

NEIGHBORHOOD ROW IS AIRED IN COURT

Feud Over Radio Noises at Night and Jeering of Children Exposed

"She called me a darned old hog and threatened to shoot me full of holes," declared little Mrs. Leona Johanson, chief witness against Mrs. Elmira Scott who faced trial in justice court on Wednesday charged with threatening to kill.

Letters written by Mrs. Johanson were introduced as evidence by the defense in an attempt to prove that Mrs. Scott had been subjected to persecution by Mrs. Johanson for some time. Letters written in 1927 to parents of Mrs. Sylvia Richter, Mr. and Mrs. Visco, urged them to warn their daughter that she was under bad influence by Mrs. Scott and complained of the jeers hurled at her by the Richter children.

Claims Radio is Loud in Wee Hours

Mrs. Johanson alleged that Mrs. Scott keeps her radio going until 1:30 in the morning with a loud speaker in full force so that her sleep is disturbed. She further alleged that Mrs. Scott disturbs the neighbors with loud talking.

On the stand Mrs. Scott testified that she and her invalid sister had gone to sleep on the day before one night and left the radio on. That she awakened late to find that the program had stopped. She declared that this was the only time that her radio had gone to such a late hour.

"My sister very much enjoys listening to the Hoot Owls but we have had to stop that program to keep Mrs. Johanson from hooting about our radio."

"Mrs. Johanson knocked the cat's tooth out with a chair round" declared Mrs. Scott at another period of the trial.

Mrs. Sylvia Richter and her daughter Rose Richter were introduced as witnesses for Mrs. Scott. They denied statements made by Mrs. Johanson and her witness Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Johnston, to the effect that Mrs. Scott had threatened to shoot Mrs. Johanson full of holes.

Fond Guilty But Sentence Delayed

Judge Hayden found Mrs. Scott guilty of disturbing the peace but due to her advanced age and the fact that she is caring for an invalid sister the case was continued for sentence.

MAIL SHOT IN BURIED TUBES

PNEUMATIC MAIL TUBES STATION, NEW YORK

LOADING UNDERGROUND MAIL CARRIERS.

In this day and age when speed is the great force back of so many twentieth century individuals and businesses, it's interesting to know that Uncle Sam's postal service has not fallen below the standard set by the times. It's probable that not one person out of 10,000 knows that every day millions of letters are shot at a speed of 44 feet per second through underground tubes stretching the length of New York in order that mail for the city and the country at large may be speeded on its way.

Through the use of a mass of pneumatic tubes, steel carriers, carrying between 500 and 600 letters each, are raced about the city under its busy streets. It is estimated that the carriers travel 150,000 miles a day and if the total capacity of the high-speed mail system was employed continuously 9,000,000 letters would be dispatched hourly.

Some service, what?

selves as good citizens and mind your own business," instructed Judge Hayden. He advised Mrs. Scott that if her sister could not hear the radio without having it so loud that she would better get a set of headphones for her. Mrs. Scott countered to this with the statement that her sister had a fractured skull and could not wear headphones. She also stated that her sister was suffering from gall stones, hardening of the arteries and heart trouble and was unable to sleep at night and enjoyed the radio.

"Can I sing and whistle in my own house" asked Mrs. Scott. Judge Hayden pointed out that one is privileged to do such things in one's own home provided that the neighbors are not disturbed. "I can't hear that radio outside of my own house, my dear man," interposed Mrs. Scott.

FARM DEPARTMENT WILL MEAN SAVING

A saving of $1100 a month will be made in the new department of agriculture, Governor Julius L. Meier announced yesterday. The department was created at the last session of the legislature and combines 12 boards and commissions.

In Max Gehlbar's opening report to the governor, the director of agriculture stated the greatest saving was effected in the abolishment of the state market agent's office, and combining this work among the other divisions. This item accounted for $6,460 annually.

Rent in moving the departments from Portland to the agricultural building in Salem will result in a saving of $2,970 a year, while salary adjustments in foods and dairies division will save $1,500 more each year, Gehlbar announced.

Savings on current operating expenses will be in addition to this department announced. A 25 per cent reduction in inspection fees to fruit shippers totaling about $10,000 a year will also be in effect. In most instances the economies were made possible by the consolidation.

