HIGHWAY GROUP PLANS CARAVAN

MONMOUTH, June 19—At a meeting of the West Side Highway Boosters' association in Monmouth this week, plans were sketched for a proposed caravan trip to commence July 17 which will include Portland, Astoria, Newport and Corvallis in its itinerary—the start and finish to occur at Portland. The tour will be of two days' duration and possibly longer.

Mayor F. R. Bowersox opened the session with an address of welcome. J. E. V. Butler of Monmouth presided in the absence of the president, Sam Dolan of Corvallis.

The affair was held in the Christian church with a banquet served under supervision of the Dorcas society of that congregation. At each plate appeared a sixteenth pound segment of Monmouth Cooperative creamery butter in a minute carton with a preliminary program and a facsimile certificate issued through federal inspectors announcing that Monmouth creamery butter scored 92 points. F. E. Murdock, manager of the local creamery explained the process of butter grading, stating that acceptable grades are from 88 to 92 points, and that a reason for Monmouth's supremacy may be because other cooperatives in the state are larger enterprises—hence find it more difficult to keep all cream at a uniform standard.

Directors of the organization recommended that Sam Dolan and James G. Smith, president and secretary, respectively, be named for re-election. Both are from Corvallis. By acclamation H. W. Morlan of Monmouth and L. Graham of Forest Grove were chosen vice presidents. Specific details for the caravan itinerary will be consummated at the July meeting to be held in Corvallis.

Entertainment numbers provided were vocal duets by the McGowan brothers, and a violin solo by Barbara Jane Powers.

Firemen Buy New Equipment for Hubbard Station

HUBBARD, June 20—Besides sponsoring a delightful evening of pleasure for folk of Hubbard and for those living in its vicinity, the local volunteer fire department is adding little by little to the new truck fund by the series of summer dances held at the city hall every other Saturday night.

The old truck is still on the job and by patient coaxing the firemen manage to do some excellent work in saving property from loss by fire, but, when a fire, similar to those experienced during the memorable windstorm, is raging the volunteer firemen need the very best apparatus on the market—a truck that responds with a speed equal to the enthusiasm of the boys.

The volunteer fire departments face hard times throughout this fair land of ours in towns and cities too small in population to maintain a fire department on a salary basis. These volunteer firemen are groups that measure up 100 per cent to the standards of the best community workers—individuals who help their community without asking the question, "How much money do we get out of this?" They gladly lend their time and their talents for the good of the home to face hardships to save life and property and when their call for better fire-fighting apparatus is made, the best is none too good for them.

Since the organization of the Hubbard group, seven years ago this month, a new fire house has been bought and paid for, the fund being raised by picnics, boxing bouts and other events sponsored by them. Wee be on an unsightly sign that perchance finds its way to a conspicuous place to the old livery barn or other old buildings in this town for the firemen quickly put an end to its existence by turning on the big hose and washing it into fragments.

The membership of the local fire department includes both business men and high school boys whose motto is "Service" and a more cheerful and dependable group of community workers is hard to find.

George Grinsp, merchant and chief of the fire department, was elected to that position January 1928 succeeding Clarence E. Thompson whose position as a telephone office manager took him from Hubbard. Frank Rook was the first chief of the department and he too was called to another location to fill a position as depot agent.

OLD IRONSIDES TO BE TOWED IS PLAN

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—When the frigate "Old Ironsides" sets out from Boston for Washington Assistant Secretary Jahncke of the navy believes, ignominious or not, it will be in tow of a tug.

This despite a number of suggestions that the ancient warrior proceed under its own sailing power with its sailormen resembling as closely as possible those of 1812.

Although the ship is completely rigged with 30 sails having an area of 12,500 square yards, Jahncke said the navy has no crew that would know how to furl and unfurl them.

He first was under the impression that the ship had no sailing canvass since the navy was without funds to purchase it but was informed today that the Wellington, Sears Manufacturing Co. of New York had donated the full set as a "patriotic gesture."

MONMOUTH FOLK MOVE TO MT. ANGEL

EINZIG ADVISED ON BUYING DECISIONS

PORTLAND, Ore., June 20—(AP)—Dr. Russell Forbes, consultant on governmental purchasing of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, told William Einzig, Oregon state purchasing agent here last night that he should not be called upon to decide whether or not any one state department needs a requisitioned article.

The statement was made at a meeting attended by state, county and city officials and private purchasing agents called by the city club for the purpose of discussing problems with Forbes.

Einzig, describing his problems, cited the instance of a state institution which requested a quantity of boiler compound. Einzig said he knew the institution in question was in no position to judge whether the compound was needed or not since the water used in the boilers apparently had not been analyzed. Einzig rejected the requisition.

Forbes replied the state purchasing agent should not be required to make such a decision.
