Hughes of Harrisburg. Preceding the ceremony Miss Jo Olsen sang a nuptial song that was sung at the wedding of the groom's parents. Percie Miles of Cornelius played "At Dawning," a violin solo.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom and was given in marriage by her father. Dr. M. A. Wiley of Salem read the service, and was assisted by Rev. Lyle H. Willard of Portland.

Miss Barnes was lovely in a gown of rich ivory silk with tulle veil. She carried a white rose-bouquet of pale pink and white roses. Her matron of honor was Mrs. Harvey Warner (Zepha Bouwman), who wore yellow and carried an arm bouquet of sweet peas and clarkia. Bridesmaids were Miss Willoughby Howe of Creswell, who wore pink organza and carried sweet peas and clarkia, and Miss Laura Cammack of Salem, who wore green organza and an arm bouquet of sweet peas and clarkia. Little Helen Lomberry in white net acted as the bride's veil bearer.

Harvey Warner of Wallowa was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Hayes Beall and Paul Ackerman of Salem and Edwin Rounds of Harrisburg and Kenneth Thompson of Coquille.

At the close of the ceremony a quartet of Mr. Warner's fraternity brothers from Willamette university, John Gilhouse, Homer Roberts, Earl Henry and Robert Magin, sang from the gallery of the church.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with seasonal flowers in pastel shades, and about 175 guests were present. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the Barnes home for members of the bridal party.

Miss Barnes has been a resident here for the past six years. She was graduated from the local high school, and both she and Mr. Warren are graduates of the Oregon Normal school, where their romance began several years since. Miss Barnes was an assistant in the library of the normal school after her graduation, and has spent a year studying in the east. This June both she and Mr. Warren completed the junior year of their respective courses at Willamette university, and will continue at school there next year.

Mr. Warren is student pastor at the Methodist church in Falls City.
