Walking Men Given Break; Women Dumb

Women contestants in the wal-kathon to be held in connection with the Legion's Fourth of July celebration will be forbidden to talk throughout the contest. Anneuncoment of this newest contest rule was made yesterday by Manager Jeannet who is staging the unique walkathon. "This appears to be about the most effective rule for eliminat-ing couples," Jeannet says, To make the contest more complicated, he says the rule dees not apply to the men who enter.

"They should be entitled to a break occasionally," Jeannet avowed, and added "This glorieus Independence Day seems to be the opportune time for the men."

So far, the women applicants have agreed to the rule, though somewhat painfully, the manager

Anyone who believes this rule unfair is entitled to register a "Kick" to J. T. Delaney, general chairman of the Legion committee which is arranging for the celebration Saturday. Delaney says that with enough opposition appearing he may be able to sience the male partners.

My word What a bored gen-tleman is William Powell in "Ladies' Man" feature picture now at Warner Bros. Etsinore. If he feels as he looks my aympathy is with him. And what a surprise ending the picture has. You will be impressed with the ending and it is my guess there will be an For Sour Stomach TUMMY argument as to whether the story through which she romps with Virginia Sale. Lloyd Sacon di was correctly completed.

Poor William in this play has ates such mirth.

Queet but Winnie started out to do tragely but got off on the distinction of being the first team right of him and some of them wrong foot in her first public apright of him and some of them are "volleying and thundering" after he deals them a few rather awkward cuts. There is plenty of meat on the plot—such as the meat is, but when all the points are collected and one reviews the play in one's mind about the easy thing that stands out is the spectacular acting of Gilbert Emery. His work is so sincere as to make one sit tenne and really "feel" the cold shoulder, into plenty of the cold shoulder.

... gumming and pitting of valves which causes loss of compression--corrosion of needle valve, which causes excess gasoline consumption and throws carburster out of adjustment -- crankcase and cylinder wall corrosion which ultimates in costly repair bills, generally impaired motor performance, greatly reduced gasoline mileage, and increased cost of operation.

Science shows that these results are inevitable if the gasoline you use contains numbthenic and sulphurbearing acids. Unfortunately, you can't detect the presence of these metal-eating, corroding acids in any gasoline. When it is too late, you have the evidence in costly damage that has been done but which could have been avoided by using acid-free gasoline.

However sincere your station operator may be in assuring you that the gasoline he selfs is free from adds, he too may be mistaken, for the elimination of acids has always been, and still is, one of the most perplexing problems the refiner has to face. You can't afford to take a chance and you don't need to for science has come to your rescue with an infallible acid test."

USE THE ONE GASOLINE YOU KNOW IS FREE FROM ACIDS

ITS VIOLET COLOR PROVES IT IS ACID-FREE

Seven U. S. patents, Nos. 1625195, 1639988, 1652399, 1728156, 1769475, 1769576, 1792003, protect the Violet Ray process of rollning which completely eliminates all acids. This Violet Ray add-eliminating refining process is owned exclusively and used only on the Pacific Coast by General Petroleum Corporation and Violet Ray is the only gasoline thus refined. Its violet Color is the visible guarantee of science to you that it is free from acids, for even their slightest presence would neutralize its violet color and turn the gaseline to a straw color.

Boar in mind that any white gaseline or any other colored paseline may contain these acids without your knowing it. The only practical, scientific, dependable acid test that is available to you is the violet color of Violet Ray, served only from pumps labeled "Violet Ray Gaseline."
