

HOLIDAY SPIRIT STILL PREVAILS

Wall Street Determined to Be Optimistic; French Statement is Help

NEW YORK, June 24—(AP)—The holiday spirit that prevailed on the stock exchange today bubbled over into other financial markets, giving an encouraging lift to most of the commodities.

The 2 to 12 point rally in stocks got little assistance from the domestic news. Indeed, several business indices, including steel and electric power production, freight car loadings and crude oil output, were of an adverse nature. But the market was determined to be optimistic and made the most of what favorable news came to hand. The advance, averaging 5.4 points, was more vigorous and inclusive than Monday's and the $1,100,000 share turnover was the largest since February 24.

Wall Street placed a constructive interpretation on reports that the French cabinet's reply to President Hoover was conditional. However, it waxed enthusiastic over the announcement of higher wholesale prices on cigarettes, the regular Westinghouse dividend, the rise in copper and the decision in the radio license case.

Pennsylvania's dividend reduction to a $3 annual basis from $4, the two point drop in steel ingot production and the decrease in freight traffic during the week ended June 13 held no terrors, although it was easy to imagine how such news might have been greeted even a week ago. Declaration of the regular dividends by Baltimore and Ohio and Northern Pacific came too late to find reflection in the trading.

OIL, Rubber Advance

Aside from the metals, the oil, tobacco and rubber shares made outstanding demonstrations. Rails wavered momentarily when the news of Pennsylvania came out, then resumed their advance.

Baltimore and Ohio gained 5 and Atchison 6 while New York Central, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific rose about 3. U. S. Steel's rise above par had an important psychological effect, while the rapid advances of Radio and Westinghouse lent strength to other industrials. Steel closed at 100, up 3%. Its highest quotation was 100 3/4.

Utilities lagged just a little but American Telephone, International Telephone, North American and American and Foreign Power were up 2 to 3 net. American To-

ARTIST ADMIRES CARTOONIST'S HANDS

J. Campbell Phillips (right), noted portrait artist, has just completed a picture of George McManus (left), cartoonist, who draws the "Bringing Up Father" comic. Phillips is a great admirer of McManus' deft hands and wishes to make a picture of them alone. Phillips says "McManus' hands have fascinated me ever since he began sitting for his portrait. They give me a feeling of power." The painting of McManus between artist and cartoonist in New York certainly looks real, what?

RICHES NAMES CLUB ASSISTANTS

WALDO HILLS, June 24—The board of directors of the Waldo Hills Community club met Monday evening at the club house. The year has been a prosperous one for the club, which though so young, is practically out of debt.

Frank Riches, president, announced the appointment of a committee composed of Fred Knight, Frank Egan and John Goodknecht, to plan a series of dances for next winter. All club dances are invitational. Mrs. Albert Maden was appointed as chairman of the refreshment committee. Members, taken alphabetically, four at a time, will be the program committee. No regular meetings will be held during the summer months.

FONDA H. ISAACK IS LAID TO REST

WOODBURN, June 24—The funeral services for Mrs. Fonda Isaack, who died at her home in Woodburn following a long siege of pneumonia, were held in the Woodburn Saint Luke's church at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The body was laid to rest in Saint Luke's cemetery. Father Rubis of the Woodburn catholic church officiated.

Fonda Hockett was born in Iowa June 6, 1912. She was married to Theodore Isaack February 25, 1930. A baby girl, Wanda Leon, was born in January of this year.

Mrs. Isaack was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hockett, who now live in Woodburn. Mrs. Isaack is survived by her parents and eleven brothers and a sister. An older sister, Mabel, died recently. Those surviving her are: her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hockett, W. B. Hockett, Jr., Mrs. Alice Rigel, Fred, Charles, Howard, Pearl, Lona, Maxine, Gus and John.

Palbearers were Ed. Kirsch, Edwin Becker, Soc. Koch, Rudy Mirau, Alex Henkes and Lawrence Nathman.

AURORA READY FOR SATURDAY

2000 People to be Entertained by Community Group

AURORA, June 24—Aurora has completed all arrangements for feeding and entertaining the 2000 visitors which she expects to attend her old time good-will free barbecue next Saturday. Several thousand sandwiches with pickles will be given away and delicious barbecued meat will be given those who wish to bring their own picnic lunches. Tables and benches are to be available in the grove. Soft drinks, ice cream and coffee will be for sale and old time bars with their foot rails will dispense a good imitation of the real article.

For musical entertainment the Hubbard and Silverton bands and the Oregonian Trail Blazers will vie with each other. The afternoon will see free races, a tug-of-war and a ball game and the evening will bring an hour's elaborate display of fireworks, for which a small charge will be made, followed by a big dance.

Everyone is invited and urged to come and bring the entire family. There will be entertainment for all ages, and your hosts for the day are sure you will have a good time in Aurora on Saturday, June 27.

The Philadelphia Athletics wear numbers on their road uniforms, but none when at home.