Mrs. A. Hassler Requiem Mass is Today, Sublimity

STATION, July 1—Mrs. Anna Hassler died at her home at Sublimity Tuesday morning, June 30, after an illness of about a year and a half with tuberculosis. Mrs. Hassler was born in Wisconsin, coming to Sublimity with her mother and brothers about 30 years ago.

She was 59 years old and is survived by her husband, Alois L. Hassler, two daughters, Alma and Benita and a son, Edward; also her mother, Mrs. Anna Steffes;

SAFE AGAIN.

Major James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle, former ace stunt flyer of the Army Air Corps, leaped to safety via his parachute when the fabric tore loose from the wings of his plane while traveling at a speed of 235 miles an hour over East St. Louis, Ill. Jimmy had a narrow escape from death, as the plane was only 100 feet off the ground when it began to tear apart. By nosing it up, Doolittle managed to get an altitude of 400 feet before landing.

sisters, Mrs. Geo. Sushauer of Sublimity and Mrs. John Benner and Mrs. Jake Martens of Wisconsin; a brother, Phillip Steffes, of Sublimity.

Requiem mass will be at 9:30 Thursday at St. Boniface church in Sublimity. Mrs. Hassler was beloved by many friends who mourn her death. Miss Minnie Hassler, sister of A. L. Hassler has been staying with her brother for some time, caring for the home and children.

PRINTING FOREMAN BROCK IS REMOVED

Arthur Brock, foreman of the state printing plant since 1923, was released from duty Wednesday when E. C. Hobbs, Corvallis, assumed position as superintendent. Hobbs, who succeeded H. S. Bosshard, state printer since 1919, announced the position of foreman would be abolished, and the mechanical work supervision would be in the hands of departmental foremen, answerable direct to himself.

The announcement, Hobbs stated, constituted the only major change which would be made in the printing department under the new administration, although several minor positions would be altered. These would include changes in the bindery department and the secretarial staff. The resignation of all employees in the department was requested by the state printing board at the time Hobbs was elected to replace Bosshard.

Hobbs was sworn into office Wednesday by Justice P. R. Kelly of the supreme court. He took over his duties at once, with the former superintendent remaining a few days to assist. Hobbs has been in charge of the Oregon State college printing plant for 14 years.

CHERRY PICKERS IN DEMAND, SHERIDAN

Jim Phillips, employment director for the Y. M. C. A. bureau here, was busy yesterday filling a hurry-up order for 75 cherry pickers which came in from the Sheridan, Yamhill county, district. By night he had filled the greater part of the demand for pickers. He stated that he might still be short this morning.

DUAL LIFE

George A. Howlett (above), wealthy business man and member of the "400" set of Chicago, has been revealed in a Federal income tax investigation as the second lieutenant of Al Capone, notorious gangster, according to authorities. No one had suspected the alleged dual life of the man.

His office is at 279 Chemeketa street and the telephone number is 2754.

During the month of June Phillips placed 1010 workers, a higher number than a year ago in the same month. He said he had not observed an unusual demand for jobs for this time of year.

During the months of July, August and September in 1930, Phillips placed an average of 944 men a month in jobs. Work is somewhat more scarce this year and harvest slightly advanced, Phillips said yesterday, so he does not contemplate placing as large a number of men in the same period of 1931.

ICE ENCASUREMENT STUNT TRIED HERE

Mayor P. M. Gregory is going to take time off this morning to give a personal inspection to the human-iceberg stunt to be one of the features at the legion's July 4 at the fairgrounds. At 11 a. m. legion men will go to the City Ice company's plant and see Moro, fanned by his buried-alive feats, submit to encasement in a block of ice.

Moro claims to be able to stay on a solid block of ice for 30 minutes. He demonstrated his feat before newspapermen in Portland in January and pictures of the stunt were sent to newspapers throughout the United States, Believe-it-or-not Ripley making a cartoon of Moro encased in ice.

According to J. F. Grant, Moro's manager, this nature-defying performer will submit to being buried alive at the state fair celebration as one of the featured performances of the July 4 events.

The gavel representing authority at the Rotary club passed from W. H. Dancy to E. M. Page at yesterday's luncheon, the latter being the new president. In tribute to Dancy's service as president Page presented him with a beautiful jeweled Rotary pin.

President Page announced his committee appointments and in a few words outlined his policy for the coming year. He asked the committee on aims and objectives to concentrate their work on one or two projects during the year.

A musical program was enjoyed with solos by Miss Lillian Scott, with Miss Ruth Bedford, accompanist.
